NEWTON CONSTABULARY

Enjoys Cavalry Exhibition and Other Entertainment at Annual Meeting

The annual reunion of the Newton Constabulary, was held on Saturday afternoon and evening, at Newtonville. In the afternoon, there were sports on the Cabot Park playground, followed by a supper in Temple Hall, with moving pictures afterwards.

In addition to the sports on Cabot Park, there was an exhibition by Troop C, of the 110th Cavalry under the direction of Captain Philip L. Brown, a former major of the Constabulary.

The troop gave a fine exhibition of the various formations the line up of 16 horses being particularly good. While the troop was giving the exhibition, one horse bolted and for some moments raced around and round within the circle formed by the troop. Finally finding an opening the horse galloped away and was later caught.

Individual members of the troop also gave an interesting exhibition of rough riding doing some hair raising stunts while their horses were at full gallop.

Some 200 members sat down to one of the best suppers ever served in Temple Hall, and high praise was given Lieut. Childs, who was remembered as the caterer while the Constabulary were quartered at Mechanics Hall during the Boston police strike.

General James G. White presided at the supper and acted as toastmaster for the brief speaking which followed. General White spoke in part as follows:

It is a most exhilarating experience to renew the old association in connection with the Newton Constabulary at least once a year and to find that the same spirit of cooperation, the desire to be helpful in an emergency, and the disposition to submit to discipline, if necessary for that end, still exists in the hearts of you gentlemen.

The Newton Constabulary was organized on May 14, 1917, soon after the United States entered the World War. It was quite an imposing outfit having a regimental organization of two battalions, a band of 32, and a drum corps of 20.

In October, 1917, the Regiment was reviewed by the then Lieutenant Governor, Calvin Coolidge. Little did we dream at that time that a volunteer police outfit would be called by His Excellency, Governor Coolidge, to become a part of the State Guard of the Commonwealth, or that the Officers of our organization would be commissioned and that we should have the opportunity for the strictly military duty which was so admirably performed by the Newton Constabulary during September and October 1919.

Neither did we dream that Governor Calvin Coolidge was the "man of destiny" and would become the Chief Executive of this great country of ours. I believe he will give an administration which will mark a new era in the prosperity of this country. I believe that when the Republican Convention assemblies next June, but one name will be placed before that Convention and that he will be nominated by acclamation. A man who thoroughly makes up his mind before he acts, who makes no false moves, who has no fund of small talk but when he speaks says something! That is the sort of man we want and that we now have in office. Let us keep him there!

It would be an excellent plan for you gentlemen to begin now to agitate the question as to whether you wish to march in Washington on March 4, 1925, and assist in the ceremony of the inauguration of President Coolidge. In anticipation of this trip to Washington I hope that every man who has ever had any connection with the Newton Constabulary will join

AGRICULTURAL FAIR

Garden City Grange held its Annual Fair in Odd Fellows Hall, Newtonville, Saturday, September 29, afternoon and evening.

The display of Flowers, Fruits, canned goods, vegetables and arts and crafts excelled any exhibition held previously. Booths were beautifully decorated. The Junior exhibits were interesting and greatly enjoyed by the boys and girls. The demonstration of steam cooking and canning by Miss Louise Patterson attracted a large number of housewives and they were astonished at the rapidity, a whole dinner could be cooked. Lamb chops, potatoes and vegetables were ready for the table in ten minutes from the time they were placed in the cooker.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Colonel and Mrs. Willard D. Tripp of Boyd street, Newton, were given a great surprise last week, Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Springer, daughter of Mrs. Tripp and her husband, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hobbs of West Newton, invited some of their friends to help celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of their parents.

Among those present were delegations from two departments from the state house, who presented Col. and Mrs. Tripp with a silver loving cup suitably engraved, members of the Royal Legion, Post 62, G. A. R., D. R., Palentine Chapter, 114, O. E. S., and many friends and neighbors, about ninety in all. Mr. and Mrs. Tripp were the recipients of many beautiful presents, among them being a wrist watch, gold pieces, and flowers, besides good wishes and congratulations.

PEAT FIRE

A fire in the peat bog off Hammond street, Brookline this week, caused considerable inconvenience to the Chestnut Hill section of the city by the thick acrid smoke.

The blaze started in the underbrush Tuesday afternoon, and fireman and forestry department employees battled with it until late Tuesday night, when it was thought to be extinguished.

Wednesday afternoon it blazed up again. At 1 P. M. Fire Chief Allen sounded the 777 alarm, which summoned back to duty the firemen who were having a day off. It was the first time since the inauguration of the two-platoon system in Brookline that the firemen comprising the "off-platoon" had been called back to work. They manned the fire stations, while the other platoon went to fight the fire.

Long lines of hose were laid, the fire being more than a quarter of a mile from the street, and the men and boys used shovels, brooms, axes and picks. Old tree stumps, afire at their roots, gave the firemen much difficulty, as they had to dig them entirely out of the earth and peat.

MEMORIAL LECTERN DEDICATED

An interesting as well as unusual service was held Sunday morning at the West Newton Unitarian Church when a beautiful lectern or reading desk was dedicated.

The minister, Rev. Paul S. Phalen was in charge and the special music was under the direction of Mr. E. Rupert Siron, the church organist, assisted by a supplied choir.

The lectern is the gift of Mr. Arthur Emmons Pearson in memory of his mother, Nancy Della Benjamin Pearson.

Mr. Phalen spoke as follows:—

Pearson Memorial Lectern

The Presentation. It is my distinguished and happy privilege to present, on behalf of the donor, this reading-desk or lectern to the First Unitarian Society in Newton. It is the gift of a loyal son to perpetuate the memory of a devoted mother in beautiful and enduring form within the walls of a place she loved. It is a testimonial to her love and veneration for the Scriptures, erected in the hope that all who may look upon it may be inspired with a like devotion for those writings which Sunday by Sunday are to be read from this memorial.

It should be known, as I have known, that for some time, the donor of this gift to our Society, had had in mind the establishment of some

FIVE THOUSAND MEMBERS

Newton Chamber of Commerce Passed That Mark in Campaign for Members

The Newton Chamber of Commerce now has a total membership of more than two thousand, achieving the 1923 membership objective set by its Board of Directors three months before the close of the year. The two thousand mark was passed on Wednesday of last week, the total having been increased to 2015 at the end of the week. This includes both civic and business memberships, more than 1600 being of the former classification. Newton Centre now leads the several villages in the membership standing with a total representation of 356. Newton is next in line with 340, while Newtonville is a close third with 336. The other thousand members are distributed among the remaining villages as follows: West Newton 239, Waban 224, Newton Highlands 172, Auburndale 161, Chestnut Hill 127, Nonantum 28, Newton Upper Falls 14, and Newton Lower Falls 10, with eight non-resident members.

Improved telephone service is promised subscribers of the Newton North Exchange as a result of an immediate increase in both the equipment and operating personnel at the Exchange. This will result in what is termed by the telephone people as "spreading the load," through which both switchboards and operators will be required to carry a smaller load than at present, tending to more efficiency on the part of the telephone organization and a greater degree of satisfaction for subscribers. Complaints regarding the service among Newton North subscribers have been numerous, the Newton Chamber of Commerce having been one of the most persistent protestants. While the telephone officials have at all times been willing to extend every courtesy and have apparently made every reasonable effort to improve the service, the task has been an exceedingly difficult one because of the unusually heavy load carried by the exchange, especially during certain periods of the day. The telephone officials now offer assurance that a marked improvement in service may be anticipated in the near future, through a material increase in the facilities of this rapidly growing exchange. Representatives of the Chamber have been informed that every effort is being made to make these available as soon as possible and that the installation of new equipment will have been completed within a few weeks, and a substantial number of new and carefully trained operators made available for its operation. The future, as well as the present is being provided for in this extension of facilities and it is confidently predicted by telephone officials that most of the troubles and annoyances to which Newton North subscribers have been subjected for an extended period will be permanently relieved in the immediate future.

That the proposed fare increase on the Boston & Albany Railroad, involving a twenty per cent increase in the price of twelve ride, students, and monthly commutation tickets, is not going to meet with favor among Newton patrons of the road, is indicated by the flood of protests that have been received at the office of the Newton Chamber. In several of those communications received from members and citizens, it is pointed out that patrons were obliged to accept a twenty per cent increase only a few years ago, and that it is obvious to all that the patronage, from the Newtons at least, has increased enormously since that time. The "Commuter's Committee" of the Chamber, of which James W. French of Newton is chairman, held a special meeting on Friday of last week, at which time the proposed increase was considered and discussed from almost every conceivable viewpoint. At the close of the discussion, the committee voted unanimously to address a resolution to the Board of

ACTIVE DEMAND FOR NEW HOMES

Extensive building operations are being carried on in Newton, Braintree, Stoughton and Brockton for the Charles G. Clapp Housing Company, a corporation affiliated with the Charles G. Clapp Company, real estate brokers in suburban homes and farms through out New England. In Malden, Everett and Quincy, new homes will soon be erected. This company reports tremendous activity in the demand for new artistic homes at moderate prices, and indications are that in the spring of 1924, the amount of building contracted for, will far exceed the expectations of conservative business men.

The Charles G. Clapp Housing Company operates in a unique way, in that it has allied companies connected with it, which assures the erection of homes at one price and on time. By owning and operating large lumber yards, a constant supply of quality material is on hand. This material is bought in carload lots and is supplied direct from producer to consumer.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The bowling teams are being formed for the season, entries closing Monday and play to begin the following Monday.

Next Monday evening, Congressman Charles L. Underhill of Somerville, will be the guest at the first smoker of the season. There will be community singing, bowling, cards, pool and billiards.

TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENTS

On some telephone calls to another central office in Greater Boston you have recently heard operators passing the number called and another operator say the word "right."

Telephone officials say that the new method of handling inter-office calls avoids possible confusion between operators when repeating calls, simplifies the work of an operator in the office called, assures more accuracy and gives the calling subscriber an opportunity to correct an operator if she passes a number other than the one desired.

It is the latest improvement in telephone operating and has thus far been introduced only from the Beach and Main central offices to Back Bay, Blackstone, Bowdoin, Congress, Copley, Dewey, Haymarket, Kenmore, Liberty and Richmond offices in the central district; and from all offices in the Metropolitan division to those offices in the division not connected by direct trunk lines. Later the method will be extended to other offices.

DOG SHOW

The Fall outdoor show season will have a final wind-up at the annual Fall show of the Middlesex County Kennel Club to be held on Columbus Day, on the grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A., Church Street, Newton. The first closing of entries will be midnight, September 29, and the final closing October 5. About 900 prizes are on the premium list.

this Association in order to swell the numbers who will go on that trip, and I also hope that every man of you will regard himself as a member of a recruiting committee. This body of red blooded men needs no white robes or masks to demonstrate its staunch Americanism.

General White's suggestion of attending this inauguration at Washington was most favorably received and cries of "On to Washington" enlivened the subsequent proceedings.

Mayor Childs gave one of his usual inspiring talks in which he praised the spirit of comradeship engendered by the Constabulary and which he said was emblematic of the motto of the United States, "E Pluribus Unum."

The following officers were then elected, President, James R. Chandler; Vice-President, Robert G. Howard; Secretary, Edwin S. Drowne; Treasurer, John D. Rockefeller; and an Executive Committee composed of Leslie Harwood, Jr., Vernon B. Swett, William F. Chase, Joseph A. Bryant, James G. White, and L. B. Berry.

The new president told numerous good stories and two reels of motion pictures closed the entertainment.

ROTARY CLUB

At the weekly luncheon on Monday, at the Newton Club, the Rotary Club heard an interesting account of the Traffic Department work of the Telephone Company, from Rotarian John Harvell. Mr. Harvell gave some almost unbelievable figures in regard to the high percentage of correctness of calls and rapidity of responding to calls. He said that a large number of tests are made every day at each exchange and the figures are compiled from that source. At the Newton North exchange a new switchboard is about to be placed in service which will spread the work over a larger number of operators thereby giving each operator less individual work.

Next Monday, former Attorney General J. Weston Allen will be the speaker.

—The work of remodeling the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Newtonville, is progressing rapidly, and the old well-known red brick walls of the present edifice are gradually being hidden by seam-faced granite, the English Gothic type of church being constructed. While the old church is being torn down the new one is being built around it, and the proceedings present a unique aspect. This method had to be adopted because of the situation of the church, bounded by three streets and a block. The plans do not call for the complete destruction of the old building. The roof and tower will remain and in other portions, where it is possible, the old walls will be retained. The new church will seat about 700 and a new assembly hall will seat about 675. The building when completed will represent an expenditure of more than $200,000.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Speaking, as we were not, of column titles it always seemed to us that "Seen and Heard" in the old Boston Record had hit it about as well as any and perhaps a little better. It used to be required of each member of the Record staff that he turn-in a paragraph for "S. & H." every day and if he failed three was rumpus. In that way the paper managed to get a variety of subjects which pretty nearly covered the entire city. We feel that our own modest efforts must have limitations as we are not as young as when first we joined the Graphic staff and rode a bicycle from village to village. We do not understand we are to imitate our popular breakfast-table or after-dinner contemporaries in the Boston dailies or that we need try to be funny. It is not demanded we dig up old jokes and wheezes and give them new dress. We are told we may write of that which interests us and which we believe will interest Graphic readers. In fact our field is boundless. If only we were as confident of our abilities as we are appreciative of our opportunities worry would not distress us. And yet, if the home folks will continue their indulgence of us we shall be glad to shove-off and see where we land.

Some weeks ago an engaging young man, whom we had not the pleasure of meeting before, convinced us the only thing needed to complete the success of the Newton Chamber of Commerce was our name on the membership list. Since the approval of our application we have been reading eagerly items printed about the organization. Expectation took no definite form as we studied all reference to the chamber's plans. It seemed there was certain to be a busy winter but in just what way we knew not. It gave us a surprise and thrill, therefore, to read last Friday that "Representatives of the Mercantile Division are circulating a petition among Newton Corner business men in remonstrance against the proposed regulation recommended by the Chamber Traffic Ordinance Committee designed to restrict parking, etc." At first we felt we had misunderstood, but the more we scrutinized the statement the more we are satisfied the Mercantile Division and Traffic Committee are in serious disagreement. We wonder how far it will extend and if there is going to be a "bitter crash" as the head-line writers put it. Will there be a wrangle, a scrap, a good red-hot fight? Shall we behold dignified citizens made up as were Dempsy and Thompson? And shall we hear Rupert Fitzpatrick announcing a bout between "Mercantile Division" Mike and "Terrible Traffic" Tommy? In short, have we, in our innocence, invested $5 in a ringside ticket?

In any event we will be mere witnesses. That is reassuring, for any other role would be most embarrassing. The Nonantum Square traffic problem is far too complicated for our penetration. The best we can do is to dodge our own way from one end of the square to another. So far as navigation is concerned we have sought thus far to solve only our individual case. It has taken some years but we feel that continuous watchfulness and quick foot-work has brought us superior knowledge. We cannot answer the query, "Why does a hen cross the street?" with any new quip, but we can explain how hens and others should cross Nonantum Square. If headed north we stop in front of the Whitman and make the south sidewalk of the bank building in a couple of leaps. Then we plunge again until we strike the sidewalk in front of Bacon block. Going south we reverse the order of dashes. If passing from the west to the east or vice versa we make for the narrowest points adjoining the Charlesbank road or else the Jefferson street ends of the square. We yearn not for adventure and make no effort to dodge "round an outbound Boston car when it's discharging passengers. We stick to the outskirts, so to speak. Our theory is—shorter jumps for the legs and fewer jumps for the heart.

We like to think of Nonantum Square when any suggestion of a traffic problem would have made every guest on the Central House piazza laugh loud and laugh long. We remember dimly the exterior of the old Nonantum House but recall vividly how there used to be room enough in the center of the square for a patent-medicine fakir to give an open-air show and peddle his remedies on a summer's evening. We remember an early morning fire in Whitman's stable when many horses, freed by the active hostlers and the police, galloped up and down the streets for an hour or more until herded on Bacon street. We remember when the bank occupied a smaller structure of red brick; when evangelistic meetings were held on the lawn, and how one week-day two grizzly bears were exhibited there by their trainers. We never forgot how the trainers yanked cruelly at the rings in the bears' noses and it sickened us for all time against trained animal performances. We have in mind spirited protest made by Italian laborers against a perurious employer engaged in sewer building and how the square to our childish vision, seemed like a battlefield. We have many, many recollections of Nonantum Square, few of them grim and most of them happy, so happy, in fact, that Newton Corner "village" of our kid days is among our fondest memory treasures.

Apart from our facetious allusion to traffic conditions in the present square we shall be interested to learn if any solution is reached that will relieve to some extent the existing congestion. We hope that when this debate over parking regulations is held some things may be explained. It would be gratifying to learn why the specially prepared parking area on Washington street between Centre Place and Richardson street bridges is never patronized except by a neighboring garage proprietor. Why aren't drivers who wish to park in that vi-city compelled by city ordinance to do so?

Maybe these and other questions will be answered in due time, whatever "due time" stands for in the passage of the years. Maybe we shall at some future date read that the whole problem has been solved "through a step taken by the Aldermen," which will have to be, it seems to me, some step other than the City Hall side-step.

Directors of the Chamber, to be considered at this week's meeting of the Board, in which it was urged that that body organize as strenuous a protest as possible in opposition to the proposed increase to be presented at the public hearings to be held on the petitions of the railroad company before the State Department of Public Utilities. It was also recommended that the Chamber seek the co-operation of the City Government in making Newton's protest as effective as possible.

With the receipt by Mayor Childs of the report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters on the recent inspection of Newton, the purpose of which was to ascertain just what Newton must do to qualify in the so-called Class A group of Massachusetts cities, the Chamber of Commerce Insurance Committee and Board of Directors will now be enabled to develop more effectively their effort to secure a reduction in fire insurance rates in this city. Representatives of the Chamber's insurance committee are to soon seek a conference with executives of the New England Insurance Exchange, for the purpose of ascertaining which of the many recommendations incorporated in the report must be adopted to enable Newton to gain recognition as a Class A city.

Many requests have been received by the Newton Chamber for copies of the little booklet issued by the Massachusetts Safe Roads Federation "What you need to know to drive in New England." The Chamber secured 500 copies, of which more than 400 have already been distributed. Newton motorists who have not yet secured a copy may do so by calling at the Chamber office, or telephone Newton North 4077.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The following new members were received: Miss Beryl Fisher, Miss Frances Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Bardington, Mrs. Chester J. Briggs, Miss Doris Carley, Miss Marion Leed, Miss Mary Woodcock, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Barker, Mrs. Harriette H. Young, Miss Helen M. Bevan, all of Newtonville; Miss Mary D. Glover, Miss Lucy D. Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert G. Allen, West Newton; Mr. Francis C. Pittman, Mr. Edward N. Griffin, Newton; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Argersinger of Waban.

Rehearsals each Tuesday night at Central Church, Newtonville at 7.45.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The dramatized version of Rudyard Kipling's famous novel, "The Light That Failed," which will be offered this week at the St. James by the Boston Stock Company promises much. This offering, which served Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott as a starring vehicle for a number of years will give the younger generation of the play-going public an opportunity to see one of the fine old masterpieces of the stage. It will also direct the abilities of Miss Bushnell and Mr. Gilbert in a channel somewhat removed from the requirements of the ordinary "late release." So far as scenic effects go it affords Stage Director Godfrey with something unusual to work with, and since he is acquiring quite a reputation for doing things out of the ordinary much is to be expected.

The central characters of the play, Dick Helder and Mazie, will of course be played by Mr. Gilbert and Miss Bushnell. Houston Richards will be seen as Torpenhow, Ralph Morehouse as Henry Cauby, Ralph M. Remley as Phil Dessau, Joseph Robert Lee as Blinker Beaton, Mark Kent as Cassavell, Edward Darney as Felix Friend, Harold Chase as Dr. Sedgwick, Jill Middleton as Bessie Brooke, Viola Roach as The Red-haired Girl, and Anna Layng as Mrs. Beaton.

Prolific Breeders.

An oyster can lay 60,000,000 eggs. Four generations, but for the work of enemies, would produce a pile of shells sufficient to outweigh our globe. Even in the case of such a slow breeding animal as the elephant, a pair of which will have a single young one about once in ten years, the figures are amazing. In 750 years, Darwin calculated, the descendants of one pair of elephants might number 19,000,000.

Nature Preserves Balance.

A starfish may lay 300,000,000 eggs; and but for their enemies, which preserve the balance, these creatures would fill the world's seas in one year. Nature is just as prodigal with other living things that have many foes. One female fish may lay 9,000,000 eggs—this number was actually found in the roe of a turbot weighing 17 pounds.

SKIN BAROMETER OF HEALTH

Cuticle Affords Outward and Visible Sign of Internal Physical Cleanliness.

A lovely skin, aside from being the subject for poetic raptures is a sensitive barometer of your health, says Elizabeth Arden in Arts and Decorations. It is the outward and visible sign of an inward and physical cleanliness. Its smoothness is a symptom of a good digestion and the absence of fevered disturbance. Its clarity is proof of the correct balance of diet. Its pinkness registers the swift dance of blood through the tissues.

The body is like an exquisitely tuned engine. Your food is the fuel. The air you breathe is the draught that quickens the fire into life. If you have been a suburbanite without a faithful furnace man, you have battled to keep a fire flickering, perhaps. You know that there is coal that burns with an even hot flame and leaves a fine ash, without fuss or waste. And there is other coal, that burns stubbornly and only partially and leaves great clinkers to clog the channels of the fire.

Now food is like that, too. Simple foods are digested and assimilated thoroughly. Rich foods, heavy mixtures of foods, leave clinkers to clog the system. Meats, pastries, thickened sauces, these foods do not burn as perfectly as fresh vegetables, cereals, whole wheat breads and fruits. You must eat wisely for beauty.

GREAT TEACHER OF VERACITY

Socrates, Originating Genius of Common Sense, an Influence in Anglo-Saxon Civilization.

At the dawn of modern history stands the figure of an old stone-cutter; attractive and quaint, likeable and eccentric, but wholly unimpressive; the last man in the world a sculptor would take for any aspect of human glory.

No picturesque dust of the wilderness stains his shabby garment; no prophetic fire burns in his rather ludicrous eyes. On the contrary, he is a playful, a whimsical, a waggish, an ironical person; in form, comic and clownish, so that he is likened by one of his friends to a cottage loaf; in nature, nearer akin to Bunyan, Samuel Johnson, Sir Thomas Browne, or even Charles Lamb, than to John the Baptist, Mohammed, Luther, Robespierre, or any other firebrand of history.

Such was Socrates, the originating genius of common sense, the great teacher of moral and intellectual veracity, one of the profoundest influences in our Anglo-Saxon civilization.

—A Gentleman With a Duster, in "Seven Ages."

Colors for Mourning Vary.

The colors used as badges of mourning vary in different countries. In this country, as in Europe, the ordinary color for mourning is black. In China, as with the ancient Spartan and Roman woman, it is white; in Turkey it is blue or violet; in Egypt, yellow; in Ethiopia, gray.

Some have attempted to trace the associations which caused the adoption of the various colors to natural causes. Thus black, which is the privation of light, is supposed very appropriately to denote the privation of life; yellow is the color of leaves when they fall and signifies that death is the end of all human hopes.

In the East, to cut the hair was considered a sign of bereavement; among the Romans, on the contrary, it was deemed a mark of sorrow to let it grow.

The Metric System.

The metric system is proceeding slowly as regards its adoption in English-speaking countries. One suggestion which was made at a luncheon given in New York on May 5 by the Metric association was that the conduct of international trade is at present hampered and confused by the circumstance that the content of the British gallon is greater than that of the American gallon. The recommendation was made that both governments should abandon their standards and adopt in their place the liter as the common unit of capacity.

Scientific American.

Safety First.

A woman went into a photographer's to have her picture taken—naturally. While the photographer was adjusting the camera the woman wrapped a clothesline around her skirts.

"You'll have to take that off, madam," said the photographer. "I can't take your picture that way."

"You can't fool me that way, young man," she said. "I know you see me upside down in that camera."

Each for Herself.

HIGH SCHOOLS

Miss Jeannie B. Kendrick, Supervisor of the Household Arts Department of the Vocational High School, has returned to the school after an unusually interesting year spent in travel and study of school conditions in this country and Hawaii.

Ned Dewing is the new football Captain, taking the place of Tudor Bowen, the popular captain of last year.

The home economics classes of the three high schools are planning a canning and sewing exhibit and sale to be held on Tuesday, October 30. The proceeds of this sale will go to the Japanese Education Fund. The following are in charge of the affair: Miss Barbara Jass of the Classical High; Miss Della Hansberry of the Technical High; and Miss Angelina Marston of the Vocational High.

Miss Caroline Cummings, Newton High '23, entered Vassar College, this fall on the honor roll, this means that she was one of the one hundred receiving the highest marks in the college board examinations. Miss Harriet Page, Newton High '23, received the highest rank of any girl entering Mt. Holyoke College. Miss Mary Richards was admitted to Radcliffe without examinations because of high standing. Edward Stimpson and Fredericks were admitted to Harvard University without examination, because of high standing in the Newton High School.

Classical High officers were elected recently with the following results: Seniors, to be announced; Eleven B. Vice-President; Raymond Rockwood, Vice-President; Alice Potter, Secretary; Lucy Allen, Treasurer; Franklin Hoyt, Juniors; President, Henry Johnson; Vice-President, Helen Andrews; Secretary, Barbara Angier; Treasurer, Carleton McCulloch. Sophomores: President, Benjamin Adams; Vice-President, Betty Davis; Secretary, Faith Wing; Treasurer, John Holt.

Finding the Right Path.

Of all paths a man could strike into there is, at any given moment, a best path for every man—a thing which, here and now, it were of all things wisest for him to do; which could be but led or driven to do, he were then doing like a man, as we phrase it—Carlyle.

memorial within this Church. While serving as a member of the special committee charged with the responsibility of the reconstruction of this Chancel, and after consultation with the architect, it became apparent to him and the other members of the committee that a proper reading-desk or lectern was required to harmonize with a chancel in keeping with the beauty of this particular and noteworthy example of Gothic architecture.

Furthermore, it was apparent that such a desk should be designed with reference to the possibility of the fulfillment of the desire of many for an appropriate and worthy memorial to another in harmony with the general chancel plan.

This necessity gave suggestion and form to the idea which the donor had so long cherished. At once he offered, to give as he said, "A suitable lectern to round out the plan," and here it is before you.

When you have opportunity to come a little closer to the lectern, you will see that it is an unusual and perhaps unique example of this particular type of chancel equipment.

The craftsman had applied the Gothic motive to the substantial oak of which the lectern is built with skillful and charming simplicity. There is a bit of carving running along the top of the desk into which is woven a detail of the Paschal flower.

In the front and center of the desk itself is a conventionalized design of the Greek cross. The desk or part that actually holds the Bible is supported by a paneled pillar which rises from the floor just in front and supported by the lectern screen which in turn is built into the chancel perclose. This screen is carved with the same design which runs all along the perclose and upon the choir-stall screen. The panels of the lectern screen are supported by pillars similar to that which supports the desk which are topped by exultant carved figures of the Evangelists, beginning on your left with that of St. Matthew.

Such is a bit of the story of the advent and the design of this gift which has been added to our memorials as evidence of a faith and devotion to which it appears we also, are all beholden to be true.

The Act of Dedication

Forasmuch, as this memorial hath been freely and generously given into our hands and keeping, I do now, as minister of the First Unitarian Society in Newton and acting therefore, receive with heartfelt gratitude this gift and set it apart to the service of this Church and dedicate it to the promotion of that love and knowledge of God, as shall be revealed by the spirit of the words read from the Scriptures. May it be to us and all who shall gather here an unfailing source of such inspiration and such courage as shall fulfill the words of the Psalmist upon the memorial inscription: "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

The Prayer of Dedication

Eternal Spirit, from whom cometh that quality of deep devotion which hath moved and still moves the hearts of men, inspiring them through memorials raised in honor of their loved ones to bear witness of their faith and trust in Thee; grant now thy blessing as we set apart and dedicate to Thee, this testimonial to one who while she walked the ways of earth made manifest the virtues we name, Godly; blessed all with the sweetness of her spirit and never failed in cheerful Christian helpfulness. Grant also, as we recall the meaning of the symbols wrought into this memorial and bear the words of the Scriptures it is designed to bear; that there may come to us more and more of the beauty and the glory that is Thy word—Thy truth. "And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

The inscription on the lectern is as follows:—

The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected

EDITORIAL

We begin this week what we believe will be a most interesting feature of the Graphic in the form of a column of up-to-date comment which Mr. Leverett D. G. Bentley will write each week. To the trained mind of a successful newspaper writer Mr. Bentley, has in addition a thorough knowledge of conditions as they exist in Newton and his views thereon will certainly be appreciated by every reader of the Graphic.

On Monday night the aldermen took action transferring property from the general residence to the manufacturing zones, and which, we believe, is the first time any action has been taken towards lessening the present restrictions. We trust that the board will move slowly in this direction as we believe the citizens generally are in favor of more and not less restrictions in the matter of zoning.

The officers of the Newton Chamber of Commerce have a right to feel proud of the fact that the Chamber has over 5000 members. Just think of the amount of good which could be accomplished if each and every one of that 5000 would do his utmost for the improvement of the city. We assume, however, that it will continue to be a case of "Let George do it."

We hope every householder will glance through the summary of the report recently made on the fire hazard conditions in this city. A large amount of work has been performed to bring the matter up to this point and it needs united effort to have the city placed in the first class with a consequent reduction in the rate of fire insurance.

FOOTBALL

Newton High Junior Varsity football team defeated Milton Academy second team yesterday afternoon here, 24 to 7.

For the first three periods it was a hard fought game. Newton scored first in the second period when Mercer, left end, scooped up the ball after a Milton punt had been blocked and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. The attempt for the goal failed.

In the third period, Milton scored, when Batchelder took the ball over from the five yard line after a 50 yard run by Crocker, right halfback. Newton clinched the game in the fourth period when Keen, fullback, intercepted a forward pass and carried the ball to the two yard line. Fay made the touchdown on the next play. Two more touchdowns then followed in rapid succession for the visitors.

At Brockton on Tuesday Newton High Seconds blocked a punt in the third period against Brockton High on the Fair Grounds and scored a touchdown when the ball rolled back across the Brockton goal line and Gilligan fell on it. Outside of this play Brockton smothered Newton and won, 12 to 7, scoring all its points in the last period. Roland, the Brockton fullback, intercepted a forward pass and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. Later Brockton rushed the ball across the line.

WOMAN'S CLUBS

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club opened its season last Monday evening, at the home of its president, Mrs. Herbert E. Child.

There was a large attendance and several new members were welcomed. After the business meeting the Misses Craft entertained with a novelty musical program and readings which delighted their audience. The refreshments were in charge of Mrs. William E. Doane and were enjoyed by all.

SCHOOL NOTES

Mason School

Thrift saving is certainly holding its own in the Mason School. Out of the nearly 700 pupils, this week's report it, that 335 boys and girls so far this school year have saved over $200. If this can be made a habit, then the Automatic Bank will have proved very useful.

Autumn is surely here, for the window boxes in the various rooms are being filled with plants. Geraniums, begonias, and ferns prove the best ones for the purpose.

The eighth grade have subscribed generously for the Current Events this year; some 60 copies are received each week.

The eighth grade, too, are patiently awaiting their class pins, which were ordered a short time ago.

Lasell

On Friday afternoon Dr. Leon H. Vincent, Litt. D. will give the first of a series of three lectures before the students, his subject being "Robert Louis Stevenson."

Groups from the Kingdom of People's Temple, Boston, will be the speaker at Sunday afternoon vespers.

Mrs. Jean Stanley Goodrich of St. Johnsbury, Vermont, has joined the Woodland Park Faculty as a resident music teacher. She is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and for the past four years has taught music in St. Johnsbury Academy, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Groups from the History Department of the Woodland Park School will attend the moving picture presentation of "The Covered Wagon" Friday and Saturday of this week.

Dr. G. M. Winslow, Principal of Lasell Seminary, Miss L. R. Cotter, Preceptress, and M. LeRoy of the French Department will attend the 18th Annual Luncheon of the Connecticut Valley, Lasell Club, at Hartford, Connecticut, Saturday, October 6th.

Bigelow School

Tuesday afternoon Miss Rose Coyle of Grade Four talked to the Cambridge teachers on the subject of Geography.

Bigelow Football Team played its opening game with Mason, Thursday at Newton Centre. The score was 6 to 6. Pannockin made a touchdown. The team plays its first home game with the Pelree next Tuesday at Burr Playground.

THE MORRIS PLAN

Willoughby G. Walling, President of the Morris Plan Bankers Association announces that savings, commercial and national bank men will attend the Fourth Annual Convention of this Association for a study of Industrial Banking when it convenes at the Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City, October 15, 16, and 17th. In addition to visiting financiers, there will be delegates from 106 Morris Plan Banks, Companies, and their branches, from 95 cities of the country.

Recent reports from this organization indicate that in excess of 2,000,000 loans totalling over $400,000,000 have been made since 1910 to small salaried employees, wage earners, merchants and others.

Much about this system of Industrial Banking resembles the working of the people's banks or credit unions of Europe, which endeavor to meet the needs of the individual who has no credit at commercial banks.

Loans from $50 to $5,000 are made for one year or less if a basis of character and earning power. It is claimed that losses aggregate less than one tenth of one per cent. This is due, it is stated, to the principles involved in the system which stress character, earning power, and borrowing only for useful purposes, as integral parts of the transaction.

VILLAGE NIGHT ON THE GREEN

Citizens of Newton Highlands, headed by the Improvement Association of that section of Newton, will be hosts to people from other parts of the city tomorrow evening when "village night on the green" will be observed. If rain interferes the event will take place on the night of Monday, October 8.

The Highlands Improvement Association have decided to rope off the junction of Bowdoin and Erie avenue Saturday evening, October 6th for the dancers. The platform idea as at first planned owing to the necessity of illuminating had to be abandoned. The moving pictures will be thrown on the South side of the School building and between and during the acts members of the Highlands Glee Club will serenade the ladies with song. For the dancers the Constabulary Band will do its best. Everybody is welcome. Free show, Free Dancing, Free Concert, Tonics, candy, pop corn and hot dogs will be on sale.

MOTHERS AND TEACHERS

The Elliot Guild and the Mother's class of Elliot Church held a joint luncheon at the parlor of last Tuesday, which was both a profitable session and a pleasant social occasion to the large group of women present.

Mrs. Harry W. Fitts was the speaker of the afternoon. Her ability to inspire Sunday School teachers and mothers in the new knowledge and enthusiasm for their opportunities with children received recognition this summer in an invitation to address teachers from many states in conference at Lake George.

She spoke on Tuesday of the great importance and almost unlimited possibilities for story telling for character training of children of all ages. Were story telling used more in home and school, there would be less need for repression and punishment. "Let me tell the stories," she quotes from G. Stanley Hall, "I care not who writes the text books." A wise choice of stories is necessary. To help in one's selection, Mrs. Fitts recommended a book, by Katherine Dunlop Cather, entitled "Educating by Story Telling." Concrete evidence of the power of a three minute story was given at the close of her talk when Mrs. Fitts told an interesting story it was a true sermon to all burden bearers, yet gave pleasure at the time and will not be easily forgotten.

The hostesses of the afternoon were Miss Eleanor Gibbs, Mrs. Kennedy Crane, Mrs. Richard Raines and Mrs. L. O. Cummings.

GARBAGE PLANT ASSAILED

John J. Keith has applied to the Superior Court for an injunction restraining William H. Maguire from the use of the property 134 Lexington street, Auburndale, as a station for handling garbage. The city of Newton is also joined with Maguire in an effort to prevent the city from continuing its contract with Maguire for the collection and disposition of garbage.

The order is returnable next Monday at 10 A. M. in the equity session of the Superior court held at Boston. It may be of interest to state that this property has been used as a garbage station for fully thirty years.

Lower Falls

The Ladies' Society of the Methodist Church announce their Annual Harvest Supper for Thursday, October 18th. Approx will be on sale.

Sunday will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church as Harvest Home Sunday, when thank offerings for the harvest and other blessings should be made. The Church will be decorated with the fruits of the harvest, and the pastor will preach a special sermon on "Thankfulness." This is an old English custom which is being revived in a great many churches in this country.

Auburndale

The monthly Sunday evening service will be resumed at the Church of the Messiah next Sunday at 7.30 P. M.

Miss Mildred F. Beardsley of Crescent street entered the Curry School of Expression, Boston, this week.

Woodcuts.

The art of wood engraving is very old. When it was rare to find a prince who could write, little woodcuts for attesting documents were in use in Europe. But before that the Chinese had invented the art. In modern times the woodcut has been submerged beneath other methods of reproducing drawings and photographs, but the art is now being kept delightfully alive by the Society of Wood Engravers of London.

THE CAVERNS OF LURAY

IN THE midst of the broad winding valley of the Shenandoah River—the "Daughter of the Stars" as the Indians called it—in northwestern Virginia, flanked on the east by a line of mountains known as the Massanutts and on the west by the main chain of the Blue Ridge range, is the quaint, oldish town of Luray.

Ten miles west is Cave Hill, under which is one of our great natural curiosities—the Luray Caverns, to which have come to wonder, study and admire, scientists, explorers and tourists from every quarter.

Here the mysterious workings of nature have produced a veritable underground fairy palace, with miles of passageways lined with an infinite variety of curious, gigantic and wonderful formations. Almost every object of nature seems to be reproduced with surprising reality. The indescribably fantastic groupings of the weird and grotesque formations, the beauty and the coloring of the titanic tapestry effects and the translucent and symmetrical arrangement appear to be the handiwork of nature in a playful mood.

One chamber measures almost 400 feet in length by 125 feet in width. Others possess lofty, arched and elaborately ornamented domes. A most marvelous formation bears strong resemblance to a gigantic pipe-organ. When struck, these "chimes" give out, low, sweet, full notes which re-echo rather spookily through the surrounding caverns.

This cavern is brilliantly electric lighted, surprisingly free from dampness—in fact the atmosphere is pleasantly delightful, the normal year-round temperature is about 54 degrees and the journey through it an entirely new and novel and unusual sensation.

NAVY DAY

In compliance with the request of prominent people, both men and women of the Nation that a day be set apart when appropriate recognition might be given to the patriotic and sacrificing services of the official and enlisted personnel of the American Navy in peace and war, especially in the late World War, the Navy Department has designated October 27th, as "Navy Day." It is proposed that on that date all naval stations and Navy ships then in port shall be put in holiday attire and be open to visitation by the general public that they may be made practically familiar with what the Navy—personnel and ships—stands for; and yet, what the Navy is and what it has done for the American Republic could not be told in the fifty, or more, pages of a Metropolitan Sunday newspaper.

It needs no indulgence of rhetoric to prove that the spirit and ability of our officers and their juniors is due to their professional education and experience, which has made them not only experts as defenders of the Nation, but they have exhibited the qualities of statesmanship and arbitration on many an occasion with praise-worthy ability.

The activities of the American Navy in the World War furnished proof that it is thoroughly saturated with an invincible spirit; and it was demonstrated to the world more conclusively than ever before that the confidence, the courage, the spirit, the aptitude, and the ability of its officers and enlisted men made them capable of grappling with seemingly insurmountable obstacles. The American Navy gave its financial and physical support in many ways, especially in the successful transportation of supplies and physical forces to the Allies, through the organization known as the "Naval Overseas Transportation" which took over vessels constructed and in course of construction, fitted them out as a part of the Navy contingent, loaded them with foodstuffs and troops, and arranged them in protected convoys in so complete a manner that they were in almost every instance made safe from the menace of the German submarines. It may safely be declared that all on board of any of the Naval Overseas transports endured about the greatest of the hardships of the war. Not only was transported ammunition supplies and provisions for the troops of the Allies as well as our own troops, but the more than 450 ships of that service transported the more than two millions of American troops to the front and then brought them back in safety at the close of the World War.

Is it not strange that the emblem flower of England should have a Latin name? For there is no other name for a rose than the Latin word rosa, which the Romans brought us. What did the countryfolk of Kent or Sussex call the dog-rose before the Romans came? "Eglantine," another old name for it, is French, derived from a Latin word which takes you back eventually to acus, a needle. Was there never another name to set beside such English names as cowslip, buttercup, daisy?

New Idea in Cigar Lighter.

A novel-looking cigar lighter resembles a telephone in appearance. What would be the receiver of the telephone is in this case the lighter, which is connected with a flexible tubing to the gas service. When the "receiver" is taken from the hook, the gas is automatically turned on and lighted by an electric spark from a battery. When the user "hangs up," the light is extinguished.

How Often Do We Check Up Ourselves

"Hold up my goings in my paths, that my footsteps not slip."
—Ps. 17-5.

HOW often do you check your watch with a regulator? How long would the best of watches run without checking it up with some standard time piece? Even the regulators by which our watches are set are checked up every hour with the observatory time at Washington which checks itself up with the Sun as the only standard that needs no regulation. How many of us depend upon our lives running smoothly without checking up our ideals with the standards set by Divine Providence? How many of us from day to day are gradually slipping backward because we are not checking ourselves up with the only measure which needs no regulation, God's laws.

We assume that we are all right, but how many of us know that our ideals of a Christian life have not been dulled to such an extent that we are far from the truth. This checking up of our lives with God's Law is accomplished through church worship. The least we can do is to check ourselves up once a week by attending church service.

PRINTED BUT PERSONAL

Intimate personal anecdotes and details regarding the home life, the early surroundings, the training and education, habits of work and play, and personal peculiarities of the outstanding characters of our generation interest us and me—the average man and woman—and encourage us to hope and work for greater things for ourselves. The following books give "personal interest" facts regarding some of the most interesting doers of big things in recent years:

EA132-A Abbott, Lyman. Reminiscences. (for many years editor of the "Outlook," also famous as a preacher and lecturer.)
EA3651-A Aldrich, Mrs. Lillian. Crowding Memories. (Mrs. Aldrich was the wife of Thomas Bailey Aldrich, author. She narrates many interesting details regarding the host of literary friends of her husband.)

EB637-B Bok, E. W. The Americanization of Edward Bok; the autobiography of a Dutch boy fifty years after. (Mr. Bok is one of her many adopted citizens of whom America may well be proud.)

Three friends—naturalist, inventor, and business man.
EB9455-Bs Burroughs. John Burroughs, boy and man, by Clara Barus.
E2327-J Edison, Thos. Alva. Sixty years of an inventor's life, by F. A. Jones.

EF752-F Ford, Henry. My life and work.
EC45-M Choate, J. H. The life of Joseph Hodges Choate as gathered chiefly from his letters, by E. S. Martin, including his own story of his boyhood and youth. (one of the great lawyers of the last generation.)

ED8196-O Drew, John. My years on the stage (a great actor's story of his own experiences.)
EB414-W Belasco, David. The life of David Belasco, by William Winter. (one of the great modern play-wrights.)

EF923-Frohman, Charles Frohman; manager and man, by I. F. Marcoss and Daniel Frohman.
ES717-S Sothorn, E. H. The melancholy tale of "me;" my remembrances. (by a modern Shakespearean actor of ability.)

EB6448-B Booth, Life of William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, by Harold Begbie.
EG865-G Grenfell, W. T. A Labrador doctor; the autobiography of Wilfred T. Grenfell.

EP552-H Potter, Henry Codman Potter, seventh bishop of New York, by George Hodges. (a bishop distinguished for his social service work as well as his religious labors.)

ES8223-S Steiner, E. A. From alien to citizen; the story of my life in America. (sociologist and preacher.)
EV11-P Vail. In one man's life; being chapters from the personal and business career of Theodore N. Vail, by A. B. Paine (the man with whose name the modern development and extension of telephone service is most closely associated.)

ER346-W Rhodes, Cecil Rhodes, by Basil Williams. (The diamond king who saw fit to perpetuate his name in the realm of letters through his international scholarships.)
NEWTON FREE LIBRARY.

Flower Petals Form Dove.
There is a peculiar flower growing in Central America which bears in the center of the petals a snow-white image of a dove. The Spaniards, upon discovering this peculiar blossom, called it the Holy Ghost flower, and soon created a tradition according to which it came down from heaven.

To Remove Water Mark From Glass. A few drops of olive oil or any other oil rubbed inside a glass vase where the water mark is evident will prevent the mark from appearing again.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

To the club women of Newton greeting! What better greeting can the Club Editor bring than a breath straight from the mountains of New Hampshire, September, when it is fine cannot be surpassed there, unless it be by October. The dry season this year brought the foliage to maturity fully two weeks earlier than other years, so that already the most brilliant coloring has passed and the leaves are falling fast. Heavy clouds were resting upon the Presidential range Sunday and Monday with a strong wind from the north-west, while the thermometer was dropping. Occasionally the clouds lifted enough to suggest the snowstorm that was raging behind them. By Tuesday the wind had subsided somewhat, the clouds had vanished, and behold the sugar-coated peaks. Atmosphere clear as crystal brought out every crevice and even though some fifteen miles away, it seemed as if one might easily touch them. With the mere mountain aglow with color, brilliant reds, vivid yellows, intermingled with the dark green of the pines and spruces, and then the Intervale with its green meadows and stately trees—there was a scene that gripped not only the imagination but the spirit as well. It was hard to tear one's self away from such a picture. May the strength, the beauty, the calm, and the peace of it remain the whole year through!

Club correspondents are asked to send in items as usual to the Club Editor at her home, 94 Charlesbank road, Newton, to be received by Wednesday afternoon. Please use only one side of the paper and wide space the lines to admit of editing. Large sized sheets are more convenient to handle. When sending several items, please arrange them so that they may be easily cut apart. No item begin a new one at the bottom of a sheet and run it over to another page. Prices of tickets are considered advertising or which there is a fixed charge, so should not be included in announcements. Questions are welcomed and advice is always gladly given.

State Federation

Two Presidents' Conferences are scheduled for the fall this year; the first was held at Greenfield on Tuesday of this week to enable more of the presidents from the western part of the state to attend; the other will be held on the 1st at Hotel Vendome.

A pageant, "The Bearers of the Light," planned as a part of the Annual meeting at Swampscott, it will be remembered, was postponed until fall in order to have more time for preparation. December 12th at Jordan Hall has been set and full particulars will be forthcoming a little later.

Already plans have been tentatively arranged for the trip to the next Biennial of the General Federation, which will be held at Los Angeles in early June.

Wednesday, October 10, at 10 o'clock, the Mothercraft and Child Welfare department will hold a conference at the Exeter Theatre. There will be addresses by Richard A. Bolt, M. D., medical director, American Child Health Association, Washington, D. C., "Recent Progress in Child Health Work"; Mary E. Lakeman, M. D., assistant director, Division of Hygiene, Massachusetts Department of Public Health, "Cooperation of the Department with the Club Women's Pioneer Work"; Professor C. E. Turner, department of biology and public health, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "The Parent and the School Health Program"; Dr. F. #### WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Association of Central Congregational Church held its first fall meeting October 3, 1923. It was especially fortunate in having for its speaker, Mrs. Franklin Warner, president of the Woman's Board of Missions. Mrs. Warner has recently returned from a trip through the Orient and she gave vivid impressions of what she has seen.

She said in part that although you may find wonderful military roads, comfortable railroad travel and modern hotels in India yet there is need of missionary effort as long as the common people are degraded and little children have a hard time to live.

Chinese women are not degraded but they are bound mentally and spiritually by their religion.

The people of Japan have copied the material prosperity of other nations. They have stolen the body but they fail to know the soul—and until that is discovered foreign missionary work must go on.

Luncheon was served to about 150 ladies by Mrs. L. E. McCertney and her able helpers.

liams Clark, which took place at St.
Paul's Cathedral, where the bridegroom is one of the staff of clergy.
Miss Badger, who studied at the Westover School and the Boston School of Chestnut Hill and Consett.

Mr. Clark is a graduate of Harvard, bridegroom, whose long activities with the Episcopal City Mission are widely known throughout the diocese. Arthur pretty feature was the vocal music by the thirty Cathedral choir boys, with whom the bridegroom had worked all summer at camp. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and she had as her single attendant, her sister,

THE TEACHING OF THE BIBLE IN THE UNITED STATES

There is being prepared, for the laymen of the churches, and for the general public, a series of paragraphs on the facts about the teaching of the Bible in the homes, churches and schools of this country. This material is to appear in monthly installments for six or seven months of the coming winter. Each installment is in four paragraphs which are to be used weekly in many church calendars. Mr.
R. O. Walter, of Auburndale, former president of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association is responsible for the gathering of this data from authoritative sources, and the material is being distributed by that Association. The first installment appears in full below. It is concerned primarily with the growth of the idea of separation of church and state.

1. Introduction.
Great changes have taken place in regard to teaching religion during the past twenty-five years. The secular press is teaching with new words and phrases whose meaning is not clear to us. What is a Community School of Religious Education? Is it for teachers or children? What about these western experiments in Week Day schools of Religious for grammar school and High School pupils? What is a "Daily Vacation Bible School?"
What is back of the rising tide of Biblical courses in Preparatory schools and colleges? What are the limits, both positive and negative, in the United States and in Massachusetts, or religious instruction by government agencies?

These and other questions which are necessary for the intelligent reading of the daily and religious press, will be stated in series of weekly paragraphs beginning next Sunday. The first paragraph will state the earlier conditions in our country along these lines.

Richard O. Walter.

Church and State in Colonial Times
The early settlements in this ple have a common purpose and bound together by common ties. The result was that in the very beginning, without any legislation at all, the church and state were, to all intents and purposes, one. In Virginia the cavaliers were of the English church; in Maryland the colony settled under Lord Baltimore was composed of adherents of the Catholic church; in New York they were of the Dutch church; and in New England they were of the independent Separatist or Puritan faith.
Here they looked upon their Bible school work as covering seven days in the week. Their week-day schools were their Bible schools. Quite naturally, therefore, they gave the whole of the Lord's Day to worship and sermonizing, upon the presupposed basis of a week's catechetical teaching.

H. C. Meserve.

The Development of the Idea of Separation of Church and State
As is always the case where church and state are combined, there is interference with the individual rights which always provokes opposition.
So long as the people of the colonies were of one thought and one mind on all things, all went well. When, however, divergence of thought began to appear and a manifest difference in standards of conduct, those who did not follow the strict interpretation of the law found themselves in trouble.
A little later, many objected to being taxed for the support of the church in which they had no interest, and to protest against what they considered the narrow life which the church through the state, compelled them to live.

Gradually in New England the week day schools became thoroughly se-cularized. Catechetical teaching came first to be limited to a perfunctory teaching of the Westminster catechism; and then to drop out altogether.

H. C. Meserve.

Federal Constitution on Religion
It is well known that the federal constitution guarantees absolute freedom for the individual in the conduct of his religious affairs in the following paragraph:—
"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

This statement was the outgrowth of that protest which appeared in the early years of the settlements when they strove with constantly increasing success to separate church and state. Some have found fault because the name of God does not appear in the constitution, but it has seemed to the great majority of American people of whatever faith that the free spirit of God is not required to confine itself to the purely political statement.

FIRE INSURANCE REPORT

During the past year representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its committee on Fire Prevention and Engineering Standards has been making an examination of the fire fighting facilities of this city with a view to a possible change in classification with a subsequent lowering in fire insurance rates.
The report fails to state just what is necessary to obtain the desired classification but on the whole it is rather favorable to conditions as found here.

The report is too long for a newspaper article but the general summary is as follows:—
Population about 48,200. Mainly a residential city. Surface rather hilly; some steep grades. Paved streets in fair to good condition. High winds frequent. Loss per fire and per capita low; number of fires, moderate.

Fire-Fighting Facilities

Water Supply.—Municipal ownership; organization and management good. Records complete. Supply from collecting conduits and wells barely adequate for present needs; ample emergency supply available from Metropolitan system either by pumping, or directly at lower pressure. Pumping capacity in main and emergency stations ample and in good condition.
Reservoir of good capacity. Consumption moderately high. Pressures good.
Arterial system well arranged but only fairly adequate; minor distribu-ters largely 6 and 8 inch, poorly gridironed in many sections and with numerous dead ends. Gate valves widely spaced; in good condition.
Hydrants in fair condition and of adequate size, but too much widely spaced in most sections.

Fire Department.—Part full paid and part call, with permanent officers.
Members under civil service rules;
good provisions for pension and retirement. Companies undermanned, especially at meal hours and during vacations. Apparatus mainly well distributed; chemical service good;
additional ladder company needed.
Engine capacity adequate in conjunction with outside aid. Minor equipment and heavy stream appliances generally adequate. Hose not regularly tested; small amount of 3-inch hose. Good local facilities for repair work. Discipline good. Drills not systematized. Response to box alarms good; to telephone alarms insufficient.
Fire methods satisfactory. Results from building inspection fairly good.
Records well kept.

Fire-Alarm System.—Automatic system, well maintained. Headquarters in a non-fireproof building. Headquarters equipment insufficient. Half of circuits are overloaded. Few interfering or brush-break boxes; many non-interfering boxes of inferior type; distribution mainly good. Large percentage of underground construction; about half the aerial wiring is in cables; some on poles on high-tension circuits. Tests and inspections generally satisfactory; record of physical equipment and troubles good.

Fire Department Auxiliaries.—State fire marshal with adequate powers.
Police department co-operates well with fire department. Telephone service widely distributed and much used for sending alarms. Powerful outside aid quickly available.

Summary.—Water supply works adequate and reliable; insufficient quantities available in many sections because of weaknesses in distribution system. Fire department efficient but somewhat undermanned. Fire alarm system well maintained, but overloaded.

Structural Conditions and Hazards

Building Department.—Building code deficient in several respects. Structural conditions are weak.

Explosive and Inflammables.—State laws good, but do not cover all hazards; enforcement through local fire department and state inspectors. Fire prevention inspections by fire department officers generally effective. Local conditions fairly good.

Electricity.—Chief of fire department given supervision over all wiring; National Electrical Code not enacted by ordinance but is used as standard. New work well installed; old work in fair to good condition. Few overhead wire obstructions. Some trouble from electrolysis; no tests made by city.

Conflagration Hazard.—The mercantile district consists of small but fairly compact groups of brick and frame buildings of moderate height but with some large areas and no protection to exposures; serious group fires are probable but these should be confined to block of origin. Manufacturing plants are generally well provided with private fire protection. There is no marked congestion in residence districts, but hazard of wooden shingle roofs is increased by deficient water supply in many sections.

No more ashes!

We mean literally this! Heating, whether for the home or public building, is possible without the necessity of ashes and cinders. An oil-burning device is clean-burning, and furthermore any degree of heating wished for can be assured and maintained for the entire winter through the automatic control of the thermostat.

SOCONY FURNACE OIL is especially refined to meet the requirements of the various oilburning devices now on the market. It is a uniform fuel, easily obtained, easily delivered, easily stored.

COMPARE

The Maximum of Proved VS. Many Extravagant Claims Intrinsic Value of Superiority

SO many announcements of new model cars contain extravagant claims for the same superiorities that it is puzzling to the buyer to know which value is real and which is only a claim.
This year the issue has been confused by the introduction of mechanical changes, some of which have been rushed into production while still in the experimental stage—and then immediately given wide publicity.

Important considerations have been overlooked and great stress placed upon unimportant details.

But the man who intends to buy a motor car need not let this confusion or this glamour of publicity lead him to make a mistake or risk satisfaction in his purchase. The automobiles themselves are available for comparison.

See and be convinced. Riding is believing.

As an aid to intelligent buying we offer the following suggestions:

Place the 1924 model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car at $995 alongside any car you may select as belonging in the same class. Every car looks well in the pictures—most cars make a good impression in their own show windows.
The Studebaker Light-Six looks a winner alongside the best-looking competitor you can find.
And it's larger, more substantial, roomier, more comfortable looking—and is more comfortable.

Compare the top. Look inside and out. The Studebaker top is sturdily built. Has four stout cross bows. Top material is same as is so satisfactorily used in the Big-Six. Notice the fit, feel the quality. The rear curtain is one-piece—has no seams—with a large rectangular window bound by an enameled moulding.

Compare the body. Studebaker has a roomy, substantial, carefully made body—all steel even to its framework, which permits a finish in baked enamel. A depressed belt line runs around the body and through the hood and radiator, adding to its distinctive appearance.

Compare the one-piece, rain-proof windshield, with built-in cowl lamps, with the ordinary two-piece windshield with rubber strip that leaks in every rain and always obstructs the driver's vision. Notice the large cowl ventilator that is quickly operated by merely moving the regulator backward or forward.

Compare the Studebaker door trimmings and fittings with the door fittings of other cars.
Notice that the door pocket flaps have weights to hold them in position. Man-sized door handles and latches, positive-action door locks that catch with a snap and stay closed. Heavy hinges properly located and proportioned.

Highest grade trimming material instead of painted cardboard. Fastening nails concealed.
Compare the aluminum-bound linoleum that is neatly fitted and fastened to the floor boards of this $995 Studebaker Light-Six with the rubber mats that cover the cheap, loosely-fitted floor boards in many other cars.

Compare the cheap rope rail (sometimes hemp rope covered with imitation leather) with the Studebaker nickel-plated rail. Compare the forty-cent footrest with the comfortable, carpet-covered footrest, supported by polished aluminum brackets, in the Studebaker.

These comparisons are of features that can be seen. There are many more down under the surface that could be mentioned, such as the machining of all surfaces, the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six motor. This is largely responsible for the practical absence of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

If competition is so far inferior in its visible parts, it is a certainty that the hidden parts which really determine the satisfaction of a car will be equally inferior.

The Studebaker chassis is as far superior to any other motor car chassis in its price field as Studebaker upholstery is to other upholstery, as the Studebaker body is to any other motor car body in its price field.

Come in and see the Light-Six. Test its performance and comfort yourself. Again—

HOW NEWTON IS GOVERNED

Some Interesting Facts About the Various Departments of the City by J. C. Brimblecom

ASSESSORS' DEPARTMENT

The receipt of the tax bills for 1923, naturally draws attention to the work and methods employed by the board of assessors of the City of Newton.

Notwithstanding its importance as the revenue-producing department of the city, few of our citizens probably realize how its work affects them until the annual tax bills have been issued and the direct call made upon the pocketbook of every tax payer in the city.

The department is under the charge of three principal assessors, two of whom give but two thirds of their time to the work of the city. There are also 22 assistant assessors, appointed annually by the mayor and who are paid $100 each for work performed. The office work is in the hands of competent clerks, and there are from six to twelve temporary clerks employed each summer.

The real business of the year begins on April 1st, but much preliminary work must be done in the earlier months in preparation. On April first, the assistant assessors begin a systematic canvass of the district to which they are assigned and visiting each house, makes careful notes of the following facts: the name, age, occupation and residence of every person over 20 years of age and the residence on April first of the previous year. The number of horses, cows, dogs, and the actual value of such other personal property as carriages, automobiles, household property above $1000 valuation as well as the value of any stock in trade carried by local merchants.

These facts are entered on cards, and on the completion of the canvass, usually within two weeks, the cards are taken to City Hall. Here the assistant assessors with one of the temporary clerks compares the new information with that obtained the previous year and the facts regarding each person is transferred to a card, that used in other years being brought up to date or corrected, as the facts require.

These cards arranged by streets and numbers under each precinct are the basis from which the annual list of assessed polls is printed for the benefit of the registrars of voters.

In the meantime the principal assessors are engaged in determining the value of each piece of real estate and examining the sworn statements of personal property which have been filed with them under the law.

The principal assessors do not visit each piece of real estate each year, the valuations, except where important changes in development or large improvements in buildings have been made, being determined from the records at the office. Visits are usually made by the entire board to property where it is evident some change in valuation is necessary or desirable, and the board also works on a plan or revaluation of at least one ward of the city in each year. This method allows a revaluation of the entire city every seven years and seems as fair a method of doing the work as is possible.

The entire city is planned and plotted on what is known as the "block" system. Every part of the city has been surveyed by the city engineers and department and plotted on plans of the assessors' office. The cost of this work which was begun some thirty years ago has amounted to thousands of dollars, but has fully paid for itself, when compared with the amount of property which escaped taxation through the loose methods and "guesses" of a generation ago. These plans are kept up to date as property is sold or developed so that the assessors always have on hand the latest changes of all real estate in the city.

The hardest task of all, however, is fixing the valuation of the tangible personal property of the residents of the city. The law requires every citizen to file a sworn statement with the assessors on or before May 15 of each year, but it is more honored in the breach than in the observance, even though the assessor has the right to "doom" all delinquents. The damage law is stringent enough to suit the most exacting, and while a person who objects to the amount of personal property for which he is doomed, has the right to appear before the Assessors and make oath as to the correct amount, the conditions are so onerous that it is rarely done.

After the valuations of both real and personal estate have been determined, the assessors are then ready to declare the rate of taxation for the current year.

They receive annually from the city clerk, a statement of the amount of appropriations made by the board of aldermen, a warrant from the county commissioners of the amount required for county expenses, notice from the state treasurer of the state tax apportioned to this city and the amounts due and payable for our share of the metropolitan sewer, parks, boulevards and water debts of the district. From this gross amount, the assessors are allowed to deduct the estimated receipts of the city, being limited however, to an amount which shall not exceed the actual receipts of the preceding year. They can also deduct the available cash in the city treasury. The net result is the tax levy for that year and this sum is what must be raised upon the valuation of the city as already determined. The rate in this city has usually been fixed at some multiple of twenty cents, the difference between the actual figures of the levy and that raised by the twenty cent figure being the when the rate is declared the clerks extend the valuation books by carrying out the amounts to be paid by each tax payer and copy the whole set into a set of books for the use of the collector of taxes. The tax bills are also prepared and both the bills and the collector's books are carefully compared. Each account in the valuation book, the collector's book and the tax bill bear the same number and some idea of the amount of work involved can be gathered from the fact that there are about 21,000 of these accounts the present year. A poll tax is entered eleven times and four different sets of books, most of which number 17 (the number of precincts in the city) are written during the season.

In the last two years a new method of making out tax bills has been adopted. Heretofore each tax bill and notice has been written by hand, a slow process at the best but one which also called for a double comparison with the collector's lists. Now the tax bills, tax notices and a stub with the essential facts are made out in triplicate on the typewriter. The blank tax bills, notice and stubs now come in printed forms like an endless chain, an ingenious device moves the carbon sheets to the next bill as fast as one set has been typed and torn off. This method requires a special machine but enough time is saved to make it an object, aside from the more accurate work accomplished.

The valuation and collector's books also include such items as sewer apportionments and interest, sewer house connection apportionments and interest, sidewalk and street improvement betterments and interest, moth and street sprinkling assessments. Copies of the valuation books must also be made and filed at the State House every three years.

Lists of all males between the ages of 18 and 44 who are liable for military service, of owners of dogs, and the name of every person assessed for a poll tax as well as lists of women voters must also be filed annually with the city clerk.

At the close of the season the cards heretofore referred to are arranged alphabetically by the entire city and copied into a book which is of great assistance in locating persons whose particular ward or precinct are not known.

The assessors are in touch with the registry of deeds and the probate court office at East Cambridge and have abstracts of all deeds and wills which affect Newton property or Newton residents.

The fall of the year brings to the Assessors the task of holding many hearings on complaints of over valuation of real estate, etc. It is gratifying to note that there is a constant decline in the amount of appeals from this source and it is evident that the public has a wholesome respect for the judgement of our board of assessors.

While the entire subject of taxation is a prominent issue in our political life, it should be remembered that our Assessors must administer the law as it is given to them to uphold. Massachusetts has admittedly about as crude and as unscientific laws on taxation as any state in the Union, but until the Legislature adopts some scientific and adequate plan for assessment, our citizens should find no fault with the work of the Assessing department under present conditions.

RIFLE SHOOTERS!!

General Persing and others in a position to know have recently maintained that it is of vital importance for the American people to retain that proficiency in the use of firearms for which it has always been renowned.

It is increasingly difficult for people in thickly settled communities to indulge in the practice of rifle shooting, and there is not now the incentive of the olden days when the skill of the rifle shooter procured him his daily food, and was frequently the sole means of preserving the family from destruction. As a consequence the use of firearms has fallen off to a great degree, and we are in danger of losing the prestige and benefit which we have so long enjoyed. But fortunately rifle shooting provides a sport which appeals to many, and is only prevented from being more universally enjoyed by the difficulty of finding a suitable place for its practice.

It may not be generally known that we have in Newton, at the corner of Lincoln and Columbus street, in Newton Highlands, one of the finest and most convenient ranges in Greater Boston. This range is easily accessible by motor, the Needham and Watertown trolley line passes the door, while the Boston and Worcester trolley line and the Newton Highlands railroad station are within two blocks. A great deal of interesting sport has been provided here in the past few years, matches having been shot with the United States Marines and many clubs from neighboring cities, at which the local riflemen acquitted themselves with great credit.

On account of lack of publicity the expense of this range has been borne by a very few people who feel that without additional help it cannot much longer be maintained. The expense of operating is very small, and if a few citizens, actuated either by patriotic motives alone or by those motives added to a genuine love of the sport, would rally to the support of this project, this range and its facilities could be saved for the people of Newton.

All interested parties should communicate immediately with Mr. A. D. Colby, 51 Waldorf Road, Newton Upper Falls, Telephone, Centre Newton 1706-J.

There is shooting at the range every Thursday evening, at which time anyone interested will be welcomed.

It is hoped that those who are interested in this good clean sport either on account of their own proficiency in rifle shooting, or from a desire to obtain it by practice and association with others who are masters in the game, will take the matter up immediately with Mr. Colby. If it is long delayed such action will come too late. DO IT NOW.

CHURCH NOTICE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, Playhouse Hall, Washington Street, West Newton, Sunday service 10:45 A. M. Subject of lesson: Sermon: "Unreality." Sunday School 10:45 A. M. Testimonial meeting Wednesday 8 P. M.

ALDERMEN MEET

Only routine business occupied the meeting held on Monday, at which all the members were present save Aldermen Smith and Tucker.

The long list of hearings attracted a bit more attention than usual. Albert H. Pickard opposed an Edison pole on Crafts street at Linwood avenue, after Alex Doyle and Mr. Gould of the Company had favored the petition. William B. Hayden spoke in favor of granting George A. Haynes a gas filling location on Commonwealth avenue, west of the railroad bridge at Auburndale, and J. A. Leonard entered a protest. J. A. Callahan and Mr. McCabe favored changing the zone of property corner of Newtonville and Lewis terrace, and property on the east side of Lewis terrace. Langdon Coffin opposed the first petition as that piece of property had been used for years as a freight siding. Stanley F. Smith spoke in favor of the petition to change property at Commonwealth avenue and Phillips street, from residence to a manufacturing district and later in the session this petition was granted, with only Alderman Ball voting in opposition.

Mr. H. W. Annable favored a sewer in Waban avenue, and this petition was also granted.

A lady who did not give her name spoke in favor of a sewer in Frederick street, and E. W. Malley favored a sewer in Daniel street.

Other hearings were held on Edison poles on Cabot street, Telephone poles on Floral street, on petitions of Concezio DeVenetis to sell gasoline at 183 California street, Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club to enlarge its club house on Chestnut terrace, on sewers in Commonwealth Park, on the laying out of Vineyard road, relocating corner of Boylston and Chestnut streets, relocating corner of Grove and Central streets, and for sewers in Indiana terrace, and Walter street.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations for settling claim of Crowell Automobile Supply Company, for $19,93, for $439 for pension of Michael Welch, $208 for pension for Bernard McFadden, $5000 for increasing the water supply; $300 for work on Centre Green; $295 for removing old fire station at Auburndale; $500 for temporary clerks Assessing Department; and $215 for work on Junior High School all of which were approved by the board.

He also sent in recommendations for settlement of claim of G. N. B. Sherman for $48.25, for acceptance of act allowing pensions of foreman, and for some action on the proposed increase of railroad fares to Boston.

He also transmitted offer of Stowe & Woodward Company, to buy city land on Oak street for $2000, of E. E. Rau to buy city land on Winslow road for $500, and petition of police officers for increase of pay so that men would begin with $1800 (the present five year maximum) with $2000 the second year and $2200 the third and subsequent years.

The report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters on fire conditions in the city was also received.

These petitions were granted, Jennie M. Samuda, intelligence office; William M. Maher, taxi cab; Bertha Loughlin, victualer; Giovanni Frola and Antonio Piccirilli, truck licenses; Western Union Telegraph Company, the Edison and Telephone Companies various locations; Charles F. Dow and William A. Sweet, auctioneers licenses; S. Gori, victualer license; and the following private garages: Elizabeth G. Graham, 522 Commonwealth avenue, C. S. Wheeler, 19 Berkshire road, Nellie E. McLaughlin, 63 Bourne street, Joseph Durocher, 8 Schen street, Martin J. Mooney, 3 Waban street, E. W. Malley, 148 Parker street, Mrs. John A. Farrell, 99 Crafts street, W. A. Rollins, 87 Fair Oaks avenue, Lois R. Young, 45 Brooks avenue, Elizabeth L. Allen, 12 Belmont street, Alfred Peterson, 212-214 Newtonville avenue, William Deuschle, 112-114 Grasmere street.

Petitions were also received for sewers in Mt. Alvernia road, Wald street, Clarendon street, for laying out of Hawthorne street, for a building line on Manet road, Francis J. Lill for Soldiers relief, Charles Kaufman for taxi cab license, William H. Newcomb for private garage on Commonwealth avenue, and a claim was filed by Mary McCarthy on account of damage caused by tarvia.

On October 1st, were ordered on petitions of J. B. Gerard for a public garage for 54 cars on Court street, and of C. R. Hager for 5 car garage on Adams avenue.

Petitions for sewers in Hazelton road, Washington street, Oakland avenue, Pigeon Hill road and Evergreen avenue, and for the laying out of Pigeon Hill road were referred to the next city government.

Leave to withdraw was granted on petitions for change of zoning district at Central and Grove streets.

Orders were adopted for $12,000 towards construction of Auburn street railroad bridge, settling claim of W. P. Fessenden for $50, making betterment assessments on Gammons road, Byfield road, Applegarth street, making various assessments on account of sewer house connections, and approving $850 for elevator in the Free Library Building.

There was quite a debate over an evenly divided committee report on the petition of J. V. Monaghan Sons, to transfer a gas pump from one side of Washington street at Auburn street, to the other side. Aldermen Weeks, O'Connell and Parker favored the transfer and it was opposed by Aldermen Ross, Hickey and Ball. Aldermen Waite, said he didn't know how to vote on the matter but when the vote was taken he voted against the transfer which was refused by a vote of 8 to 9.

There was also an interesting debate on a majority leave to draw report of the License committee on petition of A. Shordone for a victualer license. Aldermen Ross and O'Connell spoke in favor of granting the license even against the recommendation of the Chief of Police and it appeared that this person had formerly held such a license but it had been refused when he had been charged, but not convicted of an illegal sale of liquor. The board by a vote of 12 to 4 voted Shordone a license.

In the matter of $5000 for increasing the water supply, Alderman

Young stated that there had been no attempt at enlarging the supply for 11 years and the city should utilize all the land it owns in the Charles river valley before entering the Metropolitan system. Aldermen Collins said that it was expected that this appropriation would add 25% to the present supply. Alderman White said that the proposition was a gamble as no one knew just what conditions would be found when the proposed well was constructed. The old well he stated cost $15,000 and additional money would undoubtedly be needed for the new one. The order was then adopted.

The board took a ten minute recess from 9:30 to 10:10 o'clock and adjourned within a few minutes on re-assembling.

POST ROAD FARM

Do you ever stop to consider the source of your milk supply? Do you know that the milk you receive daily is coming from a herd of cows that are clean and healthy? Do you know that the stable, in which these cows are kept, is clean and sanitary? Do you know that the milking is done in a sanitary, careful way? Do you know that the milk is carefully bottled and delivered? Do you know that the tuberculin test has been applied to the herd of cattle supplying you with milk and that you are now receiving milk from a tubercular free herd? Unless you are getting milk handled under these conditions, you are not getting the best. The source of a milk supply will easily determine its quality.

We invite you to inspect our Dairy. If you order from Post Road Farm you will get a rich, clean milk of fine flavor.

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

Wednesday morning, after a cool and comfortable night on the steamer, we arrived at the Thousand Islands and as the boat had lost some time during the night, we had a daylight ride through a portion of Islands before we reached Alexandria Bay where we were scheduled to stop for a day or two.

The district reminded me strongly of Lake Winnepesaukee but lacked, as a New Hampshire lady remarked, the environment of the mountains. It is said that there are more than 1700 Islands, but unless one takes a trip in the aeroplane, it is impossible to get a view of but a few of them at a time.

I have looked forward for many years to a visit to the Islands and must confess that I was somewhat disappointed in the view. It failed to impress me as I thought it should and when to the ordinary view, there was a sort of run down look to the cottages and residences on the Islands. I got the distinct impression that the place had gone to seed.

However we were splendidly entertained with motor trips about the river, with here and there an opportunity to touch the Canadian shore where near beer, said to be very poor, was sold to the thirsty for forty cents a small bottle.

The most prominent sight from Alexandria was the Boldt castle on Heart Island. Here a very wealthy man many years ago had started to erect a beautiful mansion for his wife, modelled something after a castle on the Rhine. Millions had been spent on it, when the wife died and work was immediately discontinued. For or fifteen or more years, the place had laid exactly as the workmen had left it. Visitors are admitted to the castle on the payment of a fifty cent charge to the keeper.

Our visit here was somewhat marred by a recent strike among the negro help at the hotel where we were quartered and surly looks and poor service were quite noticeable.

Every Wednesday evening every resident of the Thousand Islands regains gorgeously illuminates his buildings and grounds with electric lights of all colors. The waters are alive with motor craft carrying the required red and green signal lights as well as the white headlights. The sight seeing boats add searchlights to their equipment and an evening boat ride on Wednesday is an event to be long remembered. It is known as illumination night and is the biggest event of the week.

A very pretty custom prevails, also, for Sunday evening but we were not there to witness it. On that night instead of the colored lights in festoons, a cross is raised on each boat pole and in white light across the waters is thrown the sign of the cross.

Every island home here has a flag pole and Old Glory floats from the top on every pleasant day.

The American side is by far the most highly developed part of the Thousand Islands region. There are only a few homes on the Canadian Islands or main land and none of them compare in pretentiousness with those living the Stars and Stripes.

We had one business session at Alexandria Bay and disposed of considerable preliminary business, clearing the deck for the important work at Saratoga Springs.

Friday morning we left Alexandria Bay by boat to Clayton and thence by train to the little city of Malone in northern New York. Before reaching that city, however, we were met by a delegation of good friends from Malone, who presented all the ladies with water lilies and everybody on the train with some excellent ice cream, both of which were greatly appreciated.

Arriving at Malone we were taken in hand by a competent committee and reached hotel accommodations in rapid time.

Malone is the home of one of the best loved members of our Association, Mr. Charles M. Redfield, and our stop at that city was especially to honor him and his good wife.

Malone appreciated our Association as much as we appreciated "Poppy" Redfield and they gave us a royal good time. A drive around their neat little city with a visit to the Ballard Woolen mills where a souvenir in the shape of a tiny pair of trousers were given to ladies as well as to the male members of the party. We also visited the headquarters of the New York Constabulary, a body of men which is performing splendid service in many ways in that state.

After an excellent dinner at an excellent hotel, the Planagan House, there was a fine entertainment provided at the Masonic House, at which I had the pleasure of meeting once more, the well known actor, Maclyn Arbuckle, who went to school with me many years ago at the Bigelow School in Newton.

It is needless to say that with Arbuckle on the program with John O'Connor, one of the best dialect story tellers I have ever heard, we had a pleasant evening. Later there was dancing at the Elks Club and Mr. and Mrs. Redfield held open house until long after midnight. All in all it was a most enjoyable occasion.

Located in the north central portion of Franklin county, New York, Malone occupies a rectangular area about two miles long and a mile and a half in width. The village lies in a gently rolling country, giving excellent natural drainage and a topographical conformation lending itself admirably to the laying out of attractive streets and boulevards and the location of industrial enterprises, and homes in a most beautiful and healthful environment.

Approached by fine macadamized state and country highways, from all directions Malone is the logical stopping point for automobile tourists who contemplate trips through the Adirondacks and Northern New York. It is the gateway to Adirondack Park, America's variation land, a vast area of forest, mountains, lakes and streams, readily accessible by rail and highway to twenty million people in less than a day's journey.

During the rain last Friday an automobile owned and operated by Edward M. Prescott of Framingham, crashed into a hole at the corner of Washington street and Myrtle street. The touring car Prescott was driving was wrecked. Mrs. Prescott, who was riding in the front seat with her husband, was cut about the head and was taken to the office of City Physician Lowe. The accident occurred about 20 yards beyond the corner of Auburn street, where the street car tracks cross to the right hand side of Washington street. The headlights of an approaching automobile and the rain, blinded Prescott so that he did not see the turn in the road it was reported. Arthur B. Montgomery of Hyde Park, who was riding in the car was uninjured.

TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY

Claffin Guard Veterans Association Holds Its Annual Meeting and Banquet

The annual meetings and dinners of the Claffin Guard Veterans Association are always interesting and that held Wednesday evening at the Brae Burn Country Club was no exception to the rule.

At the annual meeting which preceded the banquet, Mr. Wendell W. Patten was elected president, Mr. Robert C. Bridgman, senior vice-president, Mr. Richard Cunningham, junior vice-president, Dr. A. R. Barrow, secretary, and Francis G. L. Henderson, treasurer.

President Lawrence Bond presided at the banquet and with him at the head table were seated Hon. Charles E. Hatfield, who was toastmaster, General Mark L. Hersey, commanding Coast Defenses of New England, Col. John F. Osborn, of the Engineering Corps, National Guard, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Assistant Attorney General Joseph E. Warner, Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure and Lieutenant Simon Foss, aide to General Hersey.

President Bond read the list of members who had died during the year and a silent toast was drunk, followed by "Taps" by the orchestra. The minutes in memory of Major Fred P. Barnes, for many years secretary of the Association, were also read.

Rev. Dr. MacLure offered prayer and the Secretary read letters from President Coolidge, who is an honorary member of the Association and Adjutant General J. P. Stevens.

Mayor Childs was introduced by Mr. and Hatfield as "Newton's Perpetual Mayor," and after reminding the Association that he had addressed them for 17 times, the Mayor paid an eloquent tribute to Major Barnes.

General Hersey, another honorary member of the Association, quoted liberally from Secretary of War, John W. Weeks, saying that the army might well be called the Department of Peace and that it would be a sad day for the country when we prefer a live coward to a dead hero.

Dr. MacLure did not believe a nation, nor an individual, had any right to allow a wild beast to destroy property or to injure men, women or children and declared that was the honorable task of the army. He declared that the battles for citizenship were still in progress and that the pacifist and the bolshevist were alive today and endeavoring to undermine the country.

Col. Osborn spoke of the reorganization of the National Guard and a brief account of the work of the Attorney General's office and Lieut. Foss and Hon. J. Weston Allen also spoke.

DEATH OF MRS. O'CONNOR

Mrs. Mary R. O'Connor, widow of Frederick A. O'Connor, died last Friday at her home, 44 Erie avenue, Newton Highlands, after a short illness. Mrs. O'Connor was born in Charlestown, June 22, 1842, and was the daughter of William Henry Swan and Mary Elizabeth (Bronson) Swan.

She lived in Charlestown until she was six years old, when her parents moved to Dorchester, where she attended the local schools. She married Mr. O'Connor July 6, 1865. Her husband was for many years in business in this city as an insurance agent. He died March 14, of the present year.

Mrs. O'Connor was well known in the community life of Newton Highlands, and during the World War was active in work for the relief of the Allied soldiers. She was a member of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, and was a charter member of the Monday Club of that place. Mrs. O'Connor is survived by four daughters, Miss Fannie L. O'Connor, Miss Bertha E. O'Connor, Miss Jennie B. O'Connor and Mrs. Mary B. Snodgrass of Detroit, and three brothers, Walter Swan of Dorchester, Joseph W. Swan of Ashmont and Allen W. Swan of New Bedford.

Services were held on Monday at her late residence, Rev. Dr. S. H. Woodrow, of the Congregational Church officiating, and the burial was in Newton Centre.

R. R. ACCIDENT.

Mark White, aged 50, colored, of 18 Lenox street, Boston, was struck by a Boston & Albany train Wednesday afternoon shortly before 1 o'clock, between the Riverside and Newton Lower Falls stations.

He was removed to the Newton Hospital in the Newton police ambulance.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Newton Local Council Girl Scouts, held its first meeting of the season at Camp Mary Day, on Thursday, October 4th. Plans for "Girl Scout Week" which is to be October 20th, through December 29th, were discussed and Miss Freeman gave a report of the service camp. Mrs. Frank A. Day, commissioner for the Newton Girl Scouts, presided. Those present were Mrs. George Angier, Mrs. C. D. Meserve, Mrs. Albert P. Carter, Miss Jeanne Kerriek, Mrs. Louise Newhall, Mrs. P. R. Ziegler, Mrs. F. S. Gourley, Mrs. Norman Bingham, Mrs. Francis Parsons, Mrs. Alfred Hanson and Mrs. Frank A. Shute. The Girl Scout Camp was a busy place on Saturday. Captain Ordway and a number of the girls from Troop 14, the Thompsonville troop, spent the day in camp. Besides having the good time the girls always have there, this group of girls passed most of their nature work.

Captain Collins with Lieutenants Moore and Coughlin and 37 Scouts from Troop 11, Newton Highlands troop, also spent the day at Camp. Saturday night and Sunday six officers from Troop 7, were the visitors. All but one of the 12 Troops in the city have started their regular weekly meetings and the winter's work is pretty well under way.

Troop 1, held its first meeting this week Tuesday, in the Parish House of St. John's Church, Newtonville. Troop 1, will meet on Tuesday afternoons this year. Troop 2, held its first meeting this week Monday, in the Y. M. C. A., Newton.

Troop 3, Seniors, met on Friday evening, last week for the first time this season. The Newton Centre Woman's Club has given the use of one of the rooms in the Club House to the Troop for its meetings, and the girls are very happy about it. Miss Isobel Skepwith will be Captain of Troop 3, Seniors, this year and Miss Margaret Gould, Lieutenant. Over 400 guests availed themselves of the opportunity to visit Camp Mary Day, on "Fathers and Mothers Day" last Fall.

It proved so successful that it will be repeated this Fall, Sunday afternoon, October 21st, is the day set. Particulars will be printed in next weeks paper.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The cherry blossoms, Japanese umbrellas, lanterns, and flags, all suggested that Wednesday afternoon was the first meeting to study the new book, "Creative Forces in Japan." At the door, Mrs. Donald Hill and Mrs. E. T. Campbell received in Japanese costumes. While the members were assembling, Mrs. Payson Allen played a piano solo.

During the year Mrs. M. H. Litcher will conduct the devotions, taking as her theme, "Roadside Altars." The "Stones of Bethel" was her subject and from the story of Jacob's dream she drew the lesson of aspiration. Spiritual revelation follows spiritual longing.

Mrs. C. W. Coleman, leader of the meetings, expressed her appreciation in being sent as a delegate to the Northfield Conference. Her impressions were given in a most interesting manner. She referred to the natural beauty of Northfield which contributes towards the serenity of spirit felt in that centre of inspiration. The devotional services held in the morning were so largely attended that some people took their breakfasts in the auditorium so as to secure seats. The positive message of faith in the Living God was emphasized. Our youth, inclined to skepticism, need help in their problems. To present the subject of Japan in a vital way, suggestions of various sorts were given; questions which set the mind to work, pageants to instruct and inspire.

Mrs. Colman spoke of the 700 young women whose presence brought enthusiasm and hope, whose change of mood from grave to gay was so refreshing. Concluding she referred to the Lincoln Highway and the beauty many of the states contributed by planting choice trees along that part of the road which lies in their district. "What are we doing," she asked, "to make beautiful our portion of the Highway of our God?"

An intimate glimpse of the Japanese people was the subject discussed by Group I. Mrs. D. E. Baker gave an illuminating map talk. Mrs. Edwin P. Crave followed with an account of the characteristics of the people. They are energetic, always at work, practical, and eager to learn. The Japanese discovered the yellow fever bacilli. Though imitators, they reproduce the ancient models and add an inimitable touch which stamps their work as art. Whatever they may

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Handicapped by the loss early in the first period of Walter MacQuiston their capable quarterback, the Newton team under the leadership of "Gyp" Lawless played an improved game, but went down into defeat at the hands of Cushing Academy to the score of 7 to 0 at Claffin Field, Newtonville, last Friday.

The game opened by Captain "Ned" Dewing booting the ball to the Cushing right-half-back on his own 10 yard line. Aided by fine interference Arnold succeeded in running the ball back to the thirty yard line. A run at left end gained five yards, a plunge through centre was thrown for a loss, and Cushing punted to MacQuiston who was downed almost in his tracks, and injuring his ankle so that he had to leave the game.

Lawless, who went in the place of MacQuiston, ran a couple of line bucks, and then punted to Cushing. The rest of the period was a punting battle, both teams being content to trust in their punters and wait for the breaks. The first break came at the end of the first period, when Arnold of Cushing fumbled a punt, and Oakes as usual recovered. For the first time in the game, Newton was in a position to show their offensive power, but a 15 yard penalty for holding, and a bad pass from the centre which Lawless recovered on the two yard line left Newton with 3rd down—54 yards to go. Lawless punted to Conway who was downed in his tracks by Parker. Two end runs netted three yards, Sutcliffe intercepted a forward pass, and ran the ball back 20 yards. Newton could not gain, and for the rest of the

DOUBLE FUNERAL SERVICE

Elliot Church Completely Filled with Mourners for Rev. Dr. and Mrs. H. Grant Person

Elliot Church was filled to capacity Sunday afternoon, at the funeral services for the former pastor, Rev. Dr. H. Grant Person and Mrs. Person who were killed in an automobile accident near Nice, France, on August 20th.

The bodies arrived at New York Saturday, on the steamship Providence and were forwarded on the mid-night train to Boston, where they were received at the South Station by Mr. Louis D. Gibbs, chairman of the parish committee, having charge of the funerals.

In the church the caskets were placed on a rostrum and were almost concealed by hundreds of floral tributes, conspicuous among which was a large wreath of magnolia leaves and palms from President Coolidge for Dr. Person, and a wreath of pink roses and white carnations from Mrs. Coolidge for Mrs. Person. The Coolidges met and became close friends of Dr. and Mrs. Person while Mr. Frank W. Stearns was a member of the church.

Among other floral tributes were those of Dr. and Mrs. Person's sons, Carleton and Robert, both now recovering in a hospital in France from injuries received in the accident in which their parents were killed.

The flowers were arranged in the church by deaconesses under direction of Mrs. Goldwin S. Sprague.

The services included the organ prelude, Guilmant's funeral march and song of the Seraphs, by the church organist, Mr. Everett E. Truette, the invocation was by Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church, and the senior pastor in the Newton Corner Churches, followed by the chanting of the Lord's Prayer by the church choir. The choir also sang "In Heavenly Love Abiding" after which Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First Church, Newton Centre, the senior pastor in the city, read selections from the Scriptures. The church quartet then sang "Still, Still with Thee" a favorite hymn of Dr. Person's and Rev. Dr. George S. Butters of ferred prayer to which the choir sang "Sleep Thou Still" as a response. This was followed by an organ meditation with chimes by Mr. Truette and a congregational hymn, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" also a favorite of Dr. Person's. The address was by Rev. Dr. William R. Campbell, one of Dr. Person's intimate friends with the benediction by Rev. Dr. Wolcott Calkins, pastor emeritus of Elliot Church.

The services which otherwise would have been most impressive were marred by the length of time taken, fully two hours being required, also by the ill advised request that the large congregation pass by the flower covered caskets in front of the pulpit.

The ushers included Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Judge William F. Bacon, Walter H. Barker, Atherton Clark Nathan Heard, George Lincoln Parker, Edmund I. Leeds, Arthur Kendrick, Benjamin S. Hinckley and Harry W. Pitts.

After the services the bodies were taken to Saratoga Springs, N. Y., for burial in Green Ridge Cemetery, and were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, as representatives of the church.

TO DR. AND MRS. PERSON

O loved ones lying here so calm and still,
We gaze upon thee, and wonder when His will Shall call us, too, to leave our mortal clay
And all below, and start upon the way
No traveller knoweth, and none can tell Except, that where God dwelleth, all is well.

Beloved pastor, while thou wert here below,
Thou didst guide thy people, show them where to go.
Thy words were ever manly, kind and true,

N. H. S. FOOTBALL

half the ball seceded back and forth across the middle of the field.

The second half was a repetition of the first until Cushing had the ball in the middle of the field and by skin tackle plays and end runs made three first downs. The Newton defense tightened, and Conway missed a drop kick from the 24 yard line.

The ball was brought out, Newton punted out of danger, but Cushing started the march up the field again aided by Conway who ran the punt back 25 yards. A criss cross netted 10 yards, the Newton line held the Cushing backs three times, and then a forward pass Conway to Mucke gave Cushing first down on our 20 yard stripe. Once more the line held, and once more a forward pass Conway to Mucke was completed. Three rushes and Connors went across for the only touchdown of the game. Conway kicked the goal.

The defensive play of "Al" King together with the line work of Littlefield and Kivorkian were the bright spots of the Newton team while Conway, Connors, Mucke and Last men starred for the visitors.

This week's game showed a marked improvement over that of a week ago. The line showed more drive on the offense, held better on the defense, while the backs carried the ball better. Still the Newton offense has yet to find itself.

Followers of the team will be glad to learn that MacQuiston's ankle is not fractured, and that he will probably be able to play against Everett on Columbus Day.

On account of the new Suburban League ruling, Coach Dickinson is rather handicapped for veteran backs as O'Donnell and Esty will not be able to play until November 10th. "Frenchie" Gilligan and "Cupid" Carver are beginning to show up well in the line.

ARRANGING FOR BALL

A meeting of the committees for the fourth annual armistice night ball of Newton Post 48, A. L., was held Monday evening in Legion Hall, West Newton. Prizes will be given to lucky ticket holders and arrangements are being made for either a prize dance or a beauty contest. Julius Ramm is chairman of the general committee. Thomas Franey and Frank Gaw are in charge of the ball. The committee on printing is headed by Thomas McBride, assisted by Frank Gaw and John E. Hackett. On the reception committee are William Green, A. J. Somes, Frank Cook, James Sawyer, Edward White, William Gannon. The refreshments will be in charge of the auxiliary, headed by Miss Mary Curley.

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The question often arises whether the Y. M. C. A. is truly a young men's organization. The recent survey shows that more than 70% of the members of the Young Men's Christian Association in the cities of this country are less than thirty years of age. Forty-two per cent of the entire membership of the United States and Canada is between the ages of 18 and 29. In Newton the average age of men living in the dormitory is less than 25 years. All these figures show that the Y. M. C. A. is still a young men's organization.

The bowling tournament started off with eight teams last Monday evening. New equipment has been added and the alleys are in first class condition. Everything seems favorable for a fine tournament.

The gymnasium classes are now in full swing for men and boys of all ages. You can enroll anytime.

LODGES

An Odd Fellows Building Association of Newton, has been formed by Waban and Newton Lodges, Garden City Encampment, Sumner P. Lawrence and Tennyson Rebekah Lodges, I. O. O. F. It is the purpose of the Association to build or purchase a building in Newtonville, for the Odd Fellows of Newton. The first step in this direction is an Odd Fellows Bazaar to be held in Odd Fellows Hall, Newtonville, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 1-2-3.

There will be 20 booths for distribution of Fruit, Vegetables, Candy, canned goods home cooked food, fancy work, etc. Among the many things to be given away will be a Hope Chest filled with many useful articles.

In one of the boxes of chocolates which are now being sold will be found an up to date 1924 Ford Touring Car.

The Odd Fellows are sadly in need of suitable quarters to take care of the members as the membership is increasing rapidly. It is their desire to have a building that will be a Credit to Odd Fellowship and to the City of Newton.

It is a most worthy cause and every one should give support to an organization with such worthy objects caring for the sick burying the dead and educating the orphan and love for fellow men.

Have you ever set in a restaurant and compared your job with that of a waiter? Try it some time. No matter what your work is, I am sure you will see the point if you watch the waiter and think how exactly his job typifies yours. An editor's job is exactly like that of a waiter. He has to go and get something good and bring it in. And after he has brought it in he has to go right out and get something more and bring that in. The minute he sits down or stops to talk unnecessarily with the guest he ceases to give as good service as before. Then the guests who praised him a moment ago begin to growl. And so almost immediately he has turned from a good servant into a poor one. By John M. Siddall, American Magazine.

EDITORIAL

We hope the women voters and the women's clubs of this city will not assist in any attempt to file an initiative petition in the next Legislature for any object, however worthy. Such a petition must be either accepted or rejected in toto by the Legislature, and perfecting amendments, no matter how desirable, cannot be made even if the proponents themselves are willing or desirous of having them made. Good legislation is always the result of thorough consideration and wise compromise, neither of which are possible under the arbitrary form of an initiative petition.

We were inadvertently a trifle premature in our headlines and editorial of last week in regard to the membership campaign of the Newton Chamber of Commerce. The 5000 membership we gave them last week is still something for the Chamber to aim for and the 2000 they actually have is still a matter of congratulation.

A gathering of representative men and women of Newton which completely filled the spacious Elliot church, is in itself a fine tribute to the love and regard with which Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Person were held in this community.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

feel they turn a cheerful face to the world and train their children by laughing their them rather than by reproof.

The picture of Japanese gardens given by Mrs. J. M. Andreas was delightful. The irregular, storm bent trees they prefer, and they value the subtle beauty of the lotus more highly than the brilliancy of the rose. Their gardens are unique. An Englishman tried an imitation and was told by a Japanese: "Your garden is beautiful. We have nothing like it in Japan." The following is an instance of their poetic imagination. "If thou be born in a poor man's hovel and have wisdom, thou art like the lotus which grows out of the slime."

"Their family life is the finest in any non-Christian land," said Mrs. Brewer Eddy. "Their children are taught helpfulness and can transplant skillfully. Woman is humble and looks on her husband as if he were heaven itself."

Mrs. Wallace Boyden told of the changes going on in Japan, the blending of European and Asiatic in their homes. The kimono is losing favor as it is expensive and not hygienic. Some brides have 100. All must have three: white as a symbol of death to the old life; red for youth; and black for chastity.

The tea was in charge of Mrs. Raymond D. Hunting. Mrs. W. W. Leete and Mrs. Mary B. Lyon poured. There was a large attendance.

BAD FIRE

Damage, estimated at $5000 was caused to the plant of the General Fireproofing Corporation, 197 Webster street, West Newton, about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, by fire, which was discovered in a one-story wooden store-house. An alarm was sounded from box 351, and by the time the firemen arrived the store-house was a mass of flames.

Shortly after the arrival of the firemen the flames spread to another storehouse of like structure. The flames illuminated the sky for miles around and attracted a large crowd to the vicinity. After a stubborn battle the firemen extinguished the flames. The cause of the fire is unknown.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S JEWELS

By NELLIE LOUISE OSGOOD

Dame Hampshire above her sisters blessed, Wears a gorgeous jewel on her breast,
As it sparkles and glitters 'neath summer skies.

A sapphire of lustrous blue it lies
In a mountain chain of turquoise blue
Which at sunset turns an amethyst hue.

Her emeralds are the forests green,
Her jade, the fields of silken sheen.
Her onyx, pools where shadows creep,
Blue agates, pools where lilies sleep.
Her bangle bracelets, the brooklets are.

Their silver tinkle heard afar,
Her necklace, rivers, studded bold,
With silver trout all sleeked with gold.
When Springtime decks the leafy bowers

Her earrings are enamel flowers,
And petals frail, the blossoms bring Pink coral settings for a ring
Each summer day, a precious gem.
She scatters freely all of them,
At sunset lost, at sunrise found.

With golden sunbeams each is bound,
Then Autumn comes to crown her head
With garnets, topaz, rubies red.
King Winter sends a fairy band
For Ladies of Waiting, at her demand.
They changed her robe or silky green.
Her ermine dons with queenly mien.
Her bracelets, now, bound close and tight.

Have ceased their tinkle, day and night
Her sapphire, blue, a pearl is now,
And diamonds sparkle on her brow.
A diadem of Mountains White
Which glow at dawn with opals light
At sunset pink with rubies tint
At midnight, jet, with sombre glint,
But when the moon sends silver streams.

A crown of moonstones softly gleams,
Her pearls change with wondrous care
These jewels in her powdered hair.

Milady Hampshire, grand and sweet,
We bow and worship at your feet,
Through Summer, Winter, Spring and Fall
We pay you homage, one and all.

Advice Always Helpful.

The man who refuses advice cannot be helped. He is the know-it-all who is so sufficient unto himself that he will not accept any assistance except that he may choose and direct. He has little use for others and others for him.—E. S. Change.

STUDY MAN-MADE LIGHTNING

Engineers Confident That Experiments Going On Will Prove to Be Successful.

Two-million-volt artificial lightning is being created in the research laboratories of the General Electric company, Pittsfield, Mass., in order that buildings and high power electrical transmission lines may be protected against the powerful "electrical dynamite" that nature discharges during storms, reports the Kansas City Star.

F. W. Peer, Jr., engineer in charge of the spectacular experiments now in progress, explains that in addition to the trouble that engineers have in keeping power current from escaping from the conductors there is the very important problem of lightning protection. A few million horsepower are released in a fraction of a millionth of a second when lightning strikes. Electrical engineers must know how to prevent this destructive force from reaching the conductors of power lines or they must arrange so that it will discharge harmlessly to the ground when it does get to the line.

The highest voltage actually used at the present time for the commercial transmission of power is 220,000 volts on a line in California, but the General Electric company has an experimental million-volt line. Mr. Peer declared that it is too early to say whether such high voltages will ever be acquired in practice.

RETORT WAS RATHER GOOD

Evidently There Were Humorists in the Missouri Legislature of the Year 1887.

W. O. L. Jewett of the Shelbina Democrat tells an incident in the legislature of 1887, in which Mark Twain figured.

"Henry Newman, representing Randolph county, was the wit of the house, and was trying to secure the passage of a bill to amend the stock law. This, Robert Bodine, representing Monroe county, was opposing. Mr. Newman said in his humorous style:

"I was in the gentleman's county once. I made a speech at a big picnic in Florida, and I thought I made a good one. In it I referred to the fact that we were close to the place where Mark Twain was born. After I was through, one of the gentleman's constituents, a tall, raw-boned long-haired, unkempt individual, came up, and shaking his finger in my face said: 'What liars you politicians are. I have lived here high onto fifty years and there was nary a man named Twain about here.'"

"The gentleman from Monroe county immediately was on his feet to reply: 'Mr. Speaker, I want it distinctly understood that when the gentleman from Randolph was in Monroe county it was before the enactment of any stock law.'"—Kansas City Star.

Not Prepared.

The old deacon was the kindest of men, deeply religious and always ready with a good word. One day while he was driving to town he overtook an Italian peddler with a large pack on his back. Stopping his horse, the deacon suggested that the man ride. The Italian carefully stored his pack in the back of the spring wagon and then climbed to the seat beside the good deacon.

For some time the two talked pleasantly. Then there was a rather long pause, and, thinking to improve the occasion in a religious sense, the deacon turned and asked, "My friend, are you prepared to die?"

With a shriek the Italian sprang to the ground and disappeared into the nearby woods. The calls of the deacon only hastened the fellow's flight, and neither the deacon nor any one else ever saw him again in that neighborhood. It seems that the peddler was not prepared.

Sentiment and Sense.

It was evening by the sea and the poetess walked with the professor along the margin of the ocean. "Don't you love to see the phosphorescence on the waves?" she said. "What can it be, I wonder? Is it the mermaids lighting up their lamps, or the glow from the sea fairies' ballroom? Or can it be the reflection of golden treasure stored in the vasty caverns of the deep?"

"I think not, madam," said the professor. "It is only quite recently that the discovery of luminous bacilli has rendered possible any general explanation of the phenomenon, and even yet its wide applicability remains to be proved. It is, however, generally attributed to the decaying organic substances of diseased fish."—Boston Herald.

She Had it Right.

Two Irishmen had visited St. Paul's cathedral. One was from the country and had been taken to the famous building by his friend, who wished him to be duly impressed by its grandeur.

As they came out, the resident of the city said: "Well, Mike, and phwat do you think of it? Isn't it grand?" "Pat," said the one from the country, "it bates the devil!" "That," said his friend, "was the intention."

Every Day is Sabbath Day.

Every day is Sabbath somewhere in the world. The Greeks observe Monday; the Russians Tuesday; the Assyrians Wednesday; the Egyptians Thursday; the Turks Friday; the Jewish people Saturday, and the Christians Sunday.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

Our fellow townsman of Whiting's Column told us the other day of his sight of the mountains from the west side. The wind was coming from the northwest and he apparently had the advantage over the Club Editor. But she recalls being upon that selfsame hill in Whitefield many years ago in early May, when the whole Presidential Range was a crystal radiance and the foreground the most wonderful assemblage of greens that one could possibly imagine—the tender green of the birches and maples, the gray green of the poplars, and the deep, deep greens of the spruces and firs. An attempt to describe that scene was the Club Editor's first bit of journalistic effort. Please, Mr. Whiting, go up there next May yourself and tell us about it in your own inimitable way. Speaking of the birches recalls a story that was at one time current in the mountains of the woman who asked the stage driver, "What makes the trunks of the trees so white?" "We whitewash them every spring," was his ready response.

Tea will be served. The club has purchased a lot on Chestnut street, between Washington street and the Boston and Albany railroad, where in the course of time the Memorial Library will be erected.

Local Happenings

The "Get-together Meeting" of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday last was a great success. Various club members kindly furnished motor cars and drove the ladies to Concord, where a picnic luncheon was enjoyed on the shore of Lake Walden. After the luncheon an excellent paper by Mrs. Percival Waters was read, giving some interesting facts regarding the history of Walden, and the life and work of Henry David Thoreau, who built a hut in these woods in 1845 and lived there the life of a hermit for two years, during which time he wrote his well-known book, "Walden" and other works. Mrs. Bernard Early gave a report of the State Federation meeting at Swampscott in the form of an original poem, which was both witty and clever. A beautiful cluster of chrysanthemums was presented to the new president, Mrs. McDonald, with cards attached bearing the names and good wishes of the members. The afternoon was spent in visiting various historical places in Concord, among them the Battle Ground, the Old Manse (where Hawthorne spent the early part of his married life and wrote "Mosses from an Old Manse") Wright Tavern, Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, Concord School of Philosophy, the Alcott House, and Hawthorne's home. Mrs. Percival Waters had entire charge of the affair, and great credit is due her for her efficient and admirable arrangements. The outing was not only a pleasant change from the ordinary routine of club meetings, but proved profitable from an educational standpoint as well.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Education Club met for the first time this season on Monday at the home of the leader, Mrs. Justin D. Starkie, 131 High street, Newton Upper Falls. The study of Norway was begun with a paper by Mrs. Charles E. Quinn giving a general description of the country, the Ice Age, glaciers and fjords. Mrs. Warren D. Provost followed with an excellent account of the early settlers and the story of the Vikings. A social half hour followed, with dainty refreshments served by the hostess.

The Auburndale Woman's Club made a most auspicious beginning of its duties and activities for the coming year at its opening meeting on Tuesday, October 9. A letter from the president of the General Federation, Mrs. Thomas G. Wheeler first gave greeting to all club members. Next Mrs. Fisher, chairman of the Education committee, told of just cause for pride in the awarding of the club's scholarship to Miss Dorothea Kellar of Rowe street, valedictorian of last year's graduating class at the Newton High School. Then Mrs. Wallace P. Hood of Danvers, third vice-president of the State Federation, told of the great value of the club's new committee of Public Health and Volunteer Service, making each one feel how important to community life is everyone's list of helpfulness. The entertainment of the afternoon was in charge of the Music committee, Mrs. Thomas Brown, chairman, and consisted of delightful instrumental numbers by Miss Phinney's Philharmonic.

F. A. Day Junior High School

The French Club was organized a few weeks ago under the supervision of Mrs. Grenier. This year there are to be three grades in the club, the seventh, eighth and ninth. Each individual member is working hard to make the French Club a success.

VIII D had the largest number of A's in the mathematics examination. This division also had no tardy marks so far this year.

The week of October 8, is the last week in this marking period. Report cards are to be given out Friday, October 19.

The boys of IX C have joined the Athletic Association 100%. IX C is also 100% for the Dayntonian and the Girls' Athletic Association.

The stenell design for the curtains in the lunch room was made by Olive Hayden who was in the ninth grade last year. The stenelling was done by Martha Waybright, Anna Richardson, and Bernice Alexander, all members of the present ninth grade.

Each room is to select a reporter for the Dayntonian whose duty it is to collect news from his home room and hand it to one of the local editors before each of the issues. The local editors are Marjorie Bolster, Elizabeth Clark, and Richard Patey.

The Friday program has been changed in order that Mr. Griffin may have all the ninth grade music at the same time and meet with the orchestra the first period instead of after school.

STEARNS SCHOOL

The enrollment for the district is 764. There are now three classes of each grade from the first through the sixth. The highest per cent in attendance for the first four weeks of school were won by Miss Stewart, grade two 99.6%; Miss Lovely, grade four 98.2%; Misses Swann, Sears and Walker, grades five and four 97.8% each.

The fourth grade children have taken their annual geography trip through the Newtons this week. On Monday afternoon, sixty children took the trip with Miss Walker as guide. Conveyances were furnished by Mr. Joseph Vassalotti, Mr. Alcide Vachon and Mr. Charles Thomas. On Wednesday afternoon, seventy children saw Newton from cars furnished through the courtesy of Miss Bragg, the assistant superintendent. Stops were made at Lower Falls, Echo Bridge, Waban Hill and Elliot Memorial. Miss Edna Parker of grade six, has returned from a trip to the Pacific coast. She was a member of the Appalachian Club party and had four weeks' camping in the Canadian Rockies, going later to Alaska and Yellowstone Park.

Last Thursday, Mrs. Kidder of grade five, gave a talk to the fifth grade teachers of Cambridge, in the Children's Museum, on projects in geography. To illustrate, projects on lumbering and sheep raising, which were made by Stearns School children last year, were exhibited. In return Miss Tucker, of Cambridge, has promised to give an illustrated talk on mining to the Stearns School children at some near date.

Burr School

Miss Esma Brown is assisting in the first grade this year.

There are forty-eight children enrolled in grade I.

Grade IV, enjoyed the "seeing Newton" Geography trip on Tuesday morning. Many of the parents co-operated in loaning their automobiles for the expedition.

Miss Adams, third-grade teacher, was the guest of the fourth grade on this trip as the third grade will study about Newton in the spring.

Grade V, is very enthusiastic this fall over Health Work. Already a number of attractive, as well as in instructive posters have been made by the public illustrating what milk will do.

The boys of the seventh grade have been utilizing pieces of broken slate and sticks to make weapons typical of the early ages.

Not one child in the Burr kindergarten was tardy during the first four weeks of school.

Boys of the seventh and eighth grades won last Friday in a football contest with the Hyde School. The score was 13 to 0. Erling Bearsto ran 75 yards for a touchdown on an intercepted forward pass. Another touchdown was made by Clifton Hamilton. William Ryan made a run of 35 yards on an intercepted forward pass, falling however to get a touchdown. The boys on the Burr team were: Merton Howard, acting as captain; Arthur Wilson, William Ryan, Francis Foley, Willard White, Erling Bearsto, Clifton Hamilton, Joseph Hennessey, Richard Reynolds, Harold Jones, and Edward Gleason. The Burr expects to play the Angier School, next week.

One day a bright eyed boy from the second grade came into the class room of a seventh grade and said, "We have nineteen drinker. Does that beat you?" Each week the orders are increasing in number and some children, whose parents prefer them to do so, bring a bottle from home. That the boys and girls are enjoying their mid-morning lunch is evidenced by the fact that 56% of the pupils drink milk at that time.

The science department arranged a visit to the Auburndale Fire House as the opening feature of the Fire-Prevention Week Campaign. Four classes made a tour of inspection which was followed by a demonstration of apparatus and modern devices and an instructive talk on fire prevention by Lieut. Davis and his assistants. We appreciate this opportunity of taking the boys and girls, the future citizens to observe directly the working of the city departments.

The Kindergarten Children have been taking their usual autumn expeditions to the woods to collect autumn leaves, nuts, etc., to be used in the daily program.

Much interest is shown this year in the milk lunches. For two weeks the orders in the Kindergarten have been 100%.

Williams School

Last June the Williams Kindergarten children brought pictures from home, and made fifteen scrap books which were sent to the Floating Hospital. A letter of thanks and appreciation was received from Mr. Briggs, the manager.

A Health Calendar is being made by the Williams Kindergarten children. Each month features some phase of health work. Books of pictures brought by the children are being made to illustrate all the points emphasized by the calendar.

Each Friday at the Williams School the first grade and kindergarten children are enjoying work together for a short period.

The second grade made their first visit to the kindergarten last week and enjoyed the singing with the first grade and kindergarten children. This getting together for songs and exchanges of interests will occur on the last Friday of each month.

The third grade is proudly boasting that each child is having milk. An October health calendar shows how each day they grow healthier and happier.

The Fourth Grade took their Geography ride about the city Wednesday afternoon. Automobiles were kindly furnished by parents and friends.

The Fifth Grade are competing by rows for one hundred per cent in arithmetic for the month.

Grade six are taking imaginary trips, in groups, into Canada, in order to study the important industries there, children, acting as agents, are appointed to arrange these trips.

In connection with the study of "The Passing of the Wild West," the pupils of grade six were collecting articles and pictures relating to Indian life. There were no tardiness during the first four weeks of school in Mrs. Doehler's fifth grade. We are proud of that class.

Mason School

The first game of Mason football was played with the Stearns team at Stearns playground.

Through the oversight of some one, the Stearns grade team did not know there was to be a game. But a team of some Junior High boys was made up, and won the game over the Masons, 18-0.

The Masons have already put in some time on practice and hope to win in the future.

The eighth grades were glad to see Miss Turner, the teacher in calisthenics. The class in corrective exercises for round shouldered boys and girls will have extra time.

Horace Mann School

A most interesting feature of the geography work accomplished at the Horace Mann School was the trip taken by the two fourth grades, Tuesday, October 2. The kind co-operation of many parents made it possible for an enthusiastic group to visit in automobiles many historical places in Newton. The day being exceedingly clear they had a distinct view of Boston and the harbor from the reservoir. They were accompanied by Mrs. Adams, Miss Chasson and Miss Tewksbury. The pleasant and instructive ride was much appreciated and quite successful.

There were 23 children enrolled in the school during the first four weeks and the per cent of attendance for that time was 96.7. The highest record was obtained by Miss Teele's sixth grade, they having 99.1 per cent of attendance. Miss Larrabee's fifth grade has no case of tardiness as yet.

The children are responding fairly well in the taking of milk. The first week it was offered them, about 50 per cent ordered it. Last week it increased to 65 per cent. The leading class was Miss Baker's second grade having 82 per cent of the class drinking milk.

Nearly every day there are stamp cards sent to the savings bank and many children are proud possessors of bank books. The amount of money transferred to the bank through the school totaled $95.59, last Friday.

This beginning encourages us to expect increasing effort for higher results in the school in the near future.

N. H. S.

After three scoreless periods in which the pigskin was kept in the center of the field, Newton High School 2d team defeated Watertown High School 2d team on the High School field Wednesday afternoon, 10 to 0.

The first score of the game came on an intercepted forward pass by C. Stearn on Watertown's 30 yard line, who ran for a touchdown. Anders kicked the goal. Later Anders booted one over the crossbar from the 35-yard line for three more points.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

On Thursday morning the grammar grades were assembled in the Hall to observe Columbus Day. Each class contributed one selection upon the character, the life, or the service of the Great Navigator.

At the Assembly on Oct. 1, John Burns entertained with a well-rendered violin solo. He was accompanied by Mildred Stuart at the piano. The Emerson School football team is organized and is practicing on the playgrounds. Norman Payne is captain and Gerald Theriault manager.

The fourth grades, taught by Miss Chase and Miss Anderson, are taking geography walks in this neighborhood.

Miss Horgan's class made a "gold star" record of 100 per cent in attendance for the week ending September 28.

Mrs. Burrett of Cambridge is in charge of grade six in place of Miss Fisher who has gone to the F. A. Day Junior High School.

The attendance for the school for the period ending October 5th, was 96.4. The highest class record was that of Miss Horgan's class with 98.6. There was a total of 31 marks for tardiness. Five classes had none.

Where He Slips Up.

Many a man who is the architect of his own fortune falls down on the plane and specifications.

AMAZED AT YANKEE TEETH

French Farmers Marvelled at the Sight of Doughboys Seemingly Enjoying Cow Fodder.

The French looker is sometimes an old soldier, but oftener is some black-clad woman who took up her husband's duties when he was called to the front, and who (for he never came back) will continue them until her little Francois is grown up—or, as she sometimes sadly puts it, "Until he comes back safe, as I hope, from the next war, m'sieu."

For five more days we paddled along the 100-kilometer stretch of stream that unfurls itself ribbonlike among rolling, windmill-topped slopes between Redon and Nantes, writes Melville Chater in the National Geographic Magazine.

We found that the countryside still fondly recalled the passage of American troops in 1918—how they had swum in the canal and had given the children little packets of chewing gum and had strangely delighted in consuming cow fodder.

This last detail was related to us by a farmer, who added: "Most vigorous young men those, m'sieu. Wonderful teeth, wonderful stomachs. How they could even digest that stuff was the wonder of the countryside." And he pointed to one of those fine fields of Indian corn which in France are cultivated exclusively as cattle food.

"Why, that's easy," we confided; "all Americans eat that." And we described the manner of preparing and dispatching an ear of corn. Suddenly a light broke on the listener's face: "Ah," he exclaimed, "I understand. Then one doesn't eat it, cob and all, like the cow; one just picks at it as if it were an artichoke, n'est-ce pas?"

FREEZE OUT INSECT PESTS

Method Is More Economical Than Gas, Says an Expert on the Subject.

The usual procedure, when flour mills become infested with the Mediterranean moth, the larvae of which get into the flour, is to close the mill tightly and "gas" the insects. Last winter a mill at Williston, N. D., however, requested the local weather bureau office to notify the company whenever a temperature of 20 degrees or lower for at least several hours could be anticipated. As soon as weather sufficiently cold was forecast, the company put out all fires and opened doors and windows. That night the temperature reached 30 degrees Fahrenheit, and did not go above 17 degrees Fahrenheit the next day. According to the report of the company to the United States Department of Agriculture, through the weather bureau, all moths and most of the eggs were frozen, and the process will not have to be repeated for at least two years. Many dollars' worth of chemical insecticides which would have been necessary for "gassing" were saved.

Once More Extended.

It is certain that the limits of Lake Erie and Lake Michigan were once more extended than now. It is reasonably probable, say students of the subject, that some of the territory now drained by the Wabash and Illinois rivers was once covered by the waters of Lake Michigan. The cisco of Lake Tippecanoe, Lake Geneva, and the lakes of the Oconomowoc chain is evidently a modified descendant of the so-called lake herring. Its origin most likely dates from the time when these small deep lakes of Indiana and Wisconsin were connected with Lake Michigan. Several of the larger fishes, properly characteristic of the Great Lakes region, are occasionally taken in the Ohio river.

Confirmed Bachelor Shad.

The shad in the Farmington river in Connecticut are all bachelors, in the opinion of the fish and game commission of that state. Effort has been made for some time to obtain shad eggs for experimental purposes, and the constant report from one of the best fishing grounds was that only bachelors were obtainable. Then the superintendent of fisheries decided to do some fishing himself. He had a force of men spread nets and when they were drawn in, all the shad were bachelors. Once more the net was spread and drawn in, this time with but little more success, one female, or roe shad, being caught.

Papyrus Trees of Ancient Egypt.

The tree from which the ancient Egyptians obtained their papyrus flourished in the lowlands along the Nile river. It grew to a height of about ten feet, and seems to have been known only in Egypt. The paper obtained from it was formed from a sort of inner bark, which consisted of thin sheets growing around the wood. Various colored liquids were used for ink; these were usually black, but sometimes red or green. A species of lamp-black, or ivory-black, similar to that used in painting in modern times, was employed to make the black ink sometimes.

Eskimos Have Strongest Teeth.

Less than two Eskimos out of 100 have any signs of tooth decay. Chewing coarse frozen food keeps their glands active and their teeth safe. One of the domestic duties of the women is the chewing of thick walrus hide to make it pliable enough for the men to work it into shoe soles.

Today the soft-cooked foods of the civilized nations have allowed the glands to slow down. As a consequence 98 people out of 100 have decayed teeth.

CENTRAL CLUB

The Central Club were hosts last Monday evening, for all the Men's Clubs of Newtonville, women guests being also present, and the company that assembled filled the chapel of Central Church.

Mr. Charles H. Mergendahl, the president, presided, and vocal selections were given in a very pleasing manner by three members of the church choir, Mrs. Alice P. Gilbert, Miss Mary H. Jacobs, and Mr. Alfred A. Grubb. Miss Lillian West was accompanist.

Prof. C. Edmund Neil of Boston University then read the noted play, "The Henrietta," a satire on Wall street methods. Prof. Neil showed remarkable skill in characterization and gave each one of the characters a distinctive mannerism, so it was evident who was speaking from the first words uttered. The story was forcefully presented and the attention of the audience was held throughout. The evening closed with social hour and serving of refreshments in the dining room.

BETTER MUSIC QUICKLY MASTERED ON THE GULBRANSEN

Listen to the playing of a Gulbransen. Compare it with the average hand playing a cheap piano. Gulbransen playing is infinitely more expressive, more artistic. This is a broad statement, but it is true; and important because it points the way for you to play with your own individuality and expression, but without long and tedious study. Remember these facts: First, the Gulbransen is easy to play; second, you do the playing just as you would play any instrument; third, it is the only player-piano with instruction rolls. White House Model, $780. Country Seat Model, $800. Suburban Model, $495. Community Model, $420. Used Players, $250 up; very reasonable terms. Victrolas and Pianos taken in exchange. See us. ## POLICE SERGEANT HURT

About 6 o'clock Monday evening, a Middlesex & Boston street railway car, bound from Newton for Framingham and crowded with passengers, jumped the track on Washington street, Auburndale, in front of the Woodland Golf Club, and, after zig-zagging along the street, swerved blocking traffic in both directions. None of the passengers was hurt. Sgt. Joseph H. Seaver of the Newton police made enough room at one side of the road for traffic to move. As he was directing traffic, an automobile owned and operated by Joseph Geraughty of Dalby street, Nonantum, struck him, straining his left arm and inflicting cuts and bruises. He was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

STAND TORTURE FOR BEAUTY

Many Paris Women Think Nothing of Having Their Noses Broken and Reset.

Parisienne are going to such lengths to achieve beauty as quite to put in the shade the painful operation of "dimpling" (making a hole in the chin by means of a druged needle).

Many women think nothing of having their noses broken and reset in a different shape, says a Paris correspondent. Others actually have the eyebrows moved upward or downward, as the fancy dictates. This necessitates a complete removal of the hair and either a false and forced growth in a different position or makeup.

One beauty expert, who undertakes to change the form of a woman's lips, has performed many operations. His latest experiment is to make the upper lip turn up, giving it an alluring pout.

To do this he stretches a thin hair from the upper lip to the tip of the nose. This effect, naturally, is limited to actresses, who use it on the stage only.

Some fashionable women are being laughed at for their insistence on having their cosmetics favored. One has her lip-rouge tasting of banana.

HOW REED ACQUIRED TITLE

Why Famous Speaker of House Was Given Name "Czar"—Conduct Called "Russian."

Julius Chambers, at one time managing editor of the New York World, tells in his book, "News Hunting on Three Continents," how Thomas B. Reed, one-time speaker of the house of representatives, acquired the title of "Czar."

When the house of the Fifty-first congress organized in December, 1889, with the narrow majority of 164 Republicans to 161 Democrats, Reed, of Maine, was elected speaker. He insisted upon a new code of house rules.

The Democrats assisted in passing them, probably under the premonition that Reed would embarrass their opponents. And that was exactly what he did. One day the speaker insisted on counting a quorum by including all members present in the chamber, whether or not they answered to their names at roll-call. Several members denounced the arbitrary conduct as undemocratic, even Russian, in character. The next morning in the New York World appeared the words, "Czar Reed," an inch high across the front page.

The words became indelibly engraved upon American political history.

Lincoln Was a Whittler.

Whittling sticks and telling stories were Abraham Lincoln's resources. Bismarck's wife, when Beethoven's "Moonlight" sonata was being played, noticed the first tear in his eye, and felt "He is not so hard as he seems," and "passionate, heroic music" made his recreations, side by side with hunting in youth, long country drives in old age, conversation and his pipe. The Reform Earl Grey had a passion for dancing, and, as premier in the midst of a political crisis, cried out one night at 10 Downing street, "What would I not give to dance like Taglioni!"

Root Cause of Nearly Every War.

During the World War a well-known French publicist was invited to address a large audience of children from the elementary schools of an American city. Walking quickly onto the stage, he commenced speaking in his own tongue, and then smiling at the bewildered children, he said, in perfect English: "You do not understand me, do you? There, my dear children, you have the root cause of this and nearly every other war. Only through a lack of proper understanding of the point of view of other nations are wars possible."—Christian Science Monitor.

"Santos" Coffee From Sao Paulo.

It is against the law now to label as "Java" coffee that does not come from Java or Sumatra. Real Mocha is grown in Arabia, and after the coffee became well known and very popular some unscrupulous dealers applied this name to coffee from other countries. Coffees frequently take their names from the ports from which they are shipped. The most widely used variety in this country is called "Santos," after a port of Sao Paulo, the great coffee-producing state of Brazil.

Volcanoes in United States.

While there are no active volcanoes in this country, there are a number of extinct or dormant volcanoes in the West. These include the San Francisco mountains of Arizona, Mt. Taylor in New Mexico, Mt. Shasta in California and the following peaks in the Cascade mountains: Pitt, Mazama, Union, Scott, Three Sisters, Jefferson, Hood, Adams, St. Helens, Rainier and Baker. The Spanish peaks of Colorado are also the remains of ancient volcanoes. Most of these mountains have visible craters on their summits or on their sides.

Origin of the Dollar.

The dollar was introduced into America by the West India trade before the Revolution. The coinage act of the 2nd of April, 1792, legalized it and established it as a unit of American currency. The inconvenience of the English system of money led congress in 1781 to instruct Robert Morris to devise a system of national coinage. His suggestions were not adopted, but those proposed by Jefferson were approved. He proposed the dollar as a unit to be equivalent to one hundred cents.

THACKERAY AND THE MOVIES

Member of School Class Says His Novel "Gives a Picture" of Time of Queen Elizabeth.

A class in a certain school in the city was reading the biography of William Makepeace Thackeray. The lesson was an intensive one, and the object was to read a paragraph, then give every point it contained.

One boy had recited in full supposedly, when Clifford became much concerned as indicated by his wry face and an eagerness to be heard.

"He left out a very important point," he said.

The class members registered disapproval on their countenances and negative nods here and there. Clifford bristled slightly at the idea of disagreement.

"He did leave out an important point," he urged, insistently.

"What was that?" asked the teacher. "That Thackeray was in the moving picture business," replied the boy. The class snickered in spots, and it was necessary for the teacher to intercede.

"Where did you read that, Clifford?" she said.

WAS JUST LIKE THE REST

Teacher in Small Town Finds Every One Related to Every One Else.

I went to a small town to teach school, and found that every one seemed to be related to every one else. That cut me off from all chance for friendly gossip, for one could never tell when she would be gossiping in front of some adoring aunt or cousin.

I was explaining this, laughingly, to a girl in the town who had been nice to me.

She remarked: "Yes, that is so, but I am one exception—we have no relatives here outside our immediate family—you may gossip to me about any one."

"Well, the people I want most to gossip about are some newlyweds—don't know their name, but she calls him 'darling Donnie dear,' and they are too silly to be around sane people."

"Oh," replied my friend, "I had forgotten about my brother Don and his wife—they've been married about a month, but we don't think they are sillier than anybody else."—Exchange.

Pantomime 22 Centuries Old.

The word "pantomime" is about twenty-two centuries old, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It originally meant an actor and not the act. Literally, the word means the "mime" or imitator of everything, and imitate everything the old Greek and Roman actors could and did. Their plays were usually in dumb show, and movements and gesticulations formed the actor's chief art.

Later, the pantomime—which now has come to mean the act—was continued into the Middle Ages in the form of the play of Pantaloon, Columbine and Harlequin—Clown was a later addition—who are supposed by some scholars to represent the ancient deities of the original pantomime. A little later still, pantomime had turned into a ballet, still without words and still centering round Harlequin and the rest.

Hawthorn Respected in Ireland.

Whitethorn, or, as it is better known, hawthorn, blooms in May. Its blossoms are much whiter than those of the blackthorn, and have a delicious perfume.

In Ireland hawthorns are regarded with much respect as belonging to the fairies, and certain large trees all over the country are known as "gentry bushes," gentry being sometimes designated, says the Detroit News. The cutting down of one of these old trees was supposed to bring bad luck. In Sir Samuel Ferguson's poem, "The Fairy Thorn," reference is made to the disappearance of one Anna Grace, who went to a dance under one of the ancient bushes.

It is likewise believed that to carry a spray of hawthorn into a house forebodes the coming of death to one of the inmates. In the south of England the fruit is called "pixies' pears."

Our Favorite Recipe.

"How may we ever the skunks from our house?" is the somewhat startling question asked by a reader of an agricultural magazine. Another reader, from the depths of a wider experience, answers the question thus: See that the wall is tight where they live, but leave an opening for them to go out. Take a bottle of household ammonia, pull out the cork, slip a long stick in its place, and shove the bottle into the skunk's habitation. Raise the stick and smash the bottle. The skunks will all march out, saying: "Our odor may be a little disagreeable to our enemies, but here they are using poison gas on us! We can't let that down." They dislike the fumes so much that it is said they never come back.—The Outlook.

Nickel Plating.

The object to be nickel plated is made the cathode of a battery or dynamo delivering a current of about six volts. A piece of nickel is made the anode. The electrolyte between the poles of the dynamo is a solution of soluble salt of nickel. The passing of the current from the anode through the solution to the cathode causes a deposit of nickel on the object.

—Wonderful ingenuity.

How wonderful is the manufacture of gold and silver lace may be judged from the fact that it takes necessary the heating of two grains of metal to cover 3,000 square inches. Two miles or more of the gold wire can be drawn from a single ounce.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Leverett D. G. Bentley

Not long ago we happened to be one of a group of newspaper men to whom a citizen of more or less prominence was complaining of the management of a particular branch of the government. He said that there should be radical changes made, "a wholesale house-cleaning" as he expressed it, and he added that he was determined there be made a public investigation. His arguments were most convincing and it seemed that there should be action taken. The head of the department under criticism was interviewed and he said he would welcome an inquiry no matter how sweeping. That made an interesting reading but it didn't explain everything. The unanswered question was, "Why should Hon. Soandso wish to start something?" It was pretty evident that there was "a colored gentleman in the woodpile" but he had, up to that time, concealed himself from view. A little digging on the part of the newspaper men disclosed the not surprising fact that Hon. Soandso had had a run-in with one of the officials of the department and that Hon. Soandso was clearly in the wrong and the subordinate government employee was in the right. The one trying to enforce the law and the other to break it. The one, wealthy and influential, would have a stigma put upon an otherwise efficient department for the sake of venting his personal spite. Newspapers are not disposed to take up the cause of a man who seeks to use them for his own ends and, therefore, the proposed investigation is off.

We think the incident above mentioned illustrates the difficulty of holding an office in the pay of the people. We do not mean elective offices, but a job for the city, State or Nation. A great deal of the attraction that a position of honor has is not warranted. The popular notion that a person in public employment "has it pretty soft" is far from correct, at least as we view it. The lazy individual is going to shirk no matter where or by whom he is employed. If a city, State or Federal job affords him greater opportunity, he and not the service is to blame. There are many public employees who work their heads off, as the saying goes, for small money, and they exceed in number, at least by 10 to 1, the loafers who "get away with it."

The one reason why we feel constrained to dwell upon the question of public employment is that some times we wonder if Newton people appreciate the men and women who work for them. It has been in our line of work to watch employees of the city, State and Nation and although we have never sought—have declined in fact—appointment for such service we have always thought a lot of deserving people were entitled to more recognition. Until one has a chance to keep track, day by day, of another's efforts one isn't really appreciative of the other's merits. The most forcibly struck with this theory when we read the report on Newton as a fire hazard as prepared by representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. What it said was no doubt true and informing as well and, although intimating there were things to be desired it gave Newton a clean bill of health so far as its fire department is concerned. It has been our privilege to have known Chief Walter B. Randlett a long period of years and although there may have been times when we got in his way at a fire in our search for news we nevertheless have had all these years the greatest admiration for him. We have seen him on the job when it meant jumping out of bed on the coldest night in winter to tackle a nasty fire or arguing with a committee of the Board of Aldermen for an additional appropriation for this or that. Both of them tough propositions. It has always been our belief, and we defy anyone to change it, that Chief Randlett has made a record for himself not only as fire-fighter but as an economical public servant. We would want to hurt his feelings but we believe that he has been too lenient with the city fathers. Instead of trying to do with little he should have, in our bold opinion, demanded more money. If anything, the chief is too blamed scripping. Look at the underwriters' report yourself and see if it doesn't say in other words that improvements are necessary. We wonder if Newton people appreciate Chief Randlett, almost every other city has a chief who knows the political game, whether he plays it or not. Chief Randlett is as far from politics as any mortal can be. Instead of being denied money he should have funds at his disposal that would meet the criticism of the Underwriters. Other chiefs we know would have given interviews to the papers about the great fire risks and "menace to life and property" and the city would have been forced to come across. The chief is an unusually high type of public official and those who employ him should get behind him more than they have.

The police have petitioned for increased wages. Of course there will be much discussion before any action is taken. It is a matter of grave concern when the public funds are involved. At least that is the general belief in certain quarters. We regret that we are in the minority and that the matter to us is very simple. A man employed at trade gets $1 an hour and maybe more. He is free to do as he pleases when his day's work is done, providing he doesn't commit a breach of the police's policeman's almost in every case a man who has given up a profitable trade to become a city employee—is expected to work for something around $5 a day. He must be prepared to do special duty, or "overtime" as the other workers would put it, and for this he receives nothing extra. Furthermore he isn't free to act as the other man—he must report his absence from the city so his superiors may at all time know where he is. He must attend the lower or upper court as a witness whenever necessary and on his own time. And his job is taking his life in his hand as is proved by the recent killings of policemen in this part of the State. There will be those who will sneer and say, "Well, they don't have to be policemen if they don't want to." That doesn't answer it at all. To have a decent police force decent wages must be paid. Otherwise—well, there you are.

We have had to listen to a good deal lately about the initiative and referendum. The initiative is not as well known nor has its aid been invoked but once in this State since the "I & R" amendment to the State constitution was adopted. But a favorite endium has been for years a favorite argument, originally appropriated by the Democrats, but now used on all sides. It might be applied to solve a number of perplexing problems, we suppose, but we, for one, believe the governing body of city, State or Nation has been elected to act for the people and should discharge its duties accordingly. We know there are those who insist that when the ballots are counted on election day the voice of the people has spoken." It has been our privilege to listen to that "voice" on several occasions with the same interest, no more and no less, than the average voter. And it has sometimes impressed us that the "voice" was not as clear and distinct as it should be and that there might well be performed an operation for throat trouble or adenoids.

As we were wondering how many Graphic readers had read what we put into our first attempt with "One Thing and Another" there came both a letter and a telephone call asking us to "check up" on our item relating to the automobile parking space on Washington Street between Centre and Harrison Streets. It so happens that we did not need to be reminded—we had taken upon ourselves the obligation. We found that when the State inspectors examined Newton applicants for automobile licenses on Wednesday mornings the extended area is a boon to all concerned. Furthermore, there are more cars parked there each evening than ever before. If there are those who think that in view of our acknowledgements we ought to apologize we merely reply that the more publicity this parking ground gets the more it will be utilized.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The season was formally opened on Monday night, with a most enjoyable smoker under the direction of Mr.
Carl J. Thorne, chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

The chief feature of the evening was an interesting and inspiring address by Congressman Charles L. Underhill of Somerville, who was introduced by Mr. William F. Garcelon, a Congressman "Unafraid." Mr. Underhill lived up to that designation for he talked straight from the shoulder on many matters of interest in our political life.

His subject was, "Less Government in Business and more Business in Government." He pointed out the demands on the Federal treasury if approved by Congress would take untold billions of dollars, and illustrated what a billion dollars meant by stating that an expert bank teller, counting from the day of his birth at the rate of eight hours a day would take 102 years to finish the task.

Mr. Underhill deplored the entrance of men like Brookhart, and Johnson under the designation of Republican when they were wholly opposed to the fundamental principles of the Republican party. He showed how efforts were being constantly made to embark the government into schemes which would cost untold sums and urged by well intentioned men and women all over the country. He was outspoken in his opposition to the soldiers bonus and told how one district in Mississippi where there were 2000 negro soldiers paid but $500 a year into the Federal treasury and if this bonus was paid to those men, he had been informed that the cotton crop would be ruined for lack of labor. He showed that under the act for Federal aid for good roads, the state of Wyoming had received one dollar and Massachusetts paid eighty four dollars for roads in the former state.

He then turned to the radical and socialistic movements and said that at present every business man worked two days a week to pay for governmental operations and if paternalism went further he predicted that it would take four days to pay for government and that we would soon reach the state of Russia, where one's whole time was taken in work for government. He urged a greater respect for the constitution rapped the man who refused to obey the laws which he did not like and classed him with the reds, the pinks and the yellows of the socialistic and radical groups. And closed with a high tribute to the southern members of Congress, who he declared were the warmest supporters of the constitution.

Light refreshments were served and cards, bowling, pool and billiards were enjoyed.

TROOP 7, BOY SCOUTS

Troop 7, was off with a bang at its first official meeting last Friday night.
About forty boys were back with a strong looking crowd of applicants in the background. All the scout masters were present. Indeed a new man has been added to the force. He is Mr. Egon Kattwinkel, a last year's Tech graduate. Mr. Crowell, Mr.
Smith, Mr. Dow, and Mr. Ovington all answered "Present" to the roll call.
Mr. Park greeted the boys most cordially and humorously as the troop committee's representative.

Franklin Hoyt served as senior patrol leader for the last time. He has done a great piece of work in this capacity for two years. Under his popular, efficient leadership, the numberous patrols have flourished. In his place, a merit badge scout of excellent qualities has been chosen: "Jack" Ford will prove his worth. Last year's scout scribe, Charlie Phelps, has also resigned. The troop is sorry to lose Charlie, but it welcomes its newly elected scribe, Charles Flint.

Friday morning, Troop 7, boards
the train for Chapman Camp, South-ville, for a two days' and one night camping party. About twenty scouts will make the trip and four scoutmasters.

Last Saturday, the scouts were the guests of Edgar Crosby at the Harvard-Rhode Island State game.

SOMERSET CREAMERY PROUD OF RATING

"Nothing talks in the milk business, but the solids, fats and bacteria rating of the authorities," said the general manager of the Somerset Creamery, of 213 Camden street, Boston, to a Graphic representative, as he showed him City of Boston Health Department bulletins for several summer months just over, rating Somerset Farms Milk Company pretty near top-notch in the department's survey of market milk sold in Boston by dealers and chain stores.

In Massachusetts the statute law requires a minimum of 12 per cent solids and 3.35 per cent of butter fat.

The department's report of April, 1923, gives Somerset Farm Milk Company the best rating on fats (6.05 per cent) of the 104 surveys covered by set Farms Milk Company also has the best rating for that month, in sol-nearest competitor, the famous Clarence W. Barron's farm.

The board of health reports for

Last Friday was the wedding day of Miss Katherine Eldred Holway, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E.
Holway of Arlington, and Mr. Edwin Sherman Hall of Newton Centre.

The wedding was a lovely home wedding, the house at 56 Jason street, Arlington, being beautifully decorated for the occasion. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frederick M.
Gill of the First Parish Unitarian Church, Arlington.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Philip W. Dunbar of Arlington. Her gown was of satin crepe, lace trimmed, with a court train, and a veil held in place by orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Marion Mc-Lellan of Arlington, wore a gown of turquoise blue and gold brocade silk over yellow, and trimmed with beaded lace.

The bridesmaids were, Mrs. Edward
W. Blue of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs.
John T. Gibbons of South Sudbury, Mass.; Miss Helen T. Brodick of Belmont; and Miss Anna C. McKay of Arlington. The gowns of the attendants of the bride were of georgette trimmed with lace in pastel shades, and they carried old-fashioned nose-gays.

Mr. Norman P. Hall, brother of the groom, was the best man, and the ushers were David Morse of West Roxbury; Webster K. Ramsey of Cambridge; Howard R. Cull Jr., of West Roxbury; and George H. Lusk of Newton Centre.

A reception at the home of the bride in Arlington, followed the ceremony, the sister of the bride, Miss Alice E.
Holway, and the mother of the groom, Mrs. Edwin M. Hall, assisting the bridal couple.

The bride is a graduate of Miss Wheeler's Kindergarten School, class of 1919, and the groom attended Boston University for two years, and served during the war, in the United States Navy. At present he is in business in Boston.

After a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Hall will make their home on Paul Revere road, Arlington

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

Saturday morning, residents of Malone provided about 50 automobiles in which our entire party was carried some fifty miles through the glorious Adirondack country to Saranac Lake. On the way we stopped for a brief time at the Hogle Fox Farm.

The enterprise was founded by Hollis & Hogle of Malone with a parent stock of 16 pedigreed prize animals from the noted farms on Prince Edward Island in Canada. Silver foxes are raised primarily for their beautiful pelts for milady's wardrobe, valued at a thousand dollars each. This particular farm, however, raises stock for the upbuilding of the industry throughout the country.

As a lad I had read and reread many times, W. H. Murray's Adventures in the Wilderness and had long wanted to visit the lakes and streams which he so eloquently described in the Adirondack Country. It was with great anticipation, therefore, that I saw Menckam Lake, Paul Smith's hotel and other places mentioned by Murray.

Our party missed one of the real treats of the day, however, when our chauffeur failed to notice an invitation to visit the summer home of Sir Harry Lauder, just outside the city of Saranac. There Mr. William Morris, the manager for Mr. Lauder, entertained the editors in most hospitable manner.

Luncheon was served us at Saranac Lake village by the Chamber of Commerce of that place.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., is one of the foremost health centers of the United States, and the home of The Robert Louis Stevenson Society of America and the resort where Mark Twain and his family enjoyed themselves so thoroughly in a spacious log cabin still in use on the shores of Lower Saranac Lake.

The famous Baker cottage in the village of Saranac Lake where Stevenson wrote "A Christmas Sermon," "The Lantern Bearer," "The Master of Ballantre," and other stories, is open to the public and contains many interesting mementoes of the great writer.

Rest and relaxation in the invigorating air of the Adirondacks has played a most important part in the treatment of thousands of those who found here the health they thought they had lost.

Dr. Edward L. Trudeau came to the Adirondacks in 1876 and found through personal experience the means of checking the illness with which he suffered. His work at Saranac Lake developed until it received international recognition, and since his death in 1915 has been carried on by an able body of specialists, whose training includes a tutelage under the direction of "the Beloved Physician," and patient work in the Saranac laboratory which he established here—the first laboratory of its kind in America.

Specialists of wide repute from all parts of the nation now send their patients to Saranac Lake to be placed under the care of the highly-specialized practitioners who make their homes here.

It may interest you to know that Saranac Lake is said to be the only health resort of the kind in this country where the well mingle so freely with the sick with a feeling of perfect safety because of the absolute sanitary conditions. The great care exercised here might well be followed in other communities.

It can truthfully be said that there is no safer place in the world for a well person than Saranac Lake and no better place for the sick to improve or regain their health.

After lunch our Saranac hosts furnished automobiles for the nine mile drive to Lake Placid where we were to stay until Monday morning. Most of our party were cared for at the Lake Placid Club, one of the most unique hotels or clubs in the country.

The club can accommodate some 1300 persons and house them in a group of cottages and hotels, the result of some twenty years growth. The Club has its own fire department, several golf courses, some twenty tennis courts and owns several thousand acres, including the John Brown farm, where that martyr to the slavery cause, was born and bred and where his body was buried. The burial plot is in the dooryard and enclosed by an eight-foot iron fence about 30 feet square within which is a large flag pole bearing an American flag. When the keeper unlocked the gate and permitted us to enter, all did with uncovered heads, feeling that they were doing homage to one of earth's heroic characters whose deeds are enshrined within the hearts of many. Thousands visit this shrine each year.

This Club has these distinctive features set forth: Early hours, informality, simplicity, children welcome, and amply provided for, personal preferences, gratified, no tips, no public cigar stand, no smoking in dining room, and no smoking by women, no noise after 10 P. M., no peddlers or solicitors, no stocktickers, no gambling—even as "a chance in aid of charity." Engaging rooms involves a cordial conformity to these club by-laws.

With special deference to children, the tired or convalescent, and those caring for social comforts, music, movies and indoor amusements, every indoor and outdoor game is provided, pageants are held and all controlled by rigid rules. Not only in summer but in winter the club house and forty winter cottages are available and a series of winter sports provided.

In the hands of Dr. Dewey, former librarian for the state of New York. The management of the club is Dr. Dewey is an ardent advocate of simpler English spelling and urges the change of spelling some 600 words. In Placid club literature, programs and menus the simplified spelling is used.

One breakfast menu was like this: 9.30-10 Breakfast. Fruit, cereals, boiled eggs, grid cakes, hot bread, toasts, and beverages. Tray orders must be in by 9.30. Betr servis if in befor 9.

We had a fine time at Lake Placid, the Chamber of Commerce vying with Dr. Dewey in looking after our comfort. Lake Placid village and the Lake Placid Club are on Mirror Lake and it is a few minutes ride by motor to the famous Lake Placid itself. We had a boat ride about the lake on Sunday afternoon and I was deeply impressed with its beauty. It certainly merits all the adjectives which noted writers have used in describing it.

Our friend to whom I spoke about it said that his brother had made several trips about the world and had told him that Lake Placid was one of the three most beautiful lakes he had seen.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Plans for a series of monthly meetings during the fall and winter were one of the important matters considered at last week's meetings of the Board of Directors of the Newton Chamber of Commerce. It is the desire of the officers and directors of the Chamber to provide an opportunity for the membership of the Chamber as a whole to assist in determining the policies and the work of the Chamber during the coming season, and to decide upon those things which are deemed the most important and are to receive the attention of the Chamber.

Plans for the discussion of so-called local problems at the membership meetings are being formulated and it is the belief of the Board that these are sufficiently numerous at the present time to provide subject matter for several meetings at least. Mayor Edwin O. Childs, of the Board, with President Rupert C. Thompson and the Secretary of the Chamber have been appointed a committee to plan the program for the initial meeting, which is to be held during the latter part of the present month.

It is the intention of the Board to make this the biggest meeting yet held by the Chamber, and it is hoped that it may prove the most interesting. With a membership of more than two thousand to draw from, future meetings are expected to take on a new significance, and action of the Chamber to more accurately reflect the real sentiment of citizens on public questions.

It was voted to make the October meeting a "City Government Night" and, as soon as the date is determined, to issue an invitation to members of the Board of Aldermen, with perhaps other city officials, to be the guests of the Chamber on this occasion. The evening will be given over to the consideration of local matters of special interest to Newton citizens, the Chamber directors having refrained at their recent meeting from taking definite action on two important matters because of the opportunity at the coming meeting to secure an expression of opinion from the membership as a whole.

One of these questions was the action that should be taken by the Chamber in regard to the proposed 20 percent fare increase on 12 ride, students, and monthly commutation tickets of the Boston & Albany railroad. Another matter to be considered at the coming Chamber meeting is the advisability of recommending to the city government that the plot of land bounded by Commonwealth Avenue, Walnut Street, and Homer Street, be acquired by the city at this time.

President Arthur W. Hollis of the Board of Aldermen, Albert M. Lyon, representing those who advocate the acquisition of the land on Commonwealth Avenue, above referred to, and Chairman James W. French of the "Commuters Committee" of the Chamber, were present as guests of Directors at their recent meeting. President Rupert C. Thompson presided. Applications for membership numbered 174, and these were accepted, increasing the total membership of the Chamber to more than two thousand. Upon the recommendation of a special committee, including President Thompson, Frank L. Richardson, George A. Schade, and the Secretary, Walter T. Hannigan of Newton was elected treasurer for the remainder of the year.

Upon the request of the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce, the Board went on record as favoring proposed legislation to permit the use of state armories by commercial organizations and other organizations designed to promote community welfare. Brief reports were made by the Insurance and Traffic Ordinance committees, the remainder of the meeting being given over to the discussion of the proposed B. & A. fare increase, and the project for the acquisition of the land at Commonwealth Avenue, Walnut and Homer Streets, already endorsed by the Building and Development Division Committee.

Not So Prosy.

"My husband is simply a manufacturer of waste paper baskets," said a guest at dinner, "and it is a very prosy occupation." "Yes," asserted an unappreciated bard seated next the speaker, "but then a great deal of good poetry goes into waste paper baskets after all."

AVOID A LIFE-TIME OF REGRET

A partly burned match, a reckless cigarette butt, or an imperfectly quenched camp fire—and you get the Berkeley, California, conflagration, wherein a large part of the homes of a city the size of Newton were destroyed, with all the personal treasures endeared by association, or possessions valuable for their intrinsic worth, which money cannot replace. The same thing could as easily happen right here,—given the same reckless carelessness, a chance spark in the crackling tinder of the falling leaves and dry underbrush, and a stiff October gale. Is it worth considering?

Nor is this the only field of criminal carelessness wherein we endanger the lives of ourselves and our children, and destroy the fruits of years of toil and sacrifice—homes, churches, and schools. Cook with Gas
—the Insulated Way

Magee Furnace Company, 38 Union St.,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:

I take pleasure in writing a recommendation of the Magee Gas Range which we have now used for nearly a month.

My wife is very much pleased with it. I seldom come home nights without hearing something new about the stove. Yesterday she said it supplied the brains which she lacked. The stove itself with its insulated oven saves a great deal of gas. My gas bill this month is just about half what it has previously been.

The thermostat arrangement is really the brains of the stove and it is this combined with the stove which makes it an ideal piece of kitchen equipment.

As an illustration of the above my wife told me an incident which happened the other day. She lighted the oven for cake and while mixing the cake a neighbor called. She left her work and talked with the neighbor for some time forgetting that her oven was going. When the neighbor left she rushed back to the stove thinking it was over-heated but found that the faithful pilot was on duty and the thermostat had entirely shut off the gas. The oven therefore was just right for the cake although it had been going some time. It is little things like this which make it a constant source of pleasure to her.

Yours very truly,

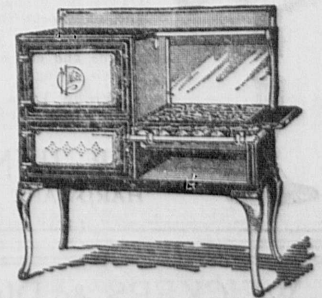

Armed B. Thelma

Meros a Fierce Race.

The Meros of the Philippines are direct descendants of the Malay pirates that infested these seas for centuries and the ancestral microbes is still extant. They are probably as fierce and reckless as any people in the world, and under their own leaders are accustomed to obey the law of force, and nothing else. A few hundred odd rifles are scattered through the islands and the possession of one almost carries with it a title of nobility. To be without a knife is a shame and disgrace.

Few Real Students of Nature.

Books are of pathetically little use to tell the story of nature. Few people recognize more than a dozen roadside flowers, the commonest trees and shrubs, a few kinds of birds and insects. To be able to distinguish the call notes of birds seems to most persons a miraculous gift. The few who know enough of nature to be guides for a few hours' walk have knowledge that many others deeply long for and that they would pay handsomely to get.—Youth's companion.

Designer's Costly Joke.

The dies for one of the earlier issues of Kruger sovereigns was engraved in Europe, and the designer engraved his own initials, "O. S." directly underneath the bust of Kruger! Now "Os" means, in Dutch, first an ox; then, secondly, an ox-like, bovine fellow; and, thirdly, in its most vulgar sense, a fool. The coins, or as many of them as could be retrieved, were hastily withdrawn from circulation.

Bribing a Judge.

It is said that about one hundred years ago a Welsh litigant sent the judge who was about to try his case a huge cheese, which was accepted with the remark that no sane person could suppose a judge would be influenced by a gift sent by a respectful admirer. But if it is possible to imagine a judge accepting a bribe, the penalty is treble forfeiture of the bribe and discharge from the king's service.

Fearful to Contemplate.

According to a contemporary Zulu-land camel became panic-stricken at the scent of a white man. Imagine what will happen to the poor beasts if ever they get a noseful of the white women who immerse themselves in that three-gallons-for-a-dollar perfume that is so much in vogue for street-car riding and the movies.—Buffalo Express.

A Student of Nature.

The angler is a student as well as a lover of nature, and he knows that without the insect-eating birds there can be no trees, that without trees there can be no waters, that without waters there can be no fishes, and that without fishes there can be no fishing.—From "The Determined Angler and the Brook Trout," by Charles Bradford.

No Virtue in Numbers.

Either an individual is worth something in life or is worth nothing. To think that valueless individuals can combine to make an invaluable society is a good deal like saying that one can make a million by adding ciphers.—Shaller Matthews.

Might Even Get Mushy.

"Soft lights in the home would assist in preventing divorces," says a writer. And soft speech is even more effective.—Boston Evening Transcript.

MADE TRACK-LAYING RECORD

Perfectly Ballasted Road Built in Eighty-Seven Days for the Late President Harding.

At Cedar City, Utah, on July 9, 1922, President Carl H. Gray of the Union Pacific Railroad company, with a broad vision and sturdy courage, decided to construct a 35-mile branch line from Lund to Cedar City as the first important step in opening a new scenic wonderland to the world.

April 2 the first earth was moved in making grade; 70 days after, the first locomotive rolled into Cedar City over a new, uneven, unballasted almost temporary track, says the Salt Lake City Tribune.

Seventeen days later, there came to Cedar City upon a well trimmed, neatly aligned, full rock-ballasted railroad of main line type the greatest train in all America—the special carrying the President of the United States and his Alaskan party. It was the completion of this railway branch in 87 days, to the very top limit of a safe, smooth, solidly ballasted track, prior to the President's arrival in the West, that made his visit to Zion National park possible. All Utah recognizes this fact, and its citizens extend this public appreciation to President Gray, his most able and efficient staff of officers, engineers and construction men, whose loyalty and untiring energy, compressed within an unheard-of time limit, produced an almost magical accomplishment in the history of railroad construction.

USEFUL AS SOIL RENOVATOR

Importance of the Peanut as Article of Commercial Value Is Now Very Generally Recognized.

Peanuts are becoming more popular in this country. They mostly come from the East. Some very good Chinese, in shell, or kernels, are now on the market. America has recognized the importance of the peanut, sometimes called the "monkeynut" here, as an article of great commercial value. No less than one hundred varieties of peanut products were on exhibition last year at Washington, including several forms of stock foods, milk, flour, meal, oils, sauces and relishes, flavorings, confections, and other forms of food. In addition to which there were face cream and powder, ink, and wood stain. The area under peanut culture in America is over 2,000,000 acres, and millions of gallons of oil are expressed from the nuts. Australia has very suitable areas for production, and is taking up the question of the commercial value of peanut culture. Hitherto Australia has imported considerable quantities from China and Japan, using the nuts chiefly, as we do, for confectionery and roasting, but is setting out to produce oil. The culture is very useful as a renovator of the soil. The whole plant is harvested and stacked, and when the nuts are removed the vines constitute a capital fodder for stock.

Early United States Currency.

Lithia, proposes to replace the old ruble by a metallic coin called the lat. Lithuania is going to have a new unit of currency called the lith. These developments should be of interest to a country which early in its history found itself under a similar necessity. Although the Continental congress had passed resolutions and ordinances in favor of a decimal system of coinage, the new government came into existence in 1789 with nothing more than a small amount of copper coins as a sign of its financial independence. How far we were from supplying our own needs in this respect is shown vividly enough by the fact that duties were made payable in the gold coins of England, France, Spain, Portugal, or in any other gold coins of equal fineness. Not until 1791 was the subject presented to congress. In that year Hamilton proposed the dollar as the unit.

Sterling Pioneers.

Nova Scotia has just celebrated the arrival 150 years ago of its pilgrim "Mayflower" in the form of the ship Hector, the pilgrims voyaging to what are now known as the maritime provinces from the islands of Scotland. British and American warships shared in the ceremony, and events were enacted by living descendants of Scottish pioneers. The monument has been unveiled in the market place of Pictou, the town founded by the pioneers on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, whence they spread throughout Nova Scotia. The Hector brought over about 200 souls. This marked the beginning of Scottish immigration to Nova Scotia and Canada.

Anchor Cable Nearly Century Old.

An interesting find has been made in the bay at Port Elizabeth by the tug Talana. She was dragging for the anchor and cable of the mail steamer Norman, which had been obliged to slip her cable owing to the fouling of the anchor. A cable was encountered and brought to the surface, but it was clearly not a modern chain. It was 90 fathoms in length, and each individual link was stamped with the date "1824"—clearly a relic of the days of the early settlers.—Montreal Family Herald.

Through Air Mail.

It is asserted that a through air mail service between New York and San Francisco will soon be started. The planes will fly by night between Chicago and Cheyenne. Reacons will be seen fifty miles, and emergency fields will be lighted every twenty-five miles over the prairie.

CITY GOVERNMENT NIGHT

Interesting Subject assigned for Consideration at Next Meeting of Chamber of Commerce

Arrangements have been completed for the opening meeting of the season by the Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Newton Club, Newtonville, on Tuesday evening, October 30. This will be known as "City Government Night," the directors of the Chamber having voted at a recent meeting to extend an invitation to Mayor Childs, the members of the Board of Aldermen, and other officials, to be the guests of the Chamber on this occasion. Several of those entrusted with administering the affairs of Newton at City Hall have already expressed their approval of the plan and have agreed to be present, all advance indications pointing to an unusually interesting and successful meeting. Notices of the meeting will soon be forwarded to all members of the Chamber, in ample season to enable all to plan to be present, and to make reservations for dinner in those instances when it is desired to do so.

In accordance with the custom that has proven popular at previous meetings, a dinner will be served at 6.30 o'clock. At the meeting to follow, ample arrangements will be made to accommodate those members who are unable to be present at the dinner. Because of the fact that the present membership of the Chamber is considerably in excess of two thousand, attendance will necessarily be restricted to members of the Chamber and invited guests, although individual members will be permitted to invite personal guests so far as available accommodations will permit.

Because of the adoption of the plan through which the city government will be well represented, and because of the several important matters requiring the consideration of the Chamber at this time, it has been decided not to import any speakers or professional talent for this occasion, but to devote the evening to the discussion of public questions of special interest, the specific questions having been determined in two instances by the Board of Directors through action which referred these matters to the Chamber as a whole for consideration by the larger and more representative body.

The first of these is "What action shall be taken by the Chamber in regard to the proposed fare increase (applying to all forms of commutation tickets) on the Boston & Albany Railroad?" The time when any authorized increases may become effective has been determined by the State Department of Public Utilities to January 15, and public hearings on the petitions of the railroad company are to be held before that time. At the coming meeting the Chamber will determine if it shall be represented at those hearings, and if it shall record its opposition to the proposed increases at that time.

The second question is to determine if the Chamber shall recommend to the Board of Aldermen that the city acquire the so-called Commonwealth Avenue Triangle, bounded by Commonwealth Avenue, Walnut and Homer streets, for municipal purposes at this time. This matter was brought to the attention of the Board of Directors of the Chamber by the Building and Development Division Committee, which unanimously endorsed the project. At a recent meeting the Directors referred the matter to the Chamber, for confirmation of their vote that it would be desirable to recommend to the city that it acquire the land at this time.

The discussion of the third question will give members an opportunity to express their desires and opinions as to parking regulations and other restrictions in connection with the proposed traffic ordinance which the Board of Aldermen has under consideration. This will throw open to discussion a question in which there is unusual interest, especially in regard to parking regulations and the naming of one-way streets in the respective villages, and will include a discussion of the heavy trucking problem in connection with certain streets, in the hope that someone may be able to suggest a solution to this troublesome question.

DEATH OF MRS. MANZER

The funeral services of Mrs. Sarah M. Manzer, a resident of Newton for 20 years and who died last Saturday, were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William P. Holland, 39 Thornton street, Tuesday, October 16. The services were conducted by the Rev. Newton A. Merritt, Jr., pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, and burial was at Newton Cemetery.

The deceased was a native of Fredrickton, N. B., and resided in Watertown and Waltham before coming to Newton.

She also leaves a son, M. Scott Manzer of Concord, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. James Ashfield of Fredrickton, N. B.

LODGES

Mr. Charles W. Fowkes of Home Lodge I. O. O. F., Newton Highlands, has been appointed a member of the committee on the State of the Order for Massachusetts.

THE BYFIELD CASE

The legal battle which Mrs. George D. Byfield is making against the taking of her home on Eldredge street, Newton, for the new Underwood school house held the stage on Monday in the Supreme Court of the State, coming there on an appeal from the refusal of Judge Crosby of that court to issue a writ of certiorari on the ground that the taking was illegal and void.

The city was represented by City Solicitor J. W. Bartlett and the petitioner by Mr. Robert Adair and Mr. William A. Lackey and opened with a debate between Mr. Adair and Mr. Lackey as to whom represented Mrs. Byfield, Mr. Adair getting the decision.

Mr. Adair contended that the city had not complied with the charter provisions requiring the school committee to recommend additional school accommodations, that the recommendation of the mayor was referred to the committee on Public Works instead of to the committee on Public Buildings that the Planning Board had not had good notice of the proposition, that the order of taking did not state that the land was taken for "school house purposes" but only for "municipal purposes," that no appropriation of money was made, only an attempt to appropriate from anticipated sale of bonds, that the award of $7000 to Mrs. Byfield had never been appropriated, other than as a part of a total sum, that the order of taking by the aldermen was not properly signed, that immediate notice after the right to damages had become vested was not given, that the notice was not given by the board of officers who had made the taking but was given by City Clerk rant, that the petitioner is entitled to a view by a jury and that the entire procedure was in violation of the petitioner's rights and is taking her property without due process of law.

City Solicitor Bartlett held the petitioner had had due notice of the intention of the city to take the land and that she was present at the hearing on September 11, 1922 and that this provision of law is directory and not mandatory. Mr. Bartlett pointed out that under Chapter 40 of General Laws, the aldermen of any city except Boston may purchase or take by eminent domain under Chapter 79 for any municipal purpose any land within the town not already appropriated for public use and that it was not necessary to start in the order that it was for school house purposes. Furthermore, he argued, the damages which would be awarded would be assessed on the ground that the land would be used for any municipal purpose and it is well settled in law that the owner is not concerned with the future use of

EVERETT WINS

Showing a marked improvement over their stage of a week ago, the Newton team was defeated by Everett on Columbus Day at Cladlin Field by the score of 9 to 0. The costly breaks figured largely in the Newton defeat, for Newton made eight first downs to Everett's three.

Columbus Day is always a day on which hard, rugged football is played, and last Friday was no exception to the rule. From the time the opening whistle was blown until the final tackle both teams were scrapping like wildcats.

Newton started the ball rolling by kicking off to Captain Bond of Everett, who was downed almost in his tracks by an army of orange striped warriors. A try at right guard was thrown for a loss, and Everett punted to Newton. On the first play King went through the Everett right guard for six yards. The next play gained a yard and Considine got off a pretty spiral which was gathered in by Taylor who started up the field twisting and turning like a top, but always going forward, until finally thrown by Parker. Everett made seven yards in three rushes and kicked. Newton kicked then Everett kicked again until the first break of the game occurred—Lawless fumbled on his 20 yard line, Davino of Everett recovering the ball. Everett was now in a position to score, but on the first play Captain Bond was thrown for a loss by Kervorkian and the quarter ended. Gilligan took the place of Lawless.

The Newton line held like a stone wall for two more downs until Capt. Bond as a final resort tossed a forward over the Newton goal line only to have it battered to earth by Gilligan. It was Newton's ball on their twenty yard line. A quick kick sent the ball yard down the field with the over-anxious Taylor, who had crept up too close to the scrimmage line, after it like a tiger. He picked it up at full speed, turned, and went twenty yards back up the field before he was downed. Three line plays could not gain—and a wicked rolling punt came to rest on the Newton ten yard line. Considine in his eagerness to get the ball away kicked it off side at the eighteen yard line, giving Everett an opportunity to score once again. Littlefield made a brilliant tackle, Holbrook left his feet and hit Taylor like a ton of brick, Ryall smeared one, and King did his part; result, Newton had the ball. Then the march up the field began, each back getting three or four yards at a crack, until with 15 seconds of the half left Gilligan missed a drop kick from the 28 yard line.

DOG SHOW

The biggest show in the history of the Middlesex County Kennel Club was held on the grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A. last week Friday. There were over 400 entries with 250 exhibitors and great interest was manifested by Newton people, resulting in a record attendance.

Mr. James Brine was chairman of the Bench Show committee and Mr. Thomas E. L. Kemp, was secretary and superintendent.

Well laid out with the tents set parallel, and the benches so arranged that the dogs could be brought across from the benching tent to the rings with the smallest possible amount of travel, this large entry was judged in record time, and general satisfaction was expressed by exhibitors and spectators alike. As a result of this event it is expected that a number of new exhibitors will be found at the shows during the coming year. A noticeable feature of the show was the fact that breeds which for a number of years have been almost unknown are again coming to the fore with entries, such as Bloodhounds, Greyhounds, Black and Manchester Terriers, and to a lover of all breeds this is a very encouraging fact. There has been too long a feeling that only a few breeds are worth while.

The leading breeds were Shepherds, Chows, Boston Terriers, Cocker Spaniels, in the bigger breeds, with splendid entries in Great Danes. In the toy breeds the Pekinese lead, and it was very regrettable that the appointed judge, Mrs. M. M. Van Bauren, was unable to be present.

Her place was well filled by Mrs. W. P. Jackson of Everett, and the Airedales allotted to Mr. Leon Mullin, as well as the "Scotties" which should have been judged by Miss Brigham, had excellent substitute judges in Mr. (Continued on Page 5)

COST OF NEWTON SCHOOLS

Informally Discussed at Meeting of Board of Aldermen on Monday Night

At the close of an uneventful meeting of the aldermen last Monday night, Alderman George W. Pratt brought up the matter of school expenses and over an hour was taken in its consideration.

Mr. Pratt stated that the Education Committee had submitted a questionnaire early in the spring to the school committee and held up a formidable looking file as the result of that action.

Mr. Pratt said that the figures showed that there had been an increase in school population of 1853 pupils in the past ten years and that the number of teachers had increased to 372 from 308 with an average class of 28 per teacher as compared with an average class of 33 per teacher from 38 cities. Mr. Pratt also said that the figures showed an increase of 2038 in the number of which the new buildings, costing $1,100,000 the past four years had taken care of all but 1156 and that portable schools and other causes had reduced this excess to 502 and indicated in Mr. Pratt's opinion that additional school accommodations must be provided at once. The cost per pupil was $88.75 as compared with $78.50 as the average of 38 cities, the average salary in Newton was $1,826.91 as compared with $1,756.09 from the same 38 cities. Mr. Pratt had but little information in regard to the effect the Parochial High School at Newtonville and the Parochial Schools at Newton Centre, West Newton and Nonantum, would have on the public schools. He urged careful consideration of the school house problem and said it would be poor policy to enlarge the present High Schools if a new South Side High School would be required within the next few years.

Alderman Young suggested that the curriculum might bear examination, said he had been informed that there were "fads and fancies" in the schools and believed the pupils were not properly taught the fundamentals of education.

Mr. Pratt said that the school committee reported that no subject except music was taught which was not required by law. He believed that the Vocational High School was an expensive luxury, said it was not required by law and questioned whether it justified itself.

Alderman Young said that it was evident something was wrong when 12 year old boys were required to spend hours learning about King Tut and believed a large amount of money was spent on subjects not pertinent to young children.

Alderman White made some cynical remarks about the Vocational High School and believed the centralization of power in the State House was largely responsible for increased expenses and said that many things in the educational system were the result of propaganda. He suggested that many of the things we regard as fundamental were no longer considered necessary by expert educators.

Alderman Heathcote wanted to know the details of the subjects taught in the Vocational High, the number of boys and girls where they resided, the expense of teaching them, the revenue and number of outside pupils, he called attention to the construction of the Angier School at Waban, at the peak of high prices and believed there should be a delay of a year or two on account of the present high prices of building.

Mr. Pratt said that the costs per pupil were $112.33 for the Classical High, $127.41 for the Technical High and $242.03 for the Vocational High. The Junior High costs $110.48 and the elementary schools $77.86 per pupil.

The board transacted but little business.

Aldermen Collins, Grebenstien and Weeks were absent.

the land by the city. Mr. Bartlett called attention to the absurdity of the contention for a view by jury, which ordinarily takes place a long time after the taking and to hold the property exactly in the same condition as at the taking would defeat the purpose for which it was to be taken and fatally delay the construction of public buildings.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Adair has a petition pending in the Superior Court restraining the city from attempting to tear down the Byfield house, and which will come up after the decision of the Supreme court has been made. If denied this restraining order, Mr. Adair will undoubtedly take another appeal to the Supreme Court and if necessary states that he will carry the matter to the United States Supreme Court at Washington.

In case the decision of the Supreme Court is adverse to the city, there are two courses open, one to abandon the matter, or to start all over again and take the property anew, with every prospect of a legal fight at every step of the way.

Incidentally, how much trouble would have been saved, as well as expense if there had been a little business foresight and the contract for the building now under construction had not been signed until the matter of land had been finally settled.

BRYSON-KELLEY

A very pretty wedding took place Tuesday afternoon at the Sacred Heart Church, East Watertown, when Miss Sara Irene Kelley, daughter of Mrs. Mary Kelly, of 27 Irma Ave., Watertown, became the bride of George W. Bryson, of 5 Hovey street, Newton. A reception followed immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride, where the young couple were assisted in receiving by the mother of the bride and the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. John Bryson, of 5 Hovey street, Newton.

The bride's gown was white bridal satin, cut en train, with bridal veil of Duchess lace caught up with orange blossoms and carried pink Kilarney roses.

Miss Ruth Kelley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Albert Bryson, brother of the groom, best man. The groom's gift to the bride was diamond ear-drops, and the bride's gift to the bridesmaid, an aquamarine ring set in platinum. After a trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Bryson will be at home to their friends at 152 Pearl St., Newton, after December 1st.

A Persistent Rumor.

There seems to be a pretty persistent rumor going the rounds of our boys and girls that nothing was ever written prior to a couple of years ago.—Dorothy Parker in the Saturday Evening Post.

EVERETT DEFEATS NEWTON 9-0

cal with the first, Everett taking advantage of Carver's only poor pass of the game, fell on the ball, and after the Newton line held once again, they scored by the aerial route, Bond's boot via the goal line.

Then later on, taking advantage of Newton's eagerness to score, Bond intercepted a forward and ran thirty yards for a touchdown. The team did not quit. Lions received the kick-off and raced forty-five yards before he was downed. The forwards were unleashed once again, a pretty one King to Ryall netted 20 yards, a line back gained six more, and the game was over.

Kevorkian, Littlefield, and Ryall did their share in the Newton line, while King and Holbrook took the honors in the back field. For Everett, Captain Bond and that elusive Taylor were the outstanding stars.

While defeat is a hard pill for any team to swallow, it was not a disappointing game from the Newton standpoint by any means—the line was there, they held Everett for downs three times in the shadow of their own goal—the backs are picking up their feet, ends and tackles are being taken out and not just leaned against. The team is coming, the old fight has reappeared once more, and if next week shows as much improvement as the last, then we'll have a team, my son.

Practice was held in the "Gym" for the first part of Monday afternoon. Coach Dickinson went over the mistakes shown up by Friday's game and commented upon the weakness of the team as a whole.

MAKES BEST EXHIBIT

At the Massachusetts Sunday School Convention, held last week in North Adams, Mass., the best exhibit of Sunday School work sent by any district of the State came from the Norumbega District. Most of this material was from the Elliot Church, Newton. The Newton Centre Baptist and Congregational Churches, the Waltham Universalist and Congregational Churches, and the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The Executive Secretary of the District Miss Lullona Barker, had part charge of collecting this material and of one institute period at the Convention. Rev. Earl E. Harper of Auburndale was Music Director for the Convention. On the closing evening, Friday, October 12th, a most successful rendering of the oratorio "Messiah" was given, through the cooperation of the North Adams church choirs, assisted by a group of singers from the Auburndale Methodist Church.

The Convention officials accepted the invitation of the Norumbega District that the next annual State Convention be held at some place within this District. This invitation was presented at the Convention as the result of the unanimous vote of the Advisory Council of the District at its September meeting this Fall.

DEATH OF MR. STRATTON

Mr. Frank H. Stratton, of 15 Glenmore Terrace, Newton Highlands, died on Friday last, October 12th, after an illness of some five months. He was, however, able to attend to his business until within a few weeks of his death. Mr. Stratton was born at East Hampton, Mass., was educated in the public schools and graduated from Williston Seminary, East Hampton, and when in the early twenties, entered the wholesale grocery business with a prominent Boston firm, continuing in that line for some years. In 1902 he became associated with the Equitable Life Assurance Society and immediately became a large producer of new business. In 1908 he was appointed a general agent, with headquarters in the Equitable Building, Boston, and thereafter continued in that capacity up to the time of his death. He had a substantial business and was well known among the insurance fraternity. He was very popular with his associates. He was a member of the Highland Congregational Church, the Congregational Club, the City Club, the Appalachian Club, the Field and Forest Club, the Crow Point Golf Club, the Sons of the American Revolution and Boston Chamber of Commerce. He also belonged to the Pilgrim Commandery of Lowell and Aleppo Shrine. He was devoted to outdoor sports, golf, canoeing, etc., and had been a great traveler, having made a trip around the world a few years ago, and at intervals visiting various countries on shorter trips. In 1918 he served as president of the Boston Life Underwriters Association, and was also a member of the National Body during the past year, acting as an assistant to its president. Mr. Stratton was of a genial nature, a good mixer, and entered into all sorts of activities. He was well known in Boston and vicinity and his loss will be greatly felt among his many friends, as well as his business associates. He leaves a father, Mr. John Stratton, of Lowell; two brothers, Messrs. William of Enfield, N. H., and Henry W. of Winchester. Mr. Stratton is survived by his widow, a daughter, Marion, and a son, Frank H. Stratton, Jr.

Funeral services were held at his late home on Sunday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. S. H. Woodrow of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church. There were also Masonic services by a delegation from Pilgrim Commandery, K. T., of Lowell. The burial was in Stoughton.

—Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Culver of Taunton of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith Culver, to Donald Chisholm Hagar, of Marshfield Hills. Miss Culver is a graduate of Radcliffe College, class of 1922, and Mr. Hagar of Harvard, of the same year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Hagar formerly of Newtonville and now of Marshfield. A tea by Mrs. Culver and her daughter, earlier in the week, was made an occasion for announcing the engagement.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Barry of Centre street, Newton Centre, observed the fifth anniversary of their marriage last Monday with a largely attended reception in the afternoon and a dinner to members of the family in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry were the recipients of a large number of gifts, including among them a gold watch, presented to Mr. Barry by the Walworth family of Newton Centre, in whose employ Mr. Barry has been for 50 years. They also received from Rome a photograph of Pope Pius XI, bearing his seal and signature and the apostolic benediction. This was a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Barry from a sister of Mrs. Barry, Sister Mary John of Fitchburg, through whose intercession Pope Pius sent his benediction to them.

Miss Mary Ann O'Connell Reardon and Patrick Barry were married in St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, on Oct. 15, 1873, by Rev. Robert P. Stack. There were no Catholic Churches in Newton at the time. Incidentally, 1873 was the year of Newton's incorporation as a city. Mr. and Mrs. Barry have both been residents of the city of Newton for more than 50 years and their sons, daughters and grandchildren are all residents of Newton at this time.

The family consists of seven children: Mr. John Barry, Joseph Barry, Vincent Barry, Lawrence Barry and Rev. Robert P. Barry of the Cathedral, the Misses Elizabeth and Mary Barry, and eight grandchildren.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—The phenomenal run at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, of that spookiest of dramas, "The Cat and the Canary," has marked this play as the outstanding dramatic success of the present season. Several times since the opening performance the play has broken the records of the theatre for attendance and amount of receipts at the scale of prices at which it is playing. It is not difficult to determine the reason for the success of the piece. Of absorbing interest and side-splitting humor it makes one forget all the troubles and worries of the day while engaged in trying to solve the mystery that pervades the story. Nothing could be better presented.

EDITORIAL

While we give space this week to an article criticizing our editorial of last week in opposition to the initiative petition, we do so as a matter of courtesy and not because of any change in our attitude towards that unrepresentative form of legislation.

Our correspondent says that there is opportunity for "thorough consideration and wise compromise" but the constitutional amendment distinctly states that the committees of the legislature may report on the proposed law but that the general court can only accept or reject the bill or submit a substitute or alternative bill for that requested by the petition. In other words the action of the Legislature must be affirmative on the proposed bill as submitted, or it may propose an alternative bill to go before the people at the same time as that of the original petition. The amendment also goes so far as to say that an affirmative vote of 30% of the ballots cast on the measure makes the bill a law.

This is certainly government by organized minorities. We again advise every good citizen to refrain from signing any initiative petition no matter for what cause.

While the board of aldermen have but little authority over the acts and expenditures of the School committee, the publicity given the matter by such discussion as that before the aldermen on Monday night expresses somewhat the feelings of the taxpayers over the present maintenance cost of schools of over a million dollars annually, and to which should be added the interest, serial bonds on school construction as well as the repairs of the school buildings. The suggestions advanced by members of the aldermen that the cost of the Vocational High School was such that it might well be abandoned is worth consideration as well as the number of sittings taken up by non-residents in all the various school grades.

The action of the aldermen in accepting the legislative act permitting a slight increase from four to five hundred dollars for foremen and inspectors, is appreciated by the Newton City Employees Union, which began the agitation for this legislation. While the limit ought to have been made about eight hundred dollars, in order to give this class of employees a fair deal with others, it is entirely possible that legislative action in the near future may abolish the present unsatisfactory system of non-contributory pensions and substitute for it a contributing system such as Boston has just adopted.—The most scientific and just pension system in the country.

While the recent increase in wages of the employees of the Boston Elevated will undoubtedly postpone the return to this city of the amount of the assessment made some years ago to meet the then deficit in operating expenses of that system, it will also create an uneasiness in many other classes of public employees who limit ought to have been made about eight hundred dollars, in order to give this class of employees a fair deal with others, it is entirely possible that legislative action in the near future may abolish the present unsatisfactory system of non-contributory pensions and substitute for it a contributing system such as Boston has just adopted.—The most scientific and just pension system in the country.

In about seven weeks the voters of this city will be called upon to elect a mayor and city government, and we earnestly hope that the important duty of nominating the best men and women will not be left until the eleventh hour. With a budget of three millions of dollars and rapidly increasing expenses in all city departments, every tax payer should take a personal interest in the character and the ability of those who will have the deciding voice in what manner our taxes shall be used.

To the long list of the substantial men of Newton, who have recently passed beyond, we must add that of the late Herbert A. Wilder, whose death it is our sad duty to record this week. Always interested in matters of service to the public Mr. Wilder was one of the most ardent supporters of the Newton Y. M. C. A., as well as of the Eliot Church. One of his latest public acts was in connection with the new Chaffin park at Newton. His public spirit will be greatly missed in this community.

DEATH OF G. A. R. VETERAN

Mr. George H. Haynes passed away at his home 14 Eden avenue, West Newton, on Tuesday of this week. He had been a resident of West Newton for sixty years and a man highly respected by everyone.

He was a member of Post 62, G. A. R. and the last surviving member of old Engine Co. No. 2, with which he was connected for thirty years.

HALLOWEEN

Halloween which comes on the last day of October offers a splendid opportunity to clubs, improvement societies, neighborhood centers and churches to arrange for a get-together festival for the people of their district. The celebration of Halloween used to be based upon traditional customs but it has gradually changed and many of our youngsters use the opportunity to commit unrestrained mischief throughout the community. It has long seemed to some of the men and women who are interested in the welfare of the boys and girls that the community might provide for the proper observation of some of these festivals. In order that some of the societies interested in boys' and girls' activities may have an opportunity to use Halloween to better advantage, the Playground Department will issue upon request an outline of different forms of observing Halloween. Anybody wishing to make use of this should call West Newton 0103 or write to the Playground Department at City Hall, West Newton. The department has prepared an outline which they are glad to send to anybody who is interested in celebrating this day.

SAVED BY BATH OF KEROSENE

Timepiece that Suffered from Immersion in Ocean Made Practically as Good as New.

In a crowded Long Beach bathhouse the other Sunday an absent-minded bather was audibly mourning for his wrist watch which he had forgotten to remove when he dashed into the surf, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"Wasn't that a stupid thing to do?" he asked the man struggling into his clothes at the adjoining locker and displaying the sodden timepiece. "I hate to lose this watch. Present when I enlisted during the war—association—memories—you know."

"You can't take it to a jeweler tonight of course," the mourner's neighbor replied. "But when you get home place the watch in kerosene and take it to the cleaner in the morning."

"When I was in the navy I fell overboard while wearing my watch and an old bar gave me the tip I'm passing on to you."

The man followed instructions and whether it is to the kerosene or the jeweler that the credit is due the watch is none the worse for its ducking.

FINALLY MADE WANTS KNOWN

Small Boy's Request Somewhat Twisted, but Probably He Got What He Was Sent For.

The little fellow was so short that he could hardly see over the wrapping counter at the bakery.

"Well, bub, what do you want?" the man behind the counter asked.

The little fellow was scared—too scared to talk, so he just shoved his dime over the counter and waited.

"Oh! You want to give me a dime, do you?" the man asked.

"Nope," the lad gulped.

"Then what? Want to buy ice cream and candy with it?"

This time the youngster could only shake his head, but he was quite evidently wondering at the stupidity of those great, big grown-up people. The clerk thought he was being very clever with the youngster, so he continued: "Well, I'll just take your money and put it in my cash register, so you won't lose it. How'll that be?"

The little fellow was beginning to get scared. Tears were not far away. But he managed to blurt out: "My mamma wants a bake of loafers' bread!"—Kansas City Star.

Spain Goes in for Sports.

Sports of all kinds are increasing in popularity in Spain at a tremendous rate. Football especially seems to have taken the country by storm, the games being attended quite often by 30,000 or 40,000 enthusiasts. Tennis is fairly popular throughout Spain and is played practically all year round. A fair share of the tennis equipment is American, especially the high-priced American rackets. Golf is followed to some extent by the aristocrats of Spain and by resident foreigners in the cities, but aside from it is not very popular. A large number of American motorcycles are in use in the army and in taxi service in the various cities. Ice skating was introduced to the Spanish public this year by means of an artificial ice rink, but it is felt that it is too fashionable to be popular; although many of the local sporting goods dealers ordered stocks of skates, shoes and hockey equipment. (Commercial Attaché, Charles H. Cunningham, Spain, April 5.)

Royal Rights.

In accordance with an ancient royal custom, King George has the right by statute to the head of every whale caught on the coasts of his kingdom. The tail is to go to the queen, that her wardrobe shall be furnished with whalebone. The king is also entitled to every sturgeon brought to land in the United Kingdom, and should receive, too, every year from divers persons a tablecloth worth 3s. two white doves, two white hares, a catapult, a pound of cummin seed, a horse and halter, a pair of scarlet hose, and a silver needle from his tailor.

Port of Vancouver.

Vancouver passed Montreal in 1922 as the first Canadian port regarding ocean going tonnage. Vancouver reports 3,967,000 tons and Montreal 3,453,000 tons. The harbor of Vancouver is open to ocean-going ships throughout the year, and also there was a considerable amount of coastwise shipping, while at Montreal there is little or no shipping of this character. Eleven steamship lines connect Vancouver with Liverpool, Bristol and London.

Cleaning Eye Glasses.

During hot weather it is well to wash your eye-glasses in water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. The ordinary alcohol and water mixture is a better wash for them in winter-time, as is solution of soap suds. Use this latter in winter only, polishing the glasses without rinsing them. An invisible film of soap remains which prevents the glasses from steaming.

Rust-Proof Stoves.

Stoves so frequently rust during the summer months when they stand unused that they are the despair of many a housewife when she attempts to clean them in the fall. Rusting may be prevented by covering the stove with a mixture of chalk and linseed oil which can be readily removed with turpentine or gasoline. Addition of a small amount of soap will make the backing stick.

$15,000 NEEDED

The Newton Y. M. C. A. is about 68 per cent self sustaining. It can never be entirely self sustaining because of the large amount of work done for boys in the building and community for which only a small fee or no fee at all is required.

The financial policy of the Newton Y. M. C. A. is as follows:

To make the Newton Y. M. C. A. pay its way as near as possible without restricting its useful service. As a result of this policy our earned income from dormitory rentals, fees, and service charges, has increased $1625 this year.

To have a budget and to balance it at the beginning of each fiscal year. Our 1924 budget calls for $48,500. Our 1924 income estimates $23,500. The difference to be covered is $15,000.

To raise this required sum through a straightforward statement of our case without drives or house to house canvasses.

The Board of Directors confidently believe that the citizens of Newton will cheerfully contribute the $15,000 necessary to maintain the high standards of work done by the Newton Y. M. C. A. in the building, at the Frank A. Day Camp, and in the Community. If this problem can be taken care of in October, Secretaries, Directors, Committees, and members can give undivided attention to the development of the work.

A NEIGHBORHOOD SQUABBLE

The Newton Board of Appeal for Building Laws held a hearing Wednesday night on petition of Daniel McLaughlin and other residents of Warwick road, West Newton, who claim a violation of the zoning ordinance by Richard Leahy of Warwick street, a plumber, whom they claim is using the basement of his two-car garage for a plumbing shop, contrary to the rules of the zoning ordinance. Mr. Leahy, in defense, presented a number of witnesses who testified that the plumbing shop had been located in the basement of the garage two years before Newton's zoning ordinance was passed. Mr. Leahy made the plea that his shop did not come under the ordinance, as the ordinance was not made to close up existing businesses, but to prevent factories and other objectionable buildings from being erected in residential districts. Alderman George M. Heathcote defended Leahy and Ex-Alderman Philip Nichols was the attorney for McLaughlin and the residents of Warwick road, who had signed his petition. Mr. Leahy stated when questioned as to the ultimate cause of the argument, that at the time Warwick road was accepted everyone but McLaughlin signed the petition for which Mr. Leahy was a strong proponent and McLaughlin was compelled, unwillingly to pay his share to have the street conditioned for acceptance.

RUNAWAY TEAM

The horse attached to a H. P. Hood milk wagon driven by William Cremens of 10 Hunt street, Newton, became frightened by a steamroller of the Newton Street Department on Chestnut street Tuesday morning and bolted. The harness on the right side broke when the team struck the railroad bridge and the horse galloped down to Washington street. A Ford sedan driven by Mrs. Thomas A. West of Waltham street, West Newton, was struck and turned upside down by the runaway. In the auto were Mrs. West and her child. The child escaped injury but Mrs. West received a wound in her forehead and was taken to her home in a passing auto. An auto owned by George Waters which was parked at the curb had the right front wheel torn off. The milk wagon turned over. Employees of the street department told the police that they had warned Cremens to be careful driving past the steamroller.

SCHOOL NOTES

Adams and Horace Mann Schools

Exercises in honor of Columbus Day were held in the Adams School last week.

The children appropriately costumed for the occasion keenly enjoyed impersonating the characters at the Court of Queen Isabella.

Their efforts were greatly appreciated by many parents and friends. At the Horace Mann School both the milk record and the banking have increased. Every day 178 children are consuming milk and crackers. This is about 66 per cent of the school. The highest per cent gained by a room is 85 in the fourth grade taught by Mrs. Adams. The money deposited in the bank through the school makes the total over $120. The following children have obtained bank books or are using their old ones:

Bigelow School

The fourth grades enjoyed their annual geography trip through the Newtons Wednesday. The Gamewell factory, Pumping Station and Purdy Ice Company were visited. Many thanks to the parents who so kindly loaned their care, making this trip possible.

Bigelow defeated Mason at football Tuesday, October 16th, by a score of 32 to 7. Mason was held for downs by Bigelow twice during the game and Bigelow was forced to punt once. The feature of the game was the work of the Bigelow line and the activity of the ends in following the ball.

Touchdowns were scored by Perry, 3; Pambookian, 2; and McDonald, 1. Points after touchdown were scored by Captain Perry, 2; Captain McDonald, 1. On one occasion Capt. Perry carried the balls from his own three-yard line for a touchdown.

Both pupils and teachers deeply sympathize with Miss O'Connor in the loss of her mother and sister.

The following members of Grade Eight have been appointed ushers for a period of five weeks: Marjorie Briggs, Hazel Ericsson, Marion Hawes, Nancy Howard, Elizabeth Swett, Frances White, Jacob Canter, Alexander Fletcher, William Hanley, Marvin Mayer, Henry Pambookian, Richard Plouff.

NEWTON LEAGUE

The Newton Bowling League began its annual tournament this week Wednesday with eight clubs entering teams, Hunnewell, Newton, Neighborhood of Waban, Commercial of Brookton, Middlesex Sportsmen of Arlington, Cochato of Braintree, Maugus of Wellesley, and B. A. A. of Boston. Hunnewell lost to Maugus, and Newton beat Waban Wednesday evening.

AVIARY IN CENTER OF CITY

Every Variety of Bird Known in California Is Said to Be Found There.

An uninclosed aviary exists in the center of a thriving California city. One block from automobile row, where humming motors and clanging street cars make the life of pedestrians precarious, a family of feathered creatures live in perfect harmony. The rear yard of this unusual city home is covered with oak trees and shrubbery. An artificial stream runs through its grounds.

Birds of every variety known in California, including the timorous little wild quail that find a haven of safety in town, gather on a common feeding ground each morning. The timidity with which the quail enter the family feast is interesting, says Caroline Boone in Our Dumb Animals. They arrive in pairs. If they were humans we would call them clannish or exclusive. The male quail gives the call to his mate for breakfast and if she fails to respond instantly he shows great impatience with her deliberate ways. After they have finished their meal they adjourn in pairs to some low roof and apparently talk over the day's program.

Bluejays have proved the most avaricious, while the smaller bird family is meek and gracious. The trees and shrubbery are filled with the nests of the jays and the cry of the babies can be heard until their mouths are filled. A close study of the quail and the affection that they show for each other would lessen the desire of hunters to slay these most appealing feathered friends.

WATCH FOR BABY PLANETS

Experts at the Naval Observatory Constantly at Work Taking Calculations and Photographs.

Those who imagine that astronomy is a finished science will be astonished to learn that at the naval observatory there are daily calculations and photographs taken of tiny planets whose number is not yet ascertained. These, called asteroids, spin about in our solar system like we beads each in its own orbit, but follow in between the track of Mars and that of Jupiter.

Studying these asteroids and discovering new ones is the work of photographic-telescope. The finest instruments are those in the possession of the naval observatory, and are the work of George Peters. In taking negatives there is a new exposure about once a minute, so that the course of the planet, or rather asteroid, is plainly shown by successive negatives.

These negatives are studied under a microscope and then compared with maps of the heavens. If any new little planet or asteroid appears, it is at once named by the discoverer. At present there are more than 700, but the number is increasing every year.

Any day Uncle Sam is likely to catch a new one in his naval observatory net with its magnificent lens. Planet photography is now a specialty.—Washington Star.

Buried Five Minutes, and Lives.
Buried alive by a landslide for about five minutes, a laborer of Mitchell, S. D., though severely bruised and injured, lives to tell the tale. He was working in an eight-foot ditch in which water mains are being laid, when a landslide occurred in which he was caught. He called for help as the soft gravel pinned him down, but it was five minutes before he could be dug out. The gravel caught and pinned him in an upright position and the dirt was piled three feet above his head. The landslide broke his shoulder, fractured his pelvis and dislocated his right hip, and his fellow laborers, in digging him out, made numerous bruises and wounds on his head, face and body with their sharp shovels.

Feminine Ways Unfathomable.

"I notice that many of the girls on their way to work carry their hats in their hands," remarked Mr. Brown. "So I have noticed," replied his friend. "Why is that?" "Well, the days are warm. And their hats, I take it, are more or less oppressive," carefully explained friend Jones. "In that case why do they not leave their hats at home and save all the trouble of carrying them?" "Now, my friend, you are asking me to follow you into the realms of the unfathomable."

Immense Ore Region in Brazil.

One of the world's greatest iron ore regions is located in the interior of Brazil. The ore-beds are pure and abundant and the only drawback to development lies in the lack of transportation. The natives smelt the ore and fashion it into utensils and farming implements by the crudest process known to modern man. With the abundant waterpower to develop current for electric furnaces, the economic development of this area will soon be solved. Brazil now imports large quantities of iron and steel from other countries.

The Addict.

Among Jimmie Malden's favorite stories is the one concerning two gentlemen who were getting acquainted through the medium of casual conversation. "Do you play golf?" inquired one of them. "No," said the other. "but I can't give it up."

To Ascend in the World.

You can have the respect of people if you are willing to win it. The recipe is just downright consecration of your talents to your opportunities. When these are unyielding change them. Head-directed energy can change the world. It's the only way to rise above the smiles of doubting people.—Grit.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, sends the following message to the club women of the country through the last number of the General Federation News:

"At the opening of another Club season, may I send you the best wishes of the official family of the General Federation and our hope that the year to come will strengthen and deepen and sweeten our common club life. More and more we realize that every club activity and all the quickening of our intellectual life and our understanding of our problems—all these have a definite relation to national well-being. It is to be hoped that your membership in the General Federation will be of concrete service to you, but infinitely more important than what you can get, is what you can GIVE. You can make a real contribution, each in your own way, toward a better America, whether in citizenship, in education, in health, in our institutions, in child welfare, in higher standards of home life, in legislation, or in the lowering of the nation in art. You are helping the spirit that expresses the soul of the country sane and balanced. You are helping her to achieve herself, to be the leader of the world. This kind of achievement is not individual. It is gained only by phalanx work, by being a great team. Our Federation means only this, the teamwork of two million women, for a better America. No one of us is working for her own benefit. We are together for the sake of all. The General Federation hopes from time to time to send you some timely suggestions about such cooperation. Please give them fair consideration.

"At the beginning, here is an opening, that is in accord with a subject that is already dear to you—the possibility of World Peace. Mr. Bok has offered a prize of $100,000 to the individual, the group, or the national organization that will contribute the most practical method of bringing about world peace. There is little use in talk or sentiment unless it results in action and machinery. Perhaps in your midst, or in your combined wisdom the solution will be found. Read and discuss and ponder it."

Special music for the afternoon will be by the Chamber-nowne Trio, composed of the Misses Curtis, Quigley and Morson. Among the speakers noted on the season's list, Dr. A. J. Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker will speak before the Newton Community Club at the next meeting, Thursday, October 25, at 2:30 at the Hunnewell Club house. Her subject, "Which Closes the Door, Youth or Age?" stimulates interest immediately. Mrs. Pennypacker, as is generally known, was a former president of the General Federation and is at the present time chairman of its department of American Citizenship. She is one of the few women orators of the country with the Southern accent so fascinating to Northerners. Everyone who hears her is charmed, whatever her topic.

Eaton, chairman, has arranged a most attractive program for the next meeting on Friday, October 26th, when "The Boston Trio," Mr. Fredrick Tillson, pianist and director, will entertain the members. Mrs. Virginia Denny Birgefeld, soprano will be the soloist. There will also be an informal reception to the officers, and a tea.

Local Happenings

Last week's meeting of the Newton Community Club opened the year's work most pleasantly. Announcements were made of the course of four Current Events lectures by Miss Avery of Springfield, which will take place on the first Thursdays of November, February, March, and April. The Literature Round Tables, six in number, will be held on the third Thursdays, beginning October 18. There will be two classes in French under M. Moulin, and classes in Auction Bridge and in millinery and dressmaking, if a sufficient number enroll. The chairman of the Home Economics committee reminded the members of their vote last year not to buy spiked celery and suggested the obligation this present season.

Miss Emma D. Coolidge gave a bright and entertaining account of the State Federation annual meeting at Swampscott last May. Mrs. William H. White, State Federation director for the Newton clubs, was a special guest and brought greetings, as well as some of the prizes for the coming year. A petition regarding the initiative petition regarding prison methods, which is now being circulated. She gave an urgent invitation for all members to attend the Autumn meeting of the Federation, which will be held in her home town, Wellesley, on November 19. Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, president of the Newton Federation, was also a guest and told of the good things for which that organization stands.

A musical of high merit given by home talent of which the members are very proud, completed the afternoon's program. The artists were, Mrs. Clara Sexton Crowley, soprano, with Mrs. Haddon at the piano, Miss Cecelia Bradford, violinist, and Mrs. Wallace Wales with Mrs. Edw'n Smith accompanying. A social hour over the teacups gave opportunity for greeting old and new friends.

The Fashion Show put on by the Community Service Club of West Newton as its opening meeting of the season on Wednesday was a great success drawing a crowded house. Elaborate and many of them priceless gowns illustrated the fashions of long ago, going back as far as 1799 and coming down to the present day. Those who loaned old gowns were, the Misses Lavitt, Mrs. Francis Newhall, Mrs. J. P. Holmes, Mrs. Ellery Peabody, Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, Mrs. K. N. Corwin. A social hour with tea followed.

ST JAMES THEATRE—The Boston Stock Company at the St. James will be seen this week in the first local production of George V. Hobart's play, "Sonny Boy." Mr. Hobart is the well established author of "Buddies" and "Experience," both of which have already been well received in Boston. The play, a comedy-drama, tells the story of two boys: one who had everything he might wish for, and the other who had nothing to lose. They look so much alike that their own buddies couldn't tell them apart. Mr. Gilbert will be seen in the Ernest Glendinning part, a type for which he is well fitted. Miss Bushnell will play Alicia, and the other members of the company will be in support. There will be a special Mother's matinee on Friday.

Newton Federation

The first meeting of the executive board of the Newton Federation was unusually full of interest. Owing to the Autumn meeting of the State Federation coming on November 19, the regular time for the next board meeting, it was voted to postpone the board meeting one week, until November 26.

Mrs. D. M. Goodridge for the Conservation Committee gave a full report of the Forestry hearing at the State House earlier in the month. Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, the new chairman of the Legislative committee, explained the initiative petition relative to a reform in methods of prison administration, and cited the attitude of the Newton representatives and State Senator regarding it, saying that the latter is in favor, two representatives non-committal and one opposed. She then presented Mrs. Wenonah Osborne Pinkham, secretary of the Massachusetts Civic League, which is sponsoring the petition. Mrs. Pinkham further explained the reason for resorting to this form of legislation, considering that, since repeatedly successive legislatures have passed it on to their successors or failed to take action, the time has come for something definite to be done. She is certain that the new state prison is coming in the near future, but before the state is saddled with a new building, which would soon be out of date, those who have made a study of the matter feel that a new system should be installed. Four governors, going back as far as Gov. Wolcott, have recommended and one inaugurated that some improvement be made in the prison system. She read a letter prepared for the Newton papers, answering objections made by one of the representatives. The present situation, Mrs. Pinkham stated, is comparable to the situation of the insane and their treatment many years ago, which took so many years of work before conditions were ameliorated.

Mrs. B. E. Taylor described the new home of the Welfare Bureau, the Red Cross, the Central Council and other agencies at 12 Austin street. She stated that no name has as yet been settled upon by which the house shall be known, and requested that persons in general do not attach any to it until it has been officially decided. She also reported that occupational therapy is being introduced into Newton, which is the first small city in the state to take up this work. Persons desiring this treatment may report to the Welfare Bureau.

Mrs. Louis Stoughton Drake, president of the Young Women's Christian Association, spoke of the work for girls as it has prospered during its first two years, and bespoke the interest and support of the women of the Newtons.

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

It was with considerable reluctance that on Monday morning we left the delightful environs of Lake Placid, but the air was clear and cool and the pleasure of the ride through the mountains and lakes soon reconciled us to the schedule of the trip. The drive was over all too soon and we reached the famous Ausable Chasm with plenty of time to visit it before luncheon.

If Ausable Chasm was in a western state, we believe that it would be advertised as well as the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river, for it is certainly one of Nature's most marvellous creations.

It is a disgrace to the great state of New York that it allows this wonderful place to be exploited by a private corporation for its own profit. It should be owned by the public fully as much as Niagara Falls or other wonders of Nature.

Ausable Chasm is a portion of the channel of the Ausable River, about six miles from the mouth of the river at Lake Champlain. The chasm is over two miles long, beginning at "Rainbow Falls," which are seventy feet high and where the river is over one hundred feet wide, and ends at the "Basin," the entrance to which is only twelve feet wide.

The waters of this rushing, rapid river, as it leaped from ledge to ledge for untold ages in that section known as the Chasm, has worn through the sandstone until the walls rise perpendicular from the water's edge to a height of two hundred feet. There are many beautiful cascades in the Chasm from ten to seventy feet high, besides caves, natural fissures and gorges branching off into the deep recesses of rock into which the sun has never shone.

Winding stairways, galleries and bridges, securely fastened and protected on the ledges and ravines found in the towering walls, make the Chasm accessible with perfect safety for over a mile from the entrance, the balance of trip being made in a boat which includes "Running the Rapids."

Ausable river resembles ink, the water apparently being black, yet when dipped up is very clear and sparkling. The bed of the stream is covered with a film of black substance coming from a pulp mill located farther upstream. At many points, overlooking the gorge hundreds of feet high, are tiny iron bridges, firmly embedded in the rock over which sight-seeing parties pass. At various points are to be seen projecting rocks resembling elephant heads, lion heads, Indians, etc. Our guide paused at one spot and related a traditional story of an Indian girl who leaped to her death and said that the Indians always referred to this spot as "Lover's Leap."

At two points on the trip through the gorge boats have to be taken for short distances, where there is no opportunity for a path on either side. This is called "Running the Rapids" but they are very tame "rapids" and if I should ever visit the Chasm again I should omit that portion of the trip and return to the entrance instead.

We had a poor lunch at the big hotel in the village and then took automobiles to Port Kent, a few miles away, where a special train took us to Saratoga Springs, stopping a moment en route for us to see Fort Ticonderoga on the shores of Lake Champlain.

The arrangements for housing us at Saratoga Springs were the most complete of any I have ever experienced. On the main we were handed cards which not only gave the number of the room we were to occupy, but explicit directions telling us which elevator to take and which direction to turn.

Incidentally the Grand Union Hotel, although 70 years old, was one of the best managed and most comfortable hotels I have ever visited.

Old fashioned it may be in many particulars, but it was up-to-date in its management and its table was of the very best. It is built around three sides of an interior courtyard and the distances are enormous. The dining room is 300 feet long and seats 950 persons and has an army of 160 waiters. There are 1100 rooms most of them of tremendous size, two full sized beds, with other bed room furniture looking lost in them.

This hotel has been the meeting place of many important political conventions of the State of New York and Theodore Roosevelt was nominated there for governor of the state.

Most of our party took the next day for a trip on Lake George, but I felt the need of rest and elected to stay at the hotel. In the afternoon, the Chamber of Commerce called to take those of us who remained at the hotel, for a drive around the city and we had an opportunity to visit the splendid state bath houses and other points of interest. While on this drive, we had a near accident when a stupid gate tender at a railroad crossing deliberately put down a gate in front of us, after allowing us to pass under the first gate. Fortunately our driver drove hard enough against the gate to break it and allow us to get out of danger at the expense of a broken windshield.

DEATH OF MR. WILDER
Mr. Herbert A. Wilder of Fairmont avenue, whose death occurred last week Saturday at the Phillips House, Boston, was born on June 22, 1837, at Attleboro. His parents were Charles B. Wilder and Mary Ann Guild.

Of late years he has been greatly interested in many educational institutions, especially those connected with Christian missions and the negro. He was a trustee for some years of the following institutions: Atlanta University, Berea College, prudential committee of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions and Newton Hospital.

He had been actively engaged in business as a paper merchant, since he began with his father as a boy, and he was at the time of his death probably the oldest man living in Boston connected with this business. From 1854 to 1897 he was with his brother, the late Charles T. Wilder of Wellesley Hills, as Wilder & Co. After the Boston fire of 1872 this firm gradually turned to the manufacturing of ground wood pulp and news paper with mills at Ashland, N. H., and Lyndon and Barnet, Vt. In 1883 they acquired power on the Connecticut river and built the pulp and news paper mills at Okeet Falls, now Wilder, Vt. Later these mills were sold to the International Paper Company of which, since 1903, Mr. Wilder has been a director.

In his youth the family lived in Chelsea, where Mr. Wilder, on Oct. 11, 1871, married Sara B. Page. Afterward he lived in Winchester and in Newton, where Mrs. Wilder died in 1891. His residence since then has been at 52 Fairmont avenue, Newton, where he was a prominent member of the Eliot Congregational Church.

He leaves a sister, Miss Esther F. Wilder, and daughters, Constance P. Mary C. (Mrs. Everett E. Kent), and Margaret G. Wilder, all of whom live in Newton.

Funeral services were held at his late home on Monday afternoon, two days after his death, by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, and Rev. Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions. Both clergymen paid eloquent tributes to Mr. Wilder's generosity and modesty. The burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

DEATH OF DR. CORKEN
Dr. Charles H. Corken, a dentist of Boston, who was one of the first to lease offices in the Warren Chambers in Boylston street, died last Saturday at his home, 55 Parker street, Newton Centre, in his 76th year, following an illness of several months.

Dr. Corken was a native of Birmingham, England, the son of William Duncan Corken and Margaret (Nansan) Corken. He came to this country when quite young, and having become a dentist he bought out the firm of Ball & Fitch in Tremont street, which business he conducted for a number of years until moving to the Warren Chambers.

Dr. Corken is survived by his wife, who was Adelaide V. Wilson of Montreal, Canada, and three daughters, Miss Gladys Corken, Miss Ruth Corken and Miss Hope Corken, all residing at home.

Services were held at the Unitarian Church, Newton Centre, on Monday, Rev. George L. Parker officiating, and the burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Milton.

TIMMINS MULLAN
Miss Catherine Alice Mullan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mullan of Ashmont avenue, Newtonville, was married in the Church of Our Lady, Newton, last Saturday, to Mr. John Francis Timmins of Waltham.

Miss Elizabeth Agnes Mullan of Newtonville was the bride's only attendant, and Mr. Thomas J. Timmins, Jr., of Waltham, was best man. Mr. Joseph M. Timmins of Waltham and Mr. John A. Timmins of Waverley were ushers.

The bride wore a gown of bridal satin trimmed with Chantilly lace and orange blossoms. The attendant of the bride wore pearl Canton crepe with inserts of ecru lace, and she wore a picture hat to match.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion with ferns and American beauties, was held immediately after the ceremony, the bridal couple receiving under a large bell of white rose petals.

After a trip through New York, Washington, and vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Timmins will make their home in Newtonville where the father of the bride has presented them with a lot of land.

The bride is a graduate of Our Lady's High School and for the last five years has been with the Newton Trust Company. The groom is a World War veteran.

Do you know that the milking is done in a sanitary, careful way?

Do you know that the tuberculin test has been applied to the herd of cattle supplying you with milk and that you are now receiving milk from a tubercular free herd?

Unless you are getting milk handled under these conditions, you are not getting the best. The source of a milk supply will easily determine its quality.

We invite you to inspect our Dairy. If you order from Post Road Farm you will get a rich, clean milk of fine flavor.

HOW NEWTON IS GOVERNED

Charity Department

The care of the poor and needy is one of the important duties of a municipality, a duty enjoined by civilization as well as Christian religion.

It is not so large in its scope in a residential city like Newton, as in manufacturing places and yet the cost to Newton taxpayers is nearly $46,765.54 a year.

The charity department in Newton is in charge of an Overseer of the Poor, appointed annually by the mayor and confirmed by the aldermen. This single headed method of administering the poor department was brought about in 1905, and is a vast improvement over the former system of ward overseers with a secretary and almoner. The present plan concentrates responsibility, prevents imposition and saves expense.

The overseer is assisted in the office, by one clerk, and at the "City Home" as the almshouse is now called by a warden and a matron.

The public statutes require the overseer to relieve the immediate necessities of all applicants for aid. This has evolved the custom that personal application must be made, the statement of a third party not being sufficient evidence of need, as the granting of such relief, pauperizes the recipient.

In the granting of this relief, which usually takes the form of orders delivered by the overseer or on nearby tradesmen in case of emergency, of fuel and food, the overseer exercises his judgment as to the worthiness of the applicant and the amount of aid required. Rents are not paid by the department under any circumstances.

After relief has been granted it is the duty of the applicant to obtain the history of the legal settlement and by whom the expenses shall be paid. This history covers the name, age, birthplace, condition, children, if any, the places and length of residence in each, and parents' name and residence. A legal settlement may be obtained in several ways, the more important being as follows:

A male, 21 years of age, by five years' residence in one place, and adult woman, by five years' residence in any place—married women follow husband's settlement if any, otherwise their own; legitimate children follow father's settlement, if any, if not, they follow the mother's settlement, if any; illegitimate children follow mother's settlement at time of birth, if any; and any person enlisted or assigned as part of the military quota of any city or town during the civil war. A settlement is lost by five years' absence from place of settlement, unless within the five years' a person receives a place of settlement. A military settlement is lost by five years' absence from place of settlement, unless within the five years' a person receives a place of settlement. A military settlement is lost by five years' absence from place of settlement, unless within the five years' a person receives a place of settlement.

Up to 1904 the expense of the insane in the various state institutions was paid by the city in a similar manner as it pays other cities and towns for aid rendered persons, settled in their city. At that time the entire cost of the insane was assumed by the state. Our appropriation for the insane averaged $9000 a year prior to this change, while our share of the state tax for cost of insane this year is above $30,000. An interesting story can be written on this subject.

The department's headquarters at City Hall are full of interesting records and books. Over 5000 indexed histories, Boston directories since 1840 and the entire edition of Newton directories, cover the walls. The records and histories of course are strictly private, and many an interesting story might be written from these short and simple annals of the poor.

While constant efforts are made by the department to place the persons who apply for aid, upon a self supporting basis, there are always chronic cases of pauperism, which are a dead weight upon the strongest efforts.

In some cases, three generations of one family were inmates of the almshouse, and it is evident that heredity plays a large part in the life dramas of these people.

The overseer visits all paupers at least three times a year. The increased cost of our poor department is due largely to not alone the lack of employment and increased cost of necessities of life but to the fact that the wage earners of the city are physically incapacitated, or the mothers are unable to do any work on account of the age of their children. At the City Home, a part of the basement was constructed for the City Store, established in 1912. By means of this store, we are able to buy goods at wholesale and deliver them to the needy at pretty nearly cost. Some of the storekeepers object to this method for this reason. Some of the poor contracted bills for supplies and being unable to meet them by the payment of cash, endeavored to settle accounts in the following manner. An order on the store was given for two or three dollars. In some instances the full amount of the order was not received, therefore, the balance could be placed to their credit, and in such a way they were able in a long run to strike out the old bill. Another case was brought to light, where a storekeeper gave a box of cigars, such as they were, in payment of ten cents and the city order.

All cases admitted to the hospital must be approved by the City Physician except emergencies. The local physicians must consult Dr. Lowe, prior to their admission of patients. In some cases, the physicians have not done this, and the case has not been accepted. Every case admitted to the hospital is investigated, and if settled in another city that city is immediately notified. In some cases efforts are made to collect for the hospital bill, if the family is able to pay something, if not all. Other cities and towns are beginning to charge this city the amount that we charge them.

In 1911 a contract was made with the Newton Hospital to charge the City of Newton the average rate per day per patient for the five preceding years. This rate has steadily increased until the present time the figure is $31.36 per week. This means that on every State case admitted to the hos-

On September 1st, 1913, the State Legislature passed a law known as Mothers' Aid. This law has been in effect 10 years, the results of which have been very gratifying, not only in this city, but all over the entire Commonwealth. Of course, there are restrictions guarding this act, which enables many overseers of the Poor to place each and every case that comes to their attention under the proper class. In some cases, the husband or father, is probably physically incapacitated to perform manual labor. If there are children under fourteen, then, in the opinion of the State Board of Charity, a case worthy of aid under Chapter 763, Acts of 1913. Before any assistance is rendered, a complete history is taken and submitted personally to the Supervisor of this aid. Of course, there is nothing to prevent the overseer from administering relief while the case is before the State Board, if in his or her opinion the aid is needed immediately. The good that this law has done in the past can be plainly seen by going into some of the homes where this relief is received. A woman with one child under fourteen is generally not eligible, it being the belief of the State that she should be able to get along without public assistance. If a woman who has only one child is physically unable to do work, then she can be classed as a Mothers' Aid case. There have been quite a few applications under this law, and some, on account of property conditions have been refused. Many recipients of this aid would never have applied for it if the law had not been passed. If their case is refused then they want the temporary aid, which does pauperize them. The net cost on Mothers' Aid for 1922, was $14,725.03.

The city now possesses a city home erected during Mayor Wilson's administration, on Winchester street, Newton Highlands, which compares favorably with any other wooden almshouse in the state.

It has accommodations for 20 males and 20 females and makes a complete and comfortable home for all unfortunate settled in Newton, who are unable to support themselves outside. The building is lighted by electricity, and has a laundry machine, and hospital wards.

In 1922, there were 20 inmates costing approximately $9.90 per week. The property comprises about 25 acres of land upon which vegetables and a little fruit are raised.

In this connection too much praise cannot be given the warden and matron, Mr. and Mrs. John Ewart. Their care of the unfortunate in their charge is not a perfunctory duty, but is performed with a warm regard for their comfort and a sincere desire to make their duty as pleasant as possible.

UNITARIAN SERVICES

The popularity of the poems of Edgar Guest, as of those of Longfellow, is based on the fact that they attempt to speak a message of comfort to simple troubled souls. True poets never forget that however life changes on its outside the heart goes on needing comfort and inspiration.

The advance of religious thought is visible to all observers, but, at the same time, human hearts never advance beyond the need of comfort in life's surprising ambushes of sorrow or its certain and sure paths of sluggish disappointment.

At the Unitarian Church in Newton Centre, on Sunday, the minister, George Lawrence Parker, will hold a preaching conference on the topic, "A Religion of Comfort." At this service the service of the Communion will be held. Church School meets at ten o'clock; Kindergarten at eleven o'clock under the direction of Miss Helen Fraser, formerly of the famous Gary Schools of Gary, Illinois, and now of Boston University, and the Malden Community School.

The Hale Union, will meet Sunday night, supper at 6.15, speaker Miss Anderson, Western Field Secretary of the Young People's Religious Union, on "Some Reflections on the Youth of the East and the West."

The South Middlesex Conference of Unitarian Church will meet with the Unitarian Church of Newton Centre, on Wednesday, October 24, 3.15. Business; address by Rev. Palfrey Perkins on "The Recent New Haven Conference." Address by Dr. George E. Horr of the Newton Baptist Institution on "The Ministry and Religious Education," address by Mrs. Ella Lyman Cabot on "How to Make Religion Take Hold in Young People." 5 P. M. Discussion and Roll Call. Supper, at 6.30; 7.30 P. M. Devotions by Dr. G. W. Cutter and Rev. M. F. Ham. Address by Rev. W. W. Fenn, D. D., of Harvard University.

The public is cordially invited to attend the sessions and hear the addresses.

INITIATIVE PETITIONS

May I ask the courtesy of an opportunity to reply to an editorial in the Newton Graphic of October 12, 1923, concerning Initiative petitions, because the Massachusetts Civic League is now circulating an Initiative petition for a bill for the classification of prisoners.

In the first place, the editorial opposes the circulation of any Initiative petition for any object, however worthy. Whether or not there should be such a provision in our law was thoroughly discussed in the Constitutional Convention, was recommended by it and adopted by the voters in November, 1918, so that now the Initiative and Referendum is a part of the constitution of the Commonwealth. Surely, the majority of the voters believe there are times when an Initiative petition is in order.

An Initiative petition does not in any way prevent "thorough consideration and wise compromise." It does compel action by the members of the Legislature, rather than evasion by "reference to the next session" or some other subterfuge for dodging the responsibility which rests upon them. It also, compels a roll-call vote so that the people may know where their representatives stand on the issue.

But, if the Legislature can devise a better measure, the proponents of the Initiative petition need not complete the petition by the securing of 5000 additional names after the Legislature adjourns next summer, but can accept and without any doubt would accept, such a measure.

Also, the Legislature has the right to pass a bill which can go on the ballot at the same time as the Initiative petition to be labeled a "Legislative substitute."

Moreover, the bill proposed by the Initiative petition is already the product of a great deal of study and of compromise, as the result of years of agitation and investigation, in some form or other, this question has been before the Legislature for many years, has been recommended by various commissions, by Governors Wolcott, Walsh and Cox in their inaugural messages, has been advocated by the American Prison Association since 1871, and is urged by all leading penologists. We believe that the circulation of an Initiative petition at this time will show how great the public demand for some definite action is. It is entirely within the power of the Legislature to devise the widest method of which they are capable of meeting the essential need which this Initiative petition will compel them to consider. We hope they will avail themselves of the opportunity that is presented to them.

Wenona Osborne Pinkham, Secretary Committee on Prison Problems, Massachusetts Civic League.

ST. PAUL'S PARISH HOLD ANNUAL SUPPER

The annual parish supper of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands, was held in the Parish house last week Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Irving M. Atwood was chairman of the supper committee and every seat was filled, over 200 being served.

Delegates to the Concord, N. H., convention presented a short one-act play entitled, "The Rector's Dream." The entertainers were the Misses Elsie Britton, Elsie Tapper, Phyllis Swail, Ruth Swail, Evelyn E. Ellms, William Payne, Howard Fry and Rev. T. R. Ludlow.

A. A. Cole delivered an address on "The Duty of the Parents," with reference to the teaching of religion to the children. Harry L. Anness spoke on the "Budget System for the Church."

A resolution was adopted regretting the resignation of Rev. T. R. Ludlow, pastor of the church, who leaves the end of the month for Kansas. Mr. Ludlow made a short address on what his three years as pastor of the church meant to him.

Voluntarily to conform to the law of the land.

2. To know and make known the convincing reasons for, and beneficent results of, Prohibition.

3. To support Federal officers and Courts.

4. To aid State and local authorities in such concurrent enforcement as is possible under present law.

5. To vote for the Enforcement Act, passed by the General Court and approved by the Governor, to be submitted at the election in 1924.

6. To support no candidate who will not obey and enforce the law.

7. And furthermore we call for the imposition by the Courts of adequate penalties. So great are the possible profits of the illicit traffic in intoxicants that only jail sentences constitute any real punishment.

DEATH OF MRS. TRIPP

Mrs. Minnie Baldwin Tripp, wife of Col. Willard D. Tripp of 45 Boyd street, Newton, died suddenly Monday at her home from cerebral hemorrhage. She had been in poor health for several days.

Mrs. Tripp was born in Manchester, N. H., Jan. 20, 1851. As a young woman she was employed in the State House in what was then the Department of Public Charities. Her husband worked in another division of the same department, and it was through their work that they became acquainted. They were married in the Harvard Church, Charlestown, Sept. 24, 1873 and recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Tripp have lived in the same house in Newton since 1881. Mrs. Tripp is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. M. Springer, of Woburn, and a brother, Samuel Hobbs of West Newton and Marblehead.

Mrs. Tripp was very active in women's club affairs in Newton. She was a charter member of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., and also a former chaplain of Palestine Chapter, Order of the Channing Unitarian Parish, Newton.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in Channing Church and large delegations were present from the Daughters of the Revolution and from Palestine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. Rev. Chester A. Drummond, pastor of the church, officiated, and officers of the Eastern Star gave the ritual of that order for the deceased member. There was singing by a male quartet and the interment was at Mt. Auburn.

A SCORELESS TIE GAME

Cambridge and Newton High Play a Lifeless Game on Clafin Field

In a slow, listless, lifeless game of football Newton was held to a scoreless tie by Cambridge Latin on Clafin Field, last Saturday. It was a very discouraging game from the Newton standpoint no matter how you look at it. It certainly must be disheartening for a coach to labor faithfully with a team day after day, drilling in enough football for a dozen teams, and then have a team go out on the field and forget everything that they ever knew about offensive football, as Newton did last Saturday.

The game started favorably enough. Dewing won the toss, as usual, and elected to kick off to Cambridge. The ball sailed to Captain Casey on his three yard line, who after a short run back was downed by an avalanche of Newton men. An end run by Nelson did not gain, a plunge through right tackle netted six yards, and Cambridge punted. Gilligan caught the punt neatly, but was downed almost in his tracks. Playing a kicking game, Considine punted on first down to Nelson who got outside of Adams and ran the ball back twenty yards before he was downed. Then a bad pass, which cost Cambridge ten yards, forced them to kick. The ball was caught in the middle of the field, giving Newton offensive a chance to get underway. An end run was thrown for a loss, two forwards were incompleting, and then, on account of some mixup in signals, Considine failed to punt. Cambridge took the ball on downs. After a brief punting duel Tothaker recovered Holbrook's fumble on Newton's forty yard line. On the first play a Newton line man was offside which gave Cambridge five more yards. An end run was thrown for a loss, a forward, Casey to Kenney, netted six yards, and another Casey to Rollins. The colored flash, gained twenty more. Cambridge was dangerous, the ball was on Newton's ten yard line, but they could not push it across. A line buck gained three yards, the net play was smeared for a loss by Oakes and Lovejoy, and the quarter was over.

The Teams changed positions, and the interrupted drive for a touchdown was on again. Dewing stopped the next one and Kervorkian blocked an attempted drop kick, but Cambridge recovered the ball again on Newton's thirty yard stripe. The line held and the ball came to Newton on downs.

After an exchange of punts MacQuiston came in place of Considine. His arrival seemed to pep things up for Holbrook got off a beautiful long punt which Nelson caught, and getting outside of the Newton end once again he twisted up the field for twenty-five yards. Kervorkian stopped the next play for a loss, but in doing so broke his leg and had to be carried off the field. Newton was then penalized fifteen yards for contestants leaving the field of play. MacQuiston intercepted a forward, running it back twelve yards. On the next play he made eighteen yards more off tackle, almost getting away. After another penalty for offside which left Newton with fifteen yards to gain, a distance which they were unable to make. For the rest of the half both teams punted and waited for the breaks.

The second half was a repetition of the first. Newton played wonderfully well on the defensive—as they have in every game this year—in fact they played so well defensively in the second half that Cambridge did not make a first down except on penalties. But the offensive was terrible; it was every thing it should not be. It looked as if the backs did not know what to do with the ball. Time and time again, two Newton backs would go up to a Cambridge tackle or end, lean against him gracefully, and watch him make the tackle. Yet when the backs would do their part and take a man out as he should be taken out, then a guard or centre would sift through a hole in the Newton line and tackle the man from behind.

Offensive play in football, like golf, is two good plays or drives in succession. This is just what Newton could not do. They would get off the good play and then fizzle out or go. Of course there were one or two exceptions when for a very short space of time Newton flashed brilliantly.

Up until the time of his injury Kervorkian played a great game. It seems strange that when one star, MacQuiston, should get well, Kervorkian, another, should be laid up. Oakes played a good game in the line as did Rollins and Casey for Cambridge.

Tomorrow, Newton plays Malden, the league leaders, at Malden. On the strength of Malden's record compared with Newton's record, it looks like an easy victory for Malden. But coach Dickinson has been working hard on Clafin Field this week and judging the result by his performances in the past, Malden may get a surprise.

Football is a strange game, one never knows what the result will be until the last whistle is blown.

THE ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Franklin T. Miller of Auburndale was the guest and speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held Monday, at the Newton clubhouse.

Mr. Miller has just returned from a trip through the West and Northwest to study business conditions and he gave a most interesting account of a visit to Central America, Mexico, California, British Columbia and the Canadian Northwest. His summary of the situation was to the effect that there has been an overproduction in many kinds of business and that until the primary buyer begins to purchase, business conditions will not be improved. He laid considerable emphasis on the increase in water borne freight and its benefit to those parts of the country adjoining the sea shore. The Charter Night of the Club was fixed for Wednesday, November 21st.

GIRL SCOUTS COOKIE DAY

COOKIES! Real, freshly baked, crisp cookies! Girl Scout Cookies—made by Girl Scouts according to a Girl Scout recipe, are going to be sold in this city, on Saturday, October 27, all day. Look for the posters in your own village. Look for the store window, for the booths, for the Girl Scouts. Everyone will want to buy some of the cookies. Order early and make sure of them.

In some of the villages the girls will make the cookies at the centre in which they are sold. The Newton Gas Company has very kindly loaned gas stoves for the Scouts to use in these centres and the girls will be able to demonstrate their cooking badges really mean something.

Furthermore every cookie so made, purchased and eaten will taste even better than it otherwise would, for every cookie will help by the amount paid for it, to swell the fund which is being raised all over the United States to keep the Girl Scout movement moving faster than ever this coming year.

Cookies will be on sale in the following places—Follow the arrows:

Newton—Edmonds and Byfield, Centre street.

West Newton—Needham's Store, Walnut Street.

West Newton—Corner of Chestnut and Washington Streets.

Auburndale—Corner Commonwealth Avenue and Lexington Street.

Newton Centre—The Woman's Club.

Newton Upper Falls—Mrs. Watson's Store, Chestnut Street.

Down the long room stretched a double row of tables filled with little people whose beaming faces added to the festive appearance of the hall. Each table was decorated with gay orange paper tablecloths bordered with owls, bats, and other strange creatures appropriate to the occasion. Black-cat transparencies and cut-outs, orange candles, and autumn flowers gave touches of color to the scene.

The kindergarten class had the seats of honor at the raised end of the hall. Like Little Tommy Tucker, the older ones opened the evening by "singing for their supper" around the piano.

After the refreshments had been served and enjoyed, by everybody present, several of the Sunday School classes competed for prizes offered for the best entertainment of the evening.

A class of boys, bearing lettered pages were then "sorted" by popular acclaim until their emblems spelled the name of the song hits of the day. They were promptly sung by all present.

Topsy-Turvy House was rendered by Miss Webster's class; and followed on the program by Miss Mary Sprague's class in a Walter Camp Drill. Mr. Bliss's class won the first prize given for best behavior as they sat quietly at their table during the evening without their teacher who was unable to be present.

The prize for 100 per cent attendance was divided between this same class and that of Miss Webster.

The Junior Parish carried off the prize for the best stunt on the program by giving a most amusing song called "John Brown's Baby Had a Cold in Its Chest."

It was optional as to whether two or three sets were to be played in the semi-finals. Rice and Goodman electing to play two, while Quick and Fitts played three.

RENEW ACTIVITIES

Norumbega District Boy Scouts Ready For Fall Work

The various troops have started the season in good shape and begun their fall hikes and camping. Troop 1, of Newtonville, Mr. Richard Cotton, Scoutmaster, have been on several trips, one of which at least was to their new camp in the "Ohio." The council camping grounds south of Needham. This camp was built last year and the scouts of this troop are very proud of it. Troop 2, of Auburndale, Mr. E. C. Hiliard, Scoutmaster, have decided to build a camp one for the present at least, will join with Troop 9, Mr. A. A. Foster, Scoutmaster, also of Auburndale, in putting up a cabin in another section of the "Ohio," later each troop will have its own cabin.

Troop 4, of Newton Highlands, Mr. F. E. Lichenthaler, Scoutmaster, have had a very active summer and began their fall work with a special meeting at which the troop was addressed by Mr. Ralph Cobleigh on the subject of "Unselfish Service," the subject emphasized by Mr. Cobleigh being that Scouting should not be considered as a form of entertainment but as an opportunity to learn how to serve. The scoutmaster and S. P. L. MacIver spent two weeks during the summer in the mountains of North Carolina, climbing Mt. Mitchell and Grandfather mountain, and having many interesting experiences, one of which was camping overnight with a party of scouts from the different parts of the south.

Troop 5, Newton Centre, Mr. M. I. Stone, Scoutmaster, are going to build a cabin in the "Ohio" also. Money has been raised, plans made and the work will be started very soon. It is expected that the scouts will do all the work of building, supervised and directed by the local scout officers.

Troop 9, Auburndale, has had several well attended meetings and as mentioned above is joining in with troop 2, to build a cabin as an objective for hikes.

Troop 11, Newton, have had several meetings and two regular hikes, one to their cabin in the "Ohio." Mr. John Woodbridge, Jr., who has been Scoutmaster for the past two years has been appointed to the Troop Committee. Mr. Woodbridge entered the Harvard Graduate School, this fall and found that he could not spare the time which the responsibility of being scoutmaster continuously, and actively, in scout work from his twelfth birthday until he reached the requisite age is one to be envied. No successor has been appointed as yet.

Every scout should know that the different libraries have many excellent books which are helpful to those preparing for tests or merit badge examinations. Certain merit badge pamphlets can be attained also at the libraries on the usual loaning terms.

Men who like boys and are willing to make scouting their form of public service as well as recreation are requested to get in touch with the Commissioner, Mr. Wm. Beach Pratt, 763 Washington street, Newtonville, or with Mr. James C. Irwin, President of the Council at 43 Highland avenue, Newtonville. How better the growing generation learn to live up to the high ideals of such an organization as the Boy Scouts of America.

There will be a meeting of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts at the Newton Club house, Newtonville, on Tuesday, October 30, at 8 P. M. As this is an important meeting all adults interested in Boy Scout work and every member of the troop committees should make it a point to attend.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The "City Government Night" of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Newton Club next Tuesday evening, October 30, promises to be one of the most interesting and successful meetings yet held by the Chamber. This is indicated by the response already received from the notices sent out to the Chamber membership, and the acceptance on hand from members of the Board of Aldermen and other city officials who have been invited to be the guests of the Chamber on this occasion.

All advance signs point to a large attendance at the dinner, and an even larger attendance during the discussion of the interesting subjects listed by the program committee for consideration by the Chamber. Members who have not yet made dinner reservations, and desire to do so, would do well to give the matter their early attention as the dinner accommodations are limited.

The questions listed for discussion are three in number, each of special interest to a large number of Newton citizens, and are as follows:

1. What action shall be taken by the Chamber in regard to the proposed twenty per cent increase in the price of commutation tickets on the Boston & Albany Railroad?

2. What action shall be taken by the Chamber in regard to recommending to the Board of Aldermen that it would be desirable to acquire the plot of land bounded by Commonwealth Avenue, Walnut Street and Homer Street, to be held for municipal purposes at some future time?

3. What do the residents of the respective villages desire as to parking and one-way street regulations, in connection with the proposed traffic ordinance for Newton; and, should the Chamber seek at this time to determine the best solution to the problem of what to do with heavy trucking on the residential streets of the city?

The discussion of the question of increased fares on the Boston & Albany will be especially opportune at this meeting because of the public hearing lines has petitioned the Department of Public Utilities on November 5, the Monday immediately following the meeting of the Chamber. The Boston & Albany Railroad, in common with the Boston & Maine and New Haven lines, has petitioned the Department of Public Utilities for approval of an increase in the price of 12-trip tickets, applying to all stations within 15 miles of Boston; and in the price of monthly and students commutation tickets. The proposed increase of twenty per cent would affect the commutation tickets in force from all of the twelve stations in Newton. Thousands of the 12 ride tickets are bought by Newton residents and a large number of students tickets by the young people of the city who attend the higher institutions of learning in Boston.

The second question on the Chamber program revives a controversy of long standing. That there is a marked difference of opinion regarding the advisability of the acquisition for municipal purposes of the so-called "Commonwealth Avenue Triangle" has been evidenced many times and in many ways. There are some citizens who believe that this is the proper location for a future civic center, while others who deem it desirable as merely an addition to the playground or park systems of the city. There is another group who desire that the city buy it for the purpose of beautifying that section of the city, through removing present unsightly buildings and preventing the construction of others, leaving its final use as a matter that can be determined at some future time.

There are still others who analyze the question from merely an economic viewpoint. Its probable cost to the city, the loss in taxable property, and whether it would enhance surrounding real estate values sufficiently to offset the loss in tax income and the purchase price involved. And another group look upon the question as one strictly local in character and argue that the benefit would be enjoyed only by those who live or own property in the immediate vicinity, while a number are sure that the benefit would accrue to the city as a whole and that the question is fully as vital to the citizen who lives in the more distant sections of Newton as to those who live nearby.

The matter has been reported upon adversely by previous City Governments and would perhaps not come up again at this time excepting for rumors of contemplated building operations and the assertion by local real estate interests that—should the city

The third question, having to do with parking and one-way street regulations, in connection with the proposed traffic ordinance, promises to bring out another diversified assortment of opinions of a type that should insure an interesting and lively discussion. The Chamber's Traffic Ordinance committee, including the chiefs of the police and fire department, the street commissioner, an ex-alderman who has long been recognized as a diligent student of local traffic conditions, and others, have unanimously recommended the adoption of regulations restricting parking in Nonantum Square and adjoining streets to not more than fifteen minutes. This proposed regulation, in conjunction with others proposed by the Chamber Traffic Ordinance Committee, has been approved by the Board of Directors of the Chamber.

On the other hand the Mercantile Division of the Chamber takes an entirely different view of the matter. Meetings of protest have been held by the business men of the Newton Corner section, as a result of which a petition was recently forwarded to the Aldermanic Special Committee on Traffic Ordinance protesting against the adoption of this regulation. Practically every business man in the affected area signed this petition, and several have announced their intention of being present at the coming Chamber meeting to say just how they feel about the matter.

This is but one of the several interesting angles of the traffic ordinance question and it is hoped that the discussion will throw sufficient light on the situation to assist the Board of Aldermen in determining when the matter comes before them for final action—what is really best for Newton and the greatest number of its citizens.

POLICE COURT

James J. Lennon of Roxbury, was in the Newton Police Court Monday morning charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by patrolmen P. Conlon and J. F. O'Donnell Sunday night just before 7 o'clock. According to the story told in court, Lennon borrowed a car owned by a friend of his, Manuel Gray of 3 Whittier street, Roxbury. The car was standing in front of Gray's house and Gray's 5-year old son was sitting in it. Lennon drove away, dropped the youngster and was arrested when he reached Newton. He pleaded guilty. The drunkenness charge was filed, and he was sentenced to one month in the House of Correction for operating under the influence of liquor. He appealed and was held in bonds of $300.

NEW REPUBLIC

A MOST REMARKABLE RANGE

WOULDN'T you like a fine big range in your house with 4 coal cooking holes—4 gas cooking covers—a coal oven—2 gas ovens and a gas broiler that you could use if the occasion required all at one time?—or that you could use any part of it anytime?

TURN on the gas and push a button to light it. You'll never be satisfied until you have a Magee New Republic in your kitchen.

IT works just as good as it looks—is made in Pearl Gray Porcelain or Ebony Black, nickel trimmed, one of the many good ones in the big Magee line.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

 Leverett D. G. Bentley

Somewhat we disagree with those who think it bad taste to brag of the good points of one's own city. Of course we have no sympathy with the "booster" who offends by insisting that the neck of the woods in which he resides (and has real estate to sell) is "God's Country." But we like to say a kind word for the home town when we feel it should be said and for our neighbors when we believe they deserve it. The point we wish to stress, as the orators sometimes put it, is the vision possessed by those who saw to it that Newton should have not only the very best water system but an auxiliary that would be available in event of a drought. All the talk that other cities and towns have heard the past weeks when rain was so badly needed has not applied to Newton. In fact, certain State officials, who are of necessity careful not to offend the heads of any municipality by invidious comparisons, have privately praised Newton for its foresight. They have said that when other places were urged that there might come a time when a larger water system would be imperative no attention was paid to the suggestion. Newton was not deaf to sound advice. Consequently while so many municipalities have been obliged recently to lay out money for connections with unprotected sources of supply, chemical tests before such water could be used and other costly expenditures, Newton has simply turned on the auxiliary supply. Not one man's sagacity was entirely responsible, but the city government itself had an eye to the future. We wonder if this doesn't answer some of those disposed to knock the performances of "the men who ran things at City Hall years ago."

It may have slipped the mind of many Newton people that several of our prominent citizens are taking part in the study of the most important problems that confront the State. In this connection it is noted with more than passing interest that the Governor has found in this city individuals upon whom he can rely to give their attention (without compensation) to the study of the most important problems that confront the State. In this connection it is noted with more than passing interest that the Governor has found in this city individuals upon whom he can rely to give their attention (without compensation) to the study of the most important problems that confront the State.

approval. Frequently it makes an otherwise normal man or woman most solemn and grave. Scientific books written by retired ministers or Scandinavian sociologists supply their entire reading. They speak of the need of more buildings, or more teachers, of a wider curriculum and more intensive consideration of the juvenile mentality. It is only recently, however they have discovered that school teachers cannot live on the same daily menu as goldfish. Regarding the latter point we wish to say that anyone who tries to convince us a school teacher is receiving more pay than she earns is wasting time. Such a thing never happened, at least in our opinion. On the other hand, we demand more figures than we have thus far seen to prove to us that teachers are adequately paid. However, as long as there are Aldermen you will hear them say the School Board is teaching too many fads and spending too much money. Likewise, as long as there are School Boards they will insist upon experimenting foolishly while the taxpayers meet the cost. It is said that there are pupils who take delight in tormenting their teachers. We wonder if all pupils wouldn't enjoy going to school even more if they knew that by the mere fact of their existence they were causing no end of worry and mental distress to the members of the School Board.

At first we read it thus—"How Is Newton Governed?" Then we saw at once our mistake for it describes "How Newton Is Governed." And there is no exclamation point—at least not yet.

HATCH-PHILLIPS

Trinity Church, Newton Centre, was the scene last Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Miss Eleanor Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Briggs Phillips and Mr. Paul Hatch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Hatch of Newton Centre.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white chiffon with a court train of white satin, and veil of tulle and rare old Italian lace. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Frances Galloway of Boston, wore a gown of green and gold tulle and lace. Her bouquet was of brown velvet with mandarin plumes and she carried Aaron Ward roses and blue larkspur.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Madeline Converse of Newton and Miss Dorothy Harris of Brookline wore gowns of mandarin georgette and lace and carried pale Ophelia roses and blue Tibbons.

Rosalind Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott Rogers of Fall River, was the flower girl. She wore a gown of peach tulle with hat to match and carried a basket of white daisies with blue ribbons.

Mr. Frank C. Hatch, Jr., of Baltimore was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Roger S. Phillips, brother of the bride, Leigh S. Hall of Concord, N. H.; Ralph C. Piper of Concord, Mass.; and Joseph C. Hallett, of Newton.

Following the ceremony at the church, there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the decorations being white laurel leaves and chrysanthemums.

After a motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will live on Ripley Hill Road, Concord, Mass.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Coolness on the part of Lt. Philip Elliott and Lt. Robert Nagle of the army aviation reserve corps saved them when the motor of an army plane from the East Boston Airport in which they were flying over Lynn harbor, Saturday afternoon, suddenly went dead, sending the machine into a nose dive and headed for deep water several hundred feet below. By vigorous efforts Lt. Elliott righted the plane and then made a perfect descent in about 15 feet of water. Save for their plunge in the water both said they were unhurt.

Just before the plane struck both jumped and then clung to a wing of the machine until they were rescued by four young men of Nahant, who put out in a 20-foot dory, and by the Nahant Life Saving Station crew.

Lt. Elliott resides on Charlesbank road, Newton.

—America needs more than anything else statesmen of vision who can interpret the signs of our times to all the people. In the troubled day in which we live the noises and mere sounds of politics and even the common life hide the real meanings. Once in the days of Jesus a great noise was heard in the sky and the quaint narrative of the New Testament says that some of the people said that an angel spoke. Now who was right, the thunder-clappers or the angel-speakers? What do the noises of our day mean, both in our public and private life? What does the shout and wall in Europe mean? Such questions need interpretation. At the Unitarian Church, next Sunday morning the minister, George Lawrence Parker, will hold a preaching conference on the topic "Thunder Claps or Angel Voices, Which?" Without attempting to explain all the noises of today Mr. Parker will seek to suggest that there is a better and deeper way of understanding them than most people yet realize. The Sunday School meets at 10 o'clock and the Kindergarten, under the charge of Miss Fraser of Boston University, meets during church hour; younger children may attend kindergarten while their parents attend church.

"Mr. and Mrs. Jones were terribly worried, in fact, all the Jones were worried from Grandma down to Baby Tom, who didn't quite understand it all, but who was worried just the same, and well might they all be worried for the 1923 TAX BILL had just come, and Papa Jones hadn't saved any money.

Young Mrs. Smith, who lived next door, happened to call that afternoon on Mrs. Jones, and, of course, heard about the trouble. She sympathized with Mrs. Jones and confidentially told her that she and her husband had anticipated that very thing themselves, and had, therefore, deposited on the 10th day of EVERY MONTH, so that it would earn dividends, in the WEST NEWTON SAVINGS BANK, a fractional part of the estimated tax bill, and now all they had to do was to go down to the Bank and draw enough money to cover their tax bill.

Mrs. Jones thought that Mrs. Smith had been very wise in thinking ahead, and decided to follow her example. ARE YOU a Mrs. Jones or a Mrs. Smith?

BETTER MUSIC QUICKLY MASTERED ON THE GULBRANSEN

Listen to the playing of a Gulbransen. Compare it with the average hand playing heard. Gulbransen playing is infinitely more expressive, more artistic. This is a broad statement, but true; and important because it points the way for you to play with your own individuality and expression, but without long and tedious study. Remember these facts: First, the Gulbransen is easy to play; second, you do the playing just as you would play any instrument; third, it is the only player-piano with instruction rolls. ## WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

A growing interest in the putting across of club activities was clearly manifest by the large number of club correspondents who gathered in Boston on Wednesday for the Round Table Conference of the new department of Press and Publicity of the State Federation. The press chairman should be a member of the executive board or at least be allowed to sit in on the deliberations. That was stressed by all the speakers, for in no other way can the person charged with the responsibility of interpreting the club to the community do it efficiently. A close co-operation between the Program Committee and the Press committee was urged, in fact between the latter and all the other committees. A person cannot give out notices unless she has something to give out. She must get the perspective of things and their relative importance much better when she sees the plans growing up rather than waiting to have them handed out all ready-made. Newton club women have realized for many years the value of club publicity and have co-operated most heartily with the Club Editor's efforts to serve them.

At the conference on Wednesday afternoon it was good to see and hear Mrs. Florence T. Hunt, the veteran newspaper woman, who edited the club page in the Boston Herald for so many years, as well as Mrs. Bowles of the Transcript, Mrs. Cowles of the Advertiser, and Mrs. Blanchard, the present editor of the Herald's page. The personal touch between the correspondents and the press women was advised as one means of securing the desired publicity. All in all it was a conference of more than ordinary value, in that it was a real conference, and there was ample time for the exchange of thought and for the asking and answering of questions.

State Federation

Massachusetts is to be honored with a visit from Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, chairman of Public Health in the General Federation, who will spend about three weeks here speaking before clubs and meeting chairmen of Public Health committees throughout the state. On November 1st she will attend the department meeting and the meeting of the State Federation executive board. There will be a conference of New England work in the other, the northern, Scotland. The animals were all there, the pigs, and his Ark, and two cleverly constructed cages behind the bars of which candy and ice cream cones were sold. The tight-rope walker balanced cleverly upon a net high in the centre of the hall and attracted much attention.

Professional Women's Club

Newton members of the club are reminded of the Halloween Tea and reception at the home of the president, Mrs. Eva Macey Watson, 585 Beacon street, Boston, on October 30, from 4 to 7 P. M.

Newton Federation

Save November 7 for the Autumn meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, when the Community Service Club of West Newton will be the hostess. Rabbi Harry Levi will be the speaker.

Newton W. C. T. U.

Thursday, November 1, at 2.30 P. M. at the home of Mrs. DeWitt Wilcox, 132 Homer street, Newton Centre, Miss Florence Luscomb will speak on "Studies in Government." There will be music and refreshments. All are cordially invited.

Sunday evening, November 4th, at 7.15 the Vesper Service at the Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre. Mrs. Alice G. Ropes will speak on "Our Nation's Bulwark."

Local Announcements

Monday evening, October 29, at 8 o'clock the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will hold an Indoor Garden Party. There will be a concert by the Faddettes and solo dancing. Refreshments will be on sale.

Miss Eunice Avery will give the first of her talks upon Current Events before the Newton Community Club at the Hunnewell Club House on Thursday, November 1st.

The visiting committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club will hold a get-together party at eight o'clock Saturday, October 27th, at the home of Mrs. Harold C. Morris, 248 Grove street. The entertainment will consist of old fashioned games and hallo-wen stunts. Mrs. Edmond L. Wilson, chairman and other members of the committee will act as hostesses. The guests will be asked to contribute a penny for each past birthday, the proceeds to purchase flowers during the club year for decoration and distribution.

The Reception committee will give its second tea at the Club House on October 30th, from 4 to 5.

On November 15 a matinee party will be held at the Repertory Theatre in Boston. Tickets may be secured at the next club meeting, November 5.

A Rummage Sale will be held by the Newton Highlands Woman's Club on Saturday, November 3rd, in the store formerly occupied by Neale's Variety Shop. Members may leave contribution there the afternoon before or at the house of the member of the Civics and Volunteer Service Committee who lives near. An auto will collect if chairman of committee is notified. The second meeting of the Drama Class will be held at 19 A. M., Tuesday, Nov. 13, in the Parish House of the Episcopal Church. "Windows," a typical Galsworthy play is to be read under the leadership of Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse. It is not too late to join this class as there are still four more readings.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met on Monday with Mrs. C. E. Quinn of

Newton Centre. In connection with the study of Norway Mrs. Starkie discussed the period of the Sagas, bringing out many interesting facts relative to the myths and legends of ancient Scandinavia. A paper was also given treating of the home life of the Norwegian peasants, which was extremely interesting as showing the strange and curious customs of these simple people.

Mrs. Arthur W. Lane for the senior members and Miss Mary Slater for the junior members of the Auburndale Woman's Club, pled warmly at the meeting of the club on Tuesday afternoon for loyal support of the "real" Christmas party to be given to fifty children on December 18 by the Junior club members. Much satisfaction was felt at the announcement that the auction and sale, held October 15 by the committee on Friendly Cooperation with Ex-Service Men, had netted over $200.

Miss Dorothea Kellar of Rowe street this year, gave the club a chance to win the club's scholarship for become better acquainted with her by reading from her valedictory on Roosevelt, given last June at the high school.

An introduction to the entertainment part of the meeting, Miss Julia Ritter McCormick sang delightfully four Irish songs, among them the familiar "Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls," and three others less well known. The members then had the great privilege of listening to Rev. J. Edgar Park, of the Second Church in West Newton, give a most illuminating and absolutely fair-minded presentation of the Irish problem of today. "An Irishman's View of Ireland." Taking up first the four different attitudes: the Ulsterite's, the Irishman's, the Englishman's and the American's then touching briefly on the two chief differences in Ireland today—the question of Ulster's boundaries, and of De Valera and the Republicans—he concluded with an earnest plea for each to see the good in the other, the northern Scotchman with his principle, to understand the southern Irishman with his love of persons and his kindly nature. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

Waban Woman's Club Holds Animal Fair

The Neighborhood Club House at Waban became a veritable circus grounds on Wednesday under the skillful hands of the decorating committee of the Waban Woman's Club. The animals were all there, the pigs, and his Ark, and two cleverly constructed cages behind the bars of which candy and ice cream cones were sold. The tight-rope walker balanced cleverly upon a net high in the centre of the hall and attracted much attention.

Those who were in charge included: Mrs. J. Earle Parker, chairman; Mrs. Eugene Bissell, and Mrs. Harry Tilton; ice cream, Mrs. E. J. Shiland; food, Mrs. Edgerton and Mrs. Cranston; fancy articles, Mrs. H. S. Kimball and other former presidents of the club; white elephant table, Mrs. Dana M. Dutch; candy, Mrs. O. R. Rice; soft drinks, Mrs. Fred Gourey; Noah's Ark, filled with things to delight the children, Mrs. Charles St. Lawrence; grabs, Mrs. Howard M. North. Mrs. Wilfred White was the Fortune Teller, Mrs. Austin C. Bourne was in charge of the check room.

At 8.30 the big show was given in the Circus tent, arranged on the stage, under the direction of Mr. Charles W. Brooks, wearing the costume of a circus ring master. He first announced the Fat Lady, represented by Miss Nancy Kimball, whose chest expansion was most extraordinary. "The Living Skeleton" resembling a pole, proved to be Mr. E. J. Shiland. "The Bearded Woman and Hairy Child," were virtually, Mr. John Beal and "Rags," an Irish Terrier. Next appeared "The Organ Grinder," Mrs. Robert Moore, and her lively monkey, Natalie North, and the Dutch goose, Dana Dutch, who waddled around like the real bird. Then there was the Bathing Girl, Mr. George L. Anthony, and the Camel whose two humps were really Ned Symonds and Richard Anthony, led by their Arabian master, Frank Spain. There were also two clever dances, the first, a Sailor's dance by Isabel White and the Newboys' Dance by the Misses White and Hatch. A circus would never be complete without clowns who are always performing entertaining stunts. The Waban Circus clowns included Mrs. Karl E. Mosser, Mrs. Sidney O. Clark, Mrs. Harold W. Cheney, Mrs. F. Roscoe Webster, Mrs. M. H. Talbot, Mrs. George R. Walker, and Mrs. Robert G. Buchold.

The proceeds will be salted down for a Sturpits Fund to meet coming needs of the club.

Newton Circle Benefit

Mrs. Harry N. Milliken opened her home on Tuesday afternoon for a benefit Auction Party for the Newton Circle. In spite of the severe storm ninety-two women sat down to play passing in this way a delightful afternoon. Tea was served at the close by Mrs. Alfred R. McIntyre and Miss Mabel L. Riley assisted by Mrs. Harold Sawyer, Mrs. Richard Boyer, Mrs. Fred Abbott, Mrs. Elliot Whitney, Miss Dagmar Linquist, Miss Rhoda Cohen. A substantial sum was netted for the work of the Circle.

UNDER $5,000 BONDS

Irving Haywood, aged 19, colored, of 21 Simms avenue, West Newton, was held in $5000 for the sitting of the Grand Jury the first Monday in November, in the Newton Police Court, Tuesday morning, after Judge Bacon had found probable cause on the charge of assault with intent to kill. Haywood was fined $100 on the charge of carrying a loaded revolver without a permit. He appealed this fine and bonds were set at $300. A charge of non-support of his wife was continued until Nov. 15.

It is alleged that on the night of Oct. 12 Haywood had an argument with another colored man, Bennett Hill, aged 28, of 29 Virginia road, West Newton, during which he shot Hill in the arm.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY DRAKE

NEWTON CENTRE SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The first open meeting of the Newton Centre School Association was held on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 24, in the Mason School Hall. In spite of the very bad weather the hall was full, showing the interest that has been awakened in the community in the relationship of the parents to the teachers and the schools and their problems. After two piano selections by Miss Helen Washburn reports of various committees were given. These reports told of work in the past but more especially of plans for the coming year. Over crowding at the High School, school cars, Americanization work, supplementary libraries, work done by the District Nurse, and the observation of National Education week were some of the topics upon which reports were made. Several suggestions came from the floor as to subjects that might properly be taken up by the Association.

Mrs. Winslow, the president, then gave the meeting over to Mrs. Giddings, chairman of the Program Committee. She suggested various matters that stood out as problems or subjects of interest for both teacher and parent. These questions were introduced by a member of the Association and discussion from the floor followed, the discussion bringing out many new points. Two of the most interesting of the topics discussed were: Rewards to pupils and classes; are they of value?

Is it harmful or valuable for our children to take part in outside entertainments?

Mr. Paul answered some of the questions that arose and explained very clearly several of the methods used in school. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The Association announces two meetings for the near future. One on Nov. 7 at 2:30 in Mason School Hall for High School parents to discuss overcrowding in the High School.

On Nov. 21 at 3:30 at the same place a meeting in recognition of National Education Week will be held. During this week visitors will be specially welcomed at the schools in this district.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

Miss Mildred E. Manter, department teacher of Arithmetic since 1913, is obliged to take a leave of absence for the rest of this year on account of impaired health. She gave up the duties of her position on Friday. In honor of her lengthy and efficient services a party of the Emerson teachers motored to Wellesley on Wednesday afternoon, where a dinner was served at the "Blue Dragon." On Thursday noon, Miss Manter was summoned before all the assembled teachers. She was presented with a gold pin, a bar with an emethyst set in the centre. Coupled with the gift went the united wishes of all the teachers for the return of health and the return next September of Miss Manter to service at the Emerson.

Mrs. Simonton of Cambridge, has been secured to take up the work of departmental teacher of arithmetic for the rest of the year. Formerly Mrs. Simonton was a highly successful teacher in the schools of Chicago.

The football team won the game from the Hyde team by a score of 20 to 0.

Monday forenoon, Mr. Mac-

Brayne, gave a short talk and two reels of moving pictures to the entire school in the Hall. The pictures shown were actual scenes taken at the crossings and along the streets of Boston.

They showed the carelessness of pedestrians and resulting accidents. Facts and figures were thrown upon the screen to give added force to the picture lesson. The lesson is a part of the program of the Massachusetts Safety Council to teach the children of our public schools the need and the way of practicing safety at the crossings.

Mr. MacBrayne is the agent of the Council in doing this important work.

Horace Mann School

The record of attendance at the Horace Mann School continues high. A banner is awarded to each of two rooms having the highest percent of attendance. Miss Larrabee's fifth grade has the first one and Miss O'Neil's first grade has the second one. The milk lunches are being taken by 65% of the children this week. The highest or 86 percent was obtained by the fourth grade, Mrs. Adams, teacher. The first grade has 73 percent and Miss Chissoon's fourth grade 72 percent.

The report from the Newton Savings Bank credits the Horace Mann School with $222.64, from its stamp machine. There are 83 children who have saving accounts. They are in the various rooms as follows: grade I, eleven; grade II, twelve; grade III, eight; grade IV, Miss Chissoon, seven; grade V, Mrs. Adams, fifteen; grade V, seven; grade V and VI, Miss Chase, fourteen; grade VI, nine.

The names of new depositors for the last two weeks are Dorothy Carroll, William Loud, Eleanor Hanlon, Davis Perlmuter, Leighton Harris, Lewis Bray, Madeline Johnson.

Stearns School Centre

Every fall and spring the Newton Girls' Club have a class in millinery and in three lessons the girls take home pretty hats that they make for themselves or their mothers; the fall millinery class has just closed and the lamp shade class has opened with several girls who have come to learn how to make pretty floor lamps, boudoir lamps and shades.

Last Saturday ten members went to Snow Shoe Cottage, Wellesley, to participate in the monthly inter club sports. Late in the afternoon the girls built a log cabin fire in the woods, coffee was served and they enjoyed their supper sitting around the fire telling stories, singing, exchanging summer experiences and drinking in the beauties of a fall night.

The Baby Clinic Committee of the Stearns School Centre, met at Mrs. Cecil W. Clark's home, 306 Walnut Street, Wednesday, October 24, to talk over plans for the coming year.

Stearns School

A very delightful tea was held at the home of Miss Pauline Trask and Miss Emily Childs on Saturday afternoon. Chrysanthemums and roses decorated the rooms. Mrs. Trask and Miss Buffum poured at the attractive tea table. Music on violin and piano and vocal selections were enjoyed by the guests. During the afternoon about a hundred guests were received by the hostesses.

Thursday evening of last week, the Stearns teachers enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Goddard at her home in Brighton. Miss Parker was guest of honor, and told in a delightful manner of her trip through the Canadian Rockies, taken last summer. She was one of a party of nine members of the Appalachian Club. They—with six helpers, guides, and thirty horses spent seven weeks in the heart of the mountains going into sections where few parties have ever penetrated. They climbed mountains—some of the party making the top of St. Donald in the Silikisks—explored glaciers, including the Columbia Ice Field, forded swift flowing rivers with the water rushing above the horse's stirrups and had many thrilling adventures. Miss Parker also visited Alaska, Yellowstone Park, and brought home many lovely pictures of her summer's outing. Some of the teachers had already visited these sections and they found a particular joy in reliving their experiences, while the less fortunate ones became more determined, with each passing minute to visit these picturesque spots, if not next summer, then in the near future. Delicious refreshments were served, and music by Mr. Goddard concluded a very delightful evening.

Lasell

The field hockey game between Newton High school team and the Lasell team was scheduled for Thursday afternoon, at the Newton High school at Newtonville.

Friday afternoon, Dr. Leon H. Vincent will give the second of his series of lectures, his subject being, "Anglo-Indian Romance: Rudyard Kipling."

At the usual hour on Sunday afternoon, Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles will conduct "Evensong" A musical vesper service.

F. A. Day Junior High School

The football team is in prime condition for the first game of the season with the Southern Junior High of Waltham, to be played on the West Newton Common, Thursday afternoon. A victory to begin the season is hoped for. The entire squad is to be used so that Mr. Simmons will get a good line on all the candidates under fire.

Barbara Costello and Marjorie Sisson of the ninth grade have prepared a bulletin board at the entrance to the lunch room which is catching the eye of all the pupils. It tells very well of the virtues of milk and milk surely is the lunch room when it comes to ordering.

The first issue of the Daytonian was published Friday, and everyone declared it a splendid paper. We hope that all the succeeding issues will be of as high a standard.

The girls' nutrition Club was organized under the supervision of Miss Mason. All girls who feel that they should join, are welcome.

The first dance this year, was held Friday, October 19, 1923. There was an unusual attendance. All pupils, that were there enjoyed themselves immensely. There were different pupils that danced and sang, during the first part of the intermission, during the last part, there was ice cream served in the lunch room.

Mason School

The election of the eighth grade officers, for which candidates were nominated and ballots prepared during the last week, took place on Monday, October 22, in Room Ten.

The regular officers of the precinct were chosen, the voting lists made, the voting booths and ballot box made ready, and ballots distributed as the voters entered.

The results were as follows: Robert Tracy, president; Norman Harris vice-president; Betty Kidder, secretary; and Norma Morgan, treasurer.

Five weeks of school are gone and this week, report cards go home, if pupils need reminding that they are not keeping up in lessons.

In civics, a sample lesson in conducting a business meeting was given to the three eighths, which was designed to help in the future class meetings.

Our clubs, in English, in Science, and in Music were organized this week. One hour a week is not too much time in letting the children take charge, if from such work and fun, they learn poise, the power of initiative and proper behavior.

In Room 10, each pupil takes charge of filing for a week—sees that boys and girls stand well in line. We are trying to have silent tongues in the files. Changing each week gives every one a tryout during the year.

This custom of file leadership has been practised for at least two years, in the Mason.

Williams School

When the Williams Kindergarten and First Grade children came together last Friday, each class reported no tardiness for the week.

The Kindergarten children are busy and happy preparing for a Mothers' Day, November first.

Much interest is being shown among the third grade children in the keeping of Honor Books.

The contest in Arithmetic by rows in the Fifth Grade is growing very keen. Rows one and six, have every member in the race. The contest will close on Friday of next week.

Grade five, have lost two of its members since school opened Leo Poplanski having moved to Brighton, and Ernest Hamilton to Newton Lower Falls.
